C002 Collection Canadiana

CONDITIONS D'UTILISATION DES IMAGES TÉLÉCHARGÉES

L'utilisation non commerciale de ces images numériques est libre et gratuite. Elles peuvent être reproduites, distribuées et communiquées au public à des fins de recherche exclusivement et selon les modalités suivantes :

- Toute image utilisée dans le cadre d'un projet de recherche doit être citée correctement en suivant le modèle suivant : Auteur, titre du document ou nom d'objet, date, Musée McCord, cote complète;
- Il est défendu de modifier, de transformer ou d'adapter cette image;
- L'utilisation d'une image à des fins commerciales est interdite sans l'autorisation préalable du Musée McCord.

En ce qui concerne les conditions d'utilisation commerciale des fichiers d'images, vous pouvez consulter la section « Services photographiques et droits d'auteur » du site Web du Musée McCord. Pour toutes questions supplémentaires, veuillez communiquer avec nous par courriel à l'adresse photo@mccord-stewart.ca.

Dans le cadre de ses missions de conservation et de diffusion, le Musée procède à la numérisation d'archives de sa collection en vue de les rendre accessibles sur son site Web (http://www.musee-mccord.qc.ca/fr/). Ces images ont été mises en ligne dans le respect des législations liées aux domaines du livre et des archives (Loi sur le droit d'auteur, Loi sur la protection des renseignements personnels dans le secteur privé et Loi sur les archives). Malgré des recherches exhaustives pour retrouver les titulaires de droits afin d'obtenir leur autorisation préalable, certains d'entre eux demeurent introuvables. Si vous constatez que la diffusion d'un document porte atteinte à vos droits, écrivez-nous à reference@mccord-stewart.ca.

C002 Canadiana Collection

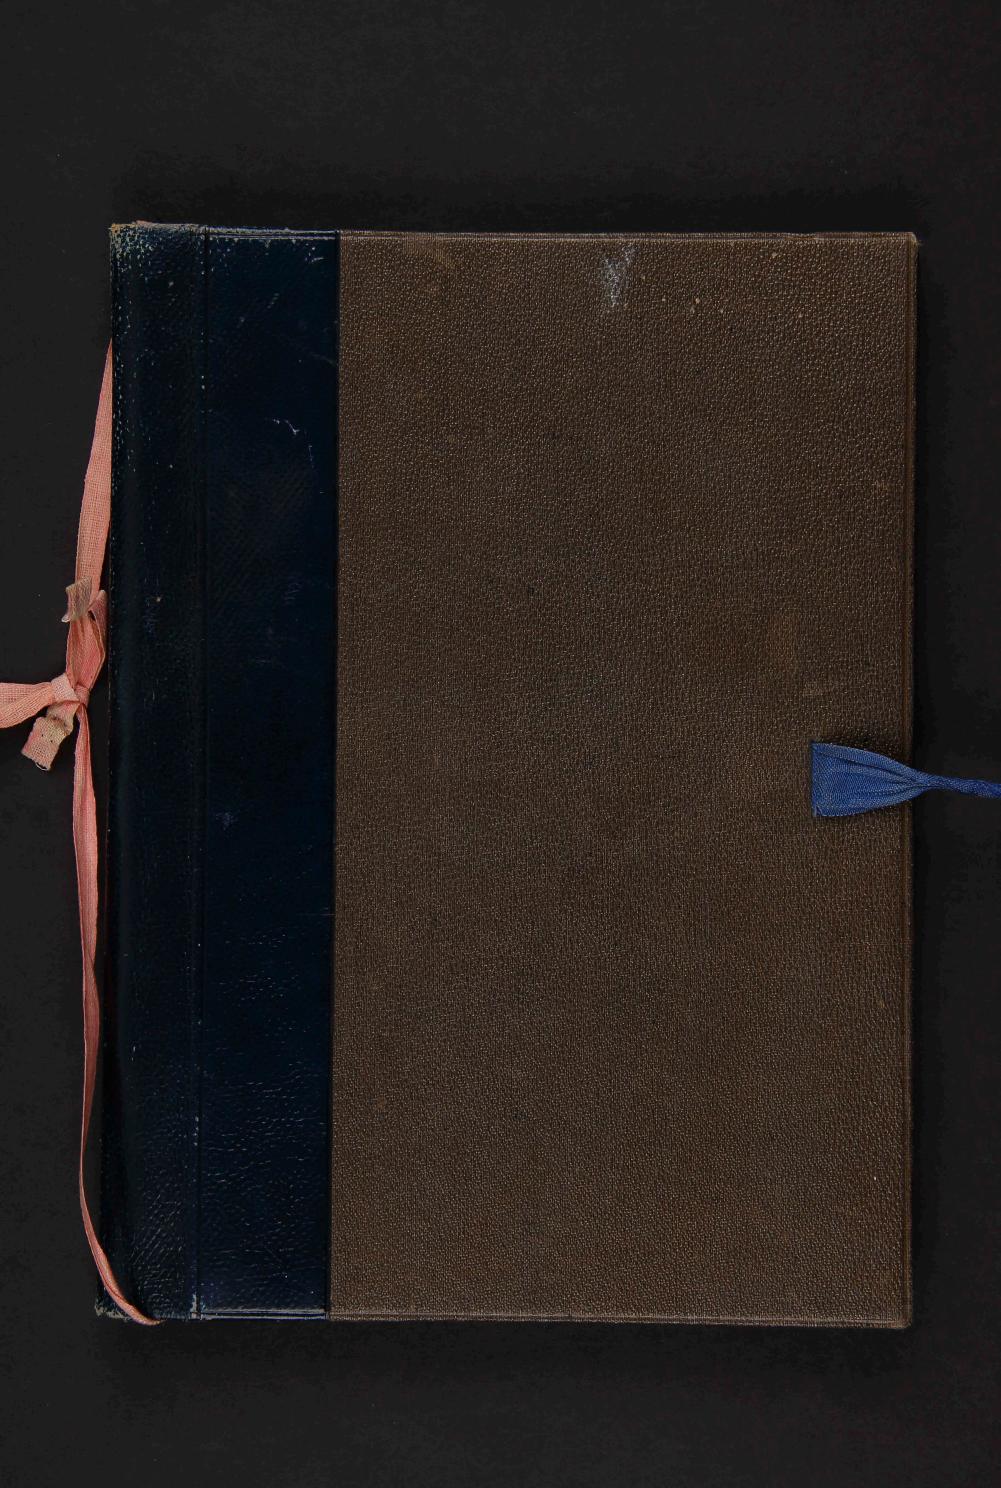

CONDITIONS FOR USING AND DOWNLOADING IMAGES

These digital images are free for non-commercial use. They may be reproduced, distributed and transmitted to the public for research purposes only, under the following terms and conditions:

- Images used in a research project must be properly cited using the following format: Author, title of document or name of object, date, McCord Museum, complete reference number.
- Images may not be modified, transformed or adapted.
- Images may not be used for commercial purposes without the prior permission of the McCord Museum.

For information on the conditions governing the commercial use of digital images, please see the "Photographic Services and Copyright" section of the McCord Museum's Website. Should you have any questions, please email the Museum at: photo@mccord-stewart.ca.

As part of its mission to preserve and disseminate, the Museum is digitizing the archives in its collection to make them available on its Website (http://www.musee-mccord.qc.ca/en/). These images are being uploaded in accordance with the laws governing books and archives (Copyright Act, Act Respecting the Protection of Personal Information in the Private Sector and Archives Act). Although we have conducted extensive research to discover the rights holders to obtain their prior permission, some could not be located. If you discover that the dissemination of a given record violates your copyrights, please contact us at reference@mccord-stewart.ca.

De La Rue & Co's

IMPROVED

MANTFOLD WRITER.

Directions.

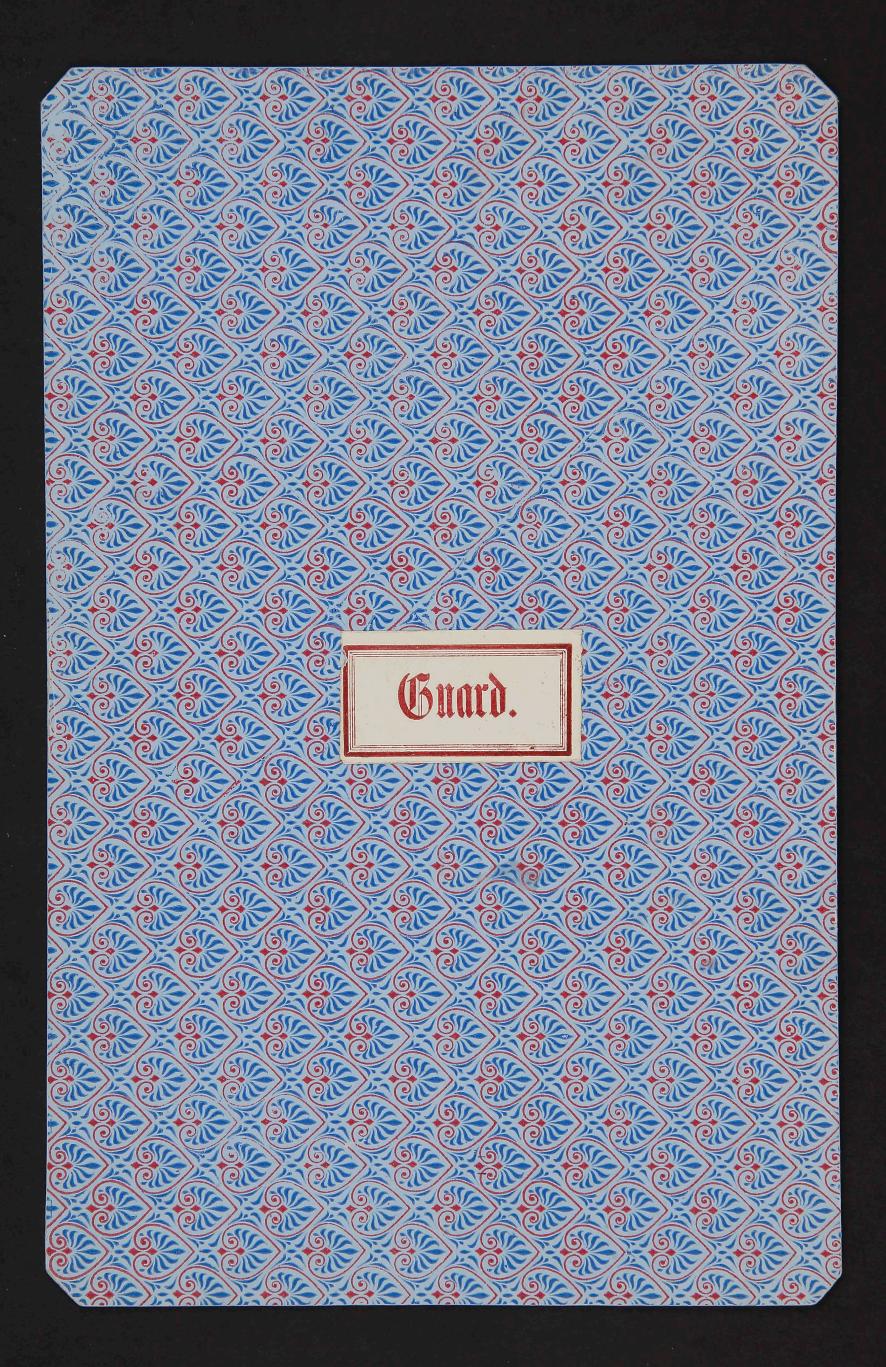

Place the Tablet between a sheet of Letter Paper, on which put the Black Paper done on both sides, covering it with a leaf of the Copying Book; write with the point on the Copying Leaf, pressing rather hard. When properly arranged they are thus:—

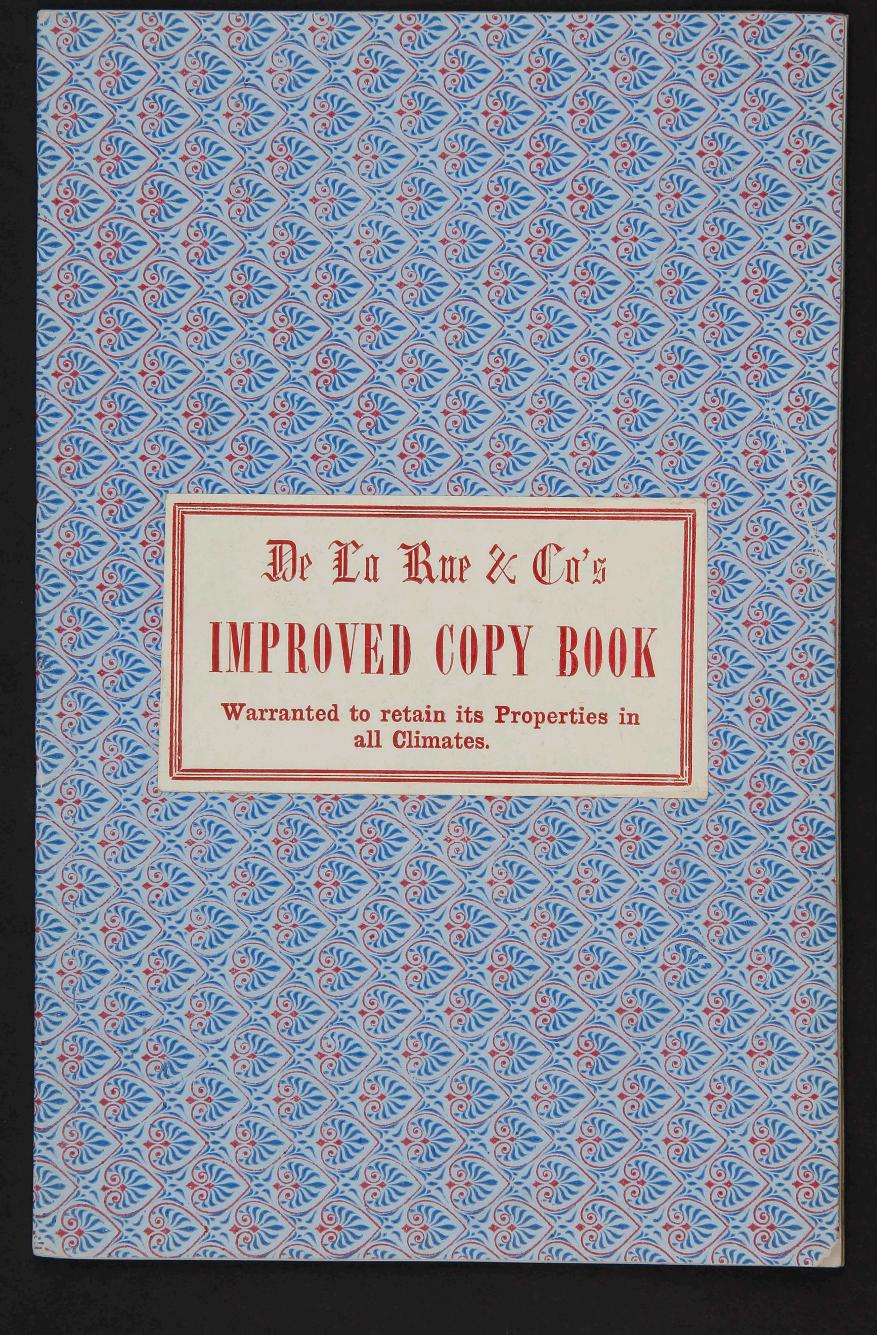

- 1. Copying Leaf on which Write.
- 2. Black Leaf.
- 3. Writing Paper.
- 4. The Tablet.

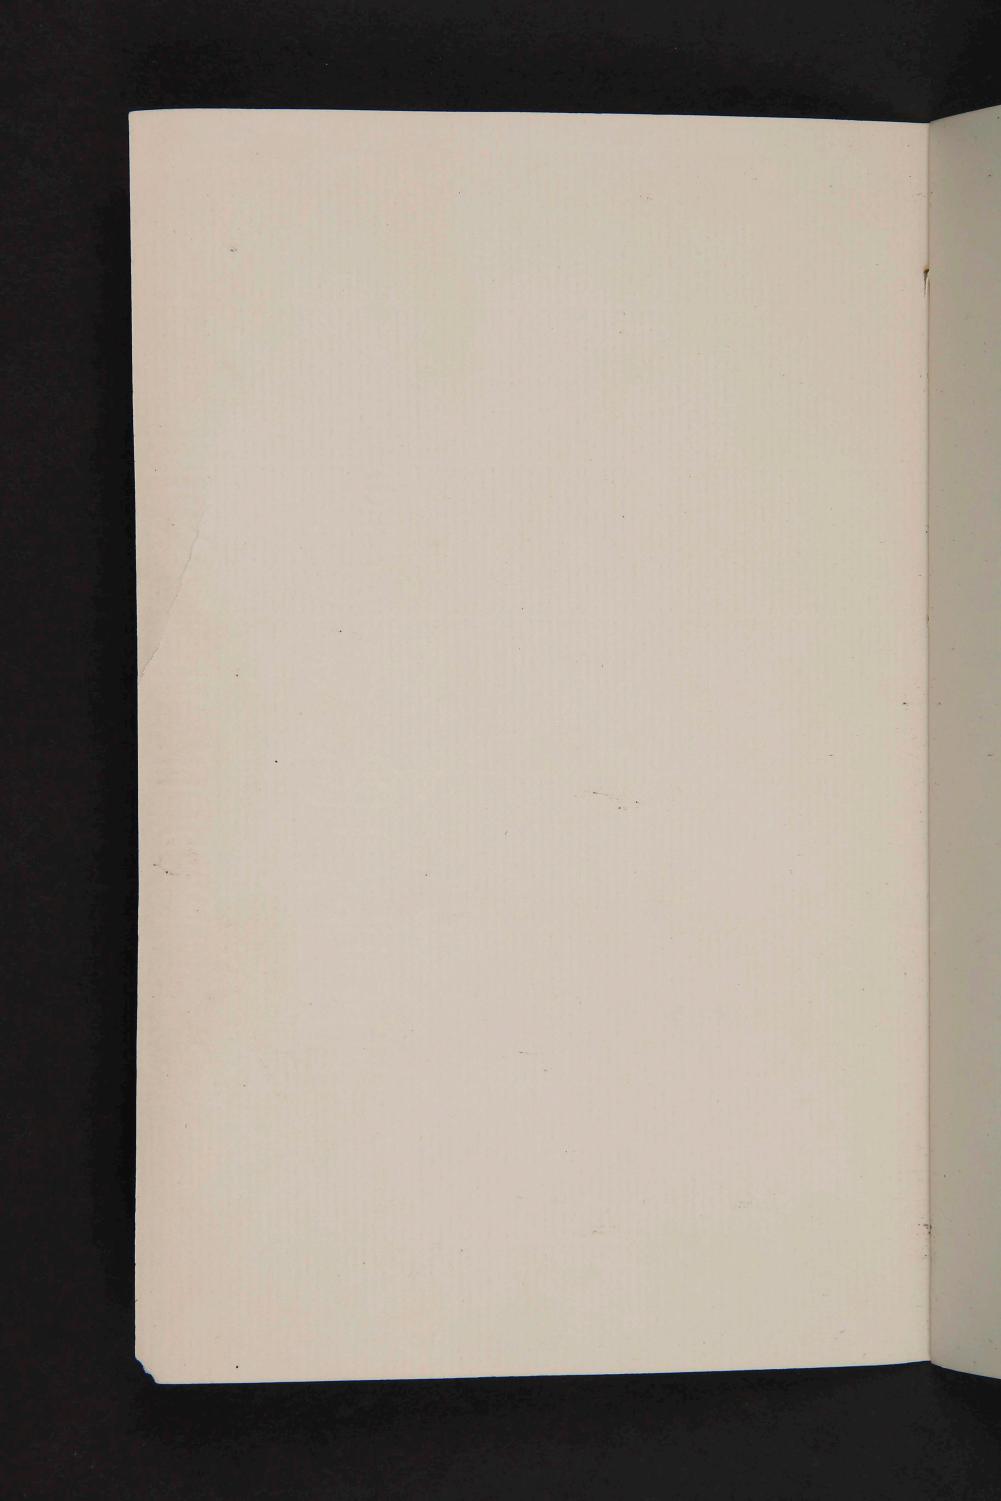

To produce two letters with the copy at one operation, take two sheets of thin Writing Paper, place the Tablet in the centre—on the leaf next the Tablet lay a sheet of Black Paper, done on one side, with the black side downwards, and on the upper leaf a sheet of Black Paper, done on both sides, then place them under a leaf of the Copying Book. When arranged they will stand thus:—

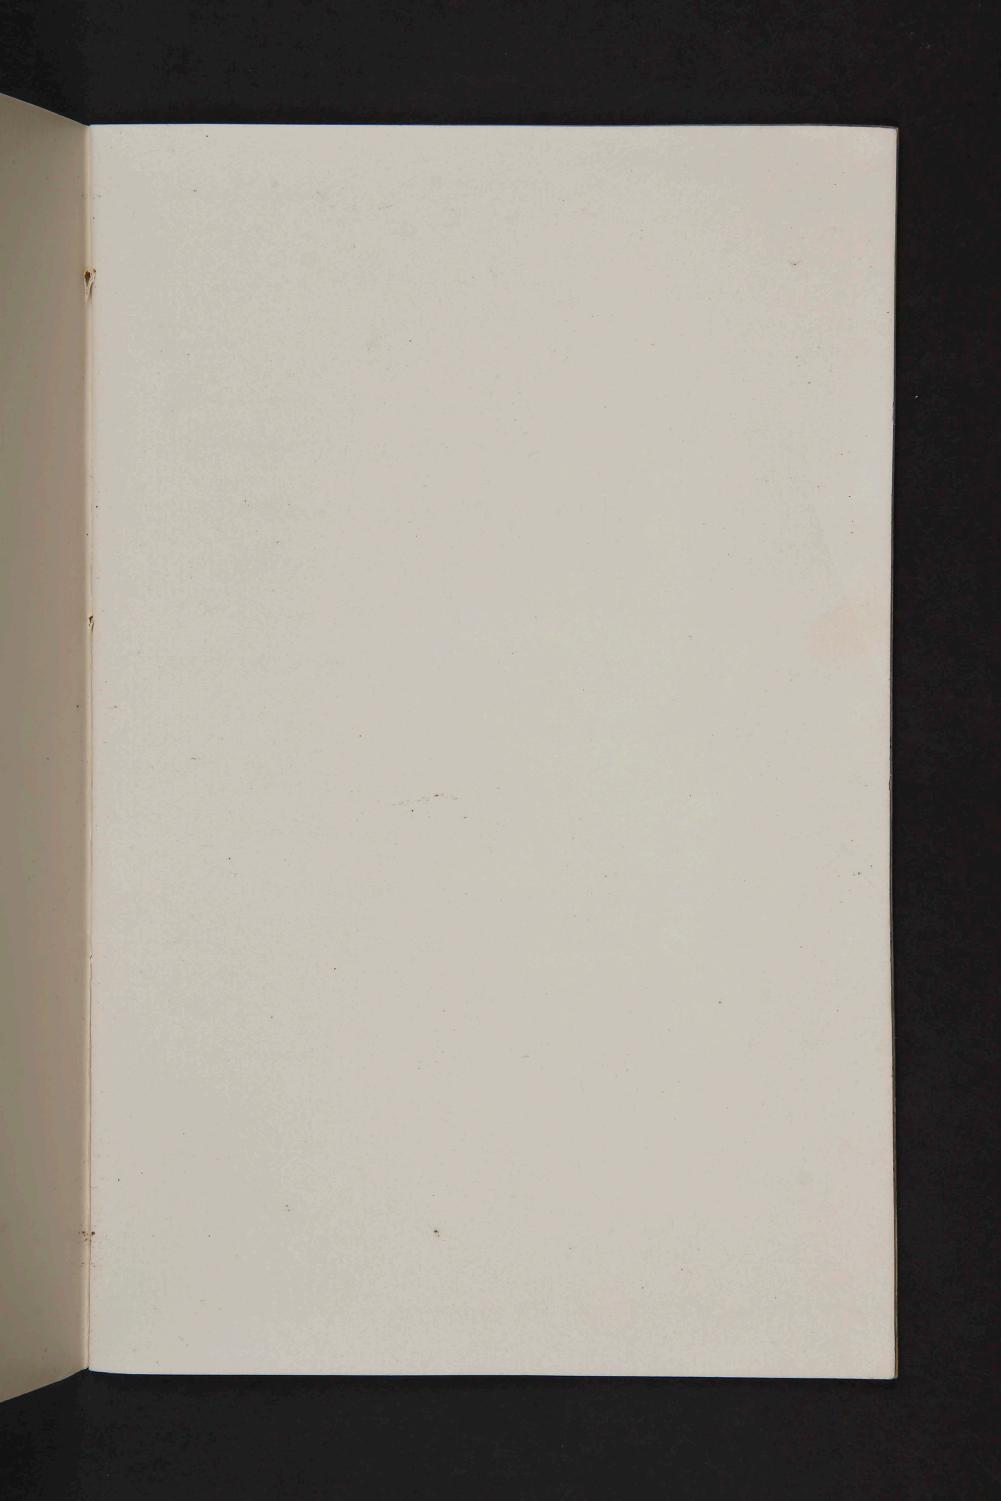

- 1. Copying Leaf.
- 2. Black Leaf.
- 3. The Letter.
- 4. Black Leaf, done on one side, with black side downwards.
- 5. Second Letter.
- 6. The Tablet.

When writing, place the Guard under the hand. When not writing return the Black Leaf to its Book, and be careful not to rub it against the Writing Paper.

Dea Jossia 6 14 BALL S/10 12 Ca at $1 ulso. W # 3 Thuo 270 Chown tobe. my p given Lot

Dear Charley. Olean ship some as Jositle pur GIR to a Chown 6 dtf/hone 10 x 12 + 6 as 10 + 14. Brase & George per 4 210 S Kep 10 Galls Cen Ce Harrish 92/2 12 Cans / Sall a not Carriege franch at $1 175 Cans & My that extra. also per expuso 6 Ellis no 3 deaunis at $ 350 Co. I have been quoting $ 22 25 x 2 70 for glass + I see you have guoted Chown $ 220 235 + 260 Wheel with to be. It would the for me to juste one price & have deffected questation given from the office. Innokleda Lot vil from John Junellson at Hinry

Montreal A. Mhrate possi 6.01 SAMMAL J's 5/2 120 # at g ads al #3 I hu Thorn tobe. nes five hot

Dear Charley. orden Thave taken as far my D.M. Carli . Pricion pu soi Produce next buils ... 2. House to asked to spring a literal I was distributed A " Bill Allin Allins 10 h Fresh Property when of the House of the same 6 - 2 Co Alt Made 6 - In a fix Places fleer Day Have feel 1 Mr Dej te. Del A defiel total 1 - Luife in low on franchis 1 - Elisanded Langettack JAN 4 1 19 De Jake Co Herrice 100 1 - 10 - Stylen 700 3 HELL MILLES 1 Course 200 I'm the I town in 1 22 they the thing and the state of the state of

I the world in the and the STOP PERMAN TO VE VID 1 6 4 1 11 with the second the more than the said the said 16 + 28 16 4 20 18 - 28 24 7 28 22 + 30 20 + 24 all of the above that court be sent men to be shaped on incomed the only from gorded and there there is mentally M. Darry Milliante Mis Person 2-5 th 25 a de Sech Ama france de la seconda 3 hours Politica March & 2 hours of the 198 1 Aly Com Marson Julian 2 Miles Promy Colors 14 H/Maria 7 + 9 + 2 - 16 + 30 to accomm 4 - 15 - 30 140 - 2 100 plan 30 - 100 1 / 100 las The was all with brush

Budding And Herediday 80 ha. 10 a Darpharek in oul 2 Course Mayber 20 7 110 the the state of the Flo antice. Fores on proceed to 5 Care 10 / feel 30 + 40 42 32 - 34 24 + 36 20 x 40 20 - 30 24 + 30 Michigan Fan Lindson day I broug for how the following 26 of Arragherouth Street a reigh = 1391 I Court Med will make 38 + 46 pm / Cura 28 + H Lan ship along by the 2 Abb Pale All John Stall 2 And the property of here free 4 1 ford Dimmer of for Aring of Paral Soul a hours & And I am

Peterboro Sept 13 "/72 Dear Charlie Please ship mmediately to John Bertiam Peterboro pu GJR Mi midland PoR. all the 12+20 Ster we have in slock $ 230 1 Bbl French ochee 13/4 H 2 - Oshihing 75 4 per cwt 1 - Choe & Ph 11/2 H R Angaw Petertoro via & LR to Port Stope care midland RR 4 defeates 8 × 10 4 - 10+12 4 - 10 + 14 2 - 12 × 16 1 Bbl Pale Block 821/2 100 to Best Rpince ochre 2 hours 25 - Com Gellow PA 6 his 3 4 @ \ 6 - 5 c \ White Paint
4 - 10 2 6 _ 1" - Chrome Gellow Pr Jours in hash'

Eccoto

80 loi

4 14

2 Con

In .

6/4

8 6

-1

- 1

creip

1 Colon

A CIP

Oshawa Sept 164/72 Dear Charles Please ship the following h To Pris 1 to the Commanvelle Manuf & los Spin per 4 IN 2 Bols Dest Thownig Till. 2 able Ce x 2 Bbls Spl-1 12 shellac. I gave their no quotation for any hamishes. In Tohniston was very bolist & showed me all over the factory. shep also to Leeke for 4 Bros & Shawa / Bbl Pine Shellac $ 200 They Cloud want Muy other Varnishes just now but will order from us when the want I Lave seen the Gibbs here. but They are not in want of anything at present. I saw a Control of 100 Immesons losufifely shew with Namushes by the year of fix & prices. Will tell you about it when I relieve Shull become mian hom for White the in Lowell about midnight: will write afun soon all well, Morres & a Sterry

It Catharines Lefs 19" Dear Charley Alexewith find the orders Shave so for taken. which get really I ship as directed with the exception of Jacques of ags which our stand till Freture as both the farmed + Japan must be made aprovally for them. They have tried the sample sent up of well at pool. The Ge for their must have some hard freme in it & Ithink we ought to have another Case of that 30 & north Coast to meet with the Howie. as shal is much Cheaper Man any hard from we have He will also want another Case of Shellac for the Japan. I I think it ought tobe mude according to the refor in that book at any rate it will do after I get home as they are not we a hurry for it. I thecled to have got an order from Brousslow & p for 500 boxes glass. but white they were looking over their stock to see what they soudest Drake Came up & sold then to the per & 工工 shell

0

for a

North

413

She

Mey

will elde

The

al

B

Na

fe.

de

ho

80 about 1000 boxes at $ 216 for small sijes to them before I saw them again I belowe Drake and it to try & work of Some of Ramsap Remplus Stock as he seems to pay (so B+P told me) that Race say is feeling the tightness of the money Market Considerally & offered Thomas & Burns 1000 Boxes at $ 215 230 + 250 they are to five me an answer when Im thomson alliens home or when I get back aftern from the beest I hullip said he would forey one when I returned to Loronto me hab well Aud down an order for 1000 or 1500 Portes to import for ment of spring at Current rate: arrived here at 11 och + will leave at 5 for Stanulton where & will try +get through to as to leave for Brankford hviday eve. Paris a Palmetay Pm. & London Saturday we I String there over Runday It your with Patriday or monday Reid it cure Ifn Holff in Hindsor or ma Kenjie Danie quité bill. Nom affbrokken Stenry

The

f pe

of c

67 for pen

her if las with

Che

fle.

Phy

ent

ne

will

and

also This Lagman Bros Localo piper below 10 Bbls Ci at 904 for 3 - 74 . 85 pen 10 - Japan 82 2 - Black dapan 824 page had to cut on the Ge as John Jamessa ma quoted Min Pane price Hou + 2 Ellevest theo per by en 6 Bles Ci at 92 $1 3 - Japan - 82 when 101 De Dray Hoo G IR when & 3, altern per 5-Bbls Shellac Japan at $ 105-5- G Plat Cur Re Whand on arrival per FL mail Line pre 500 feet 20 4 24 LZ 500 - 20 + 26 -800 - 22 × 28 -Pe 300 - 22 × 30 o 4 300 - 24 + 34 -200 - 26 236 -Pa 100 - 26 × 40 Ro I agreed to give Brondson & Paton a botes Slass of Dyes that Ransay was out of al $215 230 + 250

London Sept 22 /72 Dear Charlie Ance writing you last I have not been able to do much in Juling orders. People Deem either to have good stocks or are waiting to see how Monips are foring to burn out. They seem to think that the strongency in the mone market. will have a tindency to make merchants amerous to sell bye + bye. 4 that prices well be lower on Consequence notwith standing the high prices in length They all seem to think they will have to sto de up before navigation closes but prefer to wait for a while before ordering Hood Leggal. & megweren voo prom ise to send us villers to mebout for nest spring as they want the Star Brund of glass. Oils are being cut may low t the only Things I seem to be able to get orders for are varmeshes. in Aprili of both dannesons. + Baylis Milkes havelle the of this in Itamillon to inday. Im Logio who is on the road also, has Told quite a partier (or joint to be I don't Iknow which) in their Concerns of that he (Peter) was joint to make

10 had guo.

B

acti

5

5

3 a

Parreshe's & would be able to supply them with the same sends of Jamest they were in the hobit of fetting from & a + (3. as Im Dused to manufacture for to at to. The last letter I real from your was date the 17th if you have written any to me since sheat you had bether with to the parties in whose care the letter is to forward it to much the Deceus Stolet Foronto. where I shall be sure to find it on my return I will have to sting in Formeto over one day, as several of our Custoni as there wanted me to call on their on my return. I it will take some him to see them all. quite a number have asked me to quote Limpentine. but it have not given a price the any one Hope we have not messed it in waiting ho long before brugneg om Tempt for full I saw Freeboure in Hamelton from all poe could ascertain the Champion. discharged That Case plate fless in Foronto I left it there. The Im Kelly toho ownes the glass has been Brokeny up a freat now about The delay, bist of Course could not blame us. I told heeboure that in Consequence of the Grail Love transhipping the Case in Fronth that we would not hold ourselves hable for brickings but that when the flees

3 1

fu th

Good

More

15 Min

mar

mere

4 this potes

They

pla or pufe

gloss

use men

Bun

low.

to fer

both

pho

Min

park

Their

arrived in Hamilton. I before he rech it from the Co. that he must have the case opined on the whanf texammed. I if the glass was broken make the mail Line pay for the dainge treebonne promised he would do so. By the way I forfor to tell you in my last that I gave some questations to the following parties. so if your hear from Their before I return your will throw what to do. a diffrey, st. C. A Namust 954 Dapan 85. Int Ong 275 B $ 250 D/C $ 175 Deman $ 125 Hard Rubbing $ 250 no 1 Rubbing /2 D/C' /2 B $ 200. mely weren the stamellor quoted a 92/2 dapans 82/n Deman $ 125 D/c' 175 Com Carraje /2 D/c' /n G Rubbing $ 250 Com Rubbing $ 200 I arrived here late last night. will beig & get through here tomorrow. so as to be an Chathain Tuesday & Hondson on Wednesday. If you should with me on Hedresday or thursday send it care of. In Bound the Guelph. I had one of my old fashioned sick headaches yesterday. I it has not quite gove gos otherwise I am fust rate. Love to all form afficither Veny

Par will mm The Me-

the f hus

over my per 1

aste

we he dong

five E

the character

The a

of the

in of

Your may book the following orders ar It. I + I me Calla At Cashanne he to arrive. Jou Propeller america or Michts Lane. ma 3 def Protes 16 + 32 16+36 he 18+36 20+28 1 100 feet 22 + 32 24+30 24+36 20 7.28 ab at 20 + 40 a 22 + 32 24+30 24+36 36 + 46 122 Ifm Inclinerin to Hamilton 10 pu mail & me D/ 92 /n 5 Buls CE 2 - Brown Japan 1 - no 1 Carriage 1/2 D/Ci 1/2 1 - ho 2 - 1/2 D/Ci 1/2 1 - Hard Daying Carriage 1/3 D 1 - Some Wearing Body of Media Rus da G 200 2/3 € 150 275 I Ble Alach Jahan 821/2 Line. 3/6 4 Bles Black Japan 82/2 2 - Genow Duban 82/2 2 - Brown Duban 82/2 Extra d'urneture Men 1 - a perit Capal $ 140 I forgot to put down what I quoted for the After & unwhire. So have worden to their to let me of Belles Brankford for 9. 2R 1 Bbl Ci 97/2 10 Galls Deman 130 10 - 900 2 Rubbing /2 D/k /2 G 200 10 - Bust Coach Body D 235 5 - 900 1 - D/C 190 5 - 900 1 Carriage D/C 170 5 loans I fall a home thearing Body The above were the prices quoted to him about 500 6 weeks afor by letter. to Thus do give them to him as those perices. The will send down what cans he has t the but of his order except the Ci you will put outs new cans my trip is not hirming out quet so well as I hoped . but am doing the best I can, at any rate it is bether their Peters last fall trip. as for as Farmsh is Concerned. 0/ Veurel Glood theffat stameton.

Ju mail Line

5 Boes & 921/n 3 6 mos.

3 - Brown Sapun 821/n 3 6 mos.

10 1

Mer

5

9

4 1.

London Sept 23 20 18/2 Messes J. Ofmer. V Co. Stamulton 10 Dear Dus On looking over The order strudly given to me by forme the Im Autherford I find a Bol of plon deptra d'urniture ordered. but I 18 9 smetted at the time to put down dhe i The price quoted. Till your therefore + Ohi be shirld enough to drop our people in monthead a line stating the Mry Ing price quoted your for the Extra well Aurniture Farmest. & much d ea Peter oblige Homes Very Respons Conce

Guelph Sept 294/1/2 Dear Charlie Enclosed find some Small orders taken since Iwoole you last. I don't know how it is but overy body seems not to want flows They have either got a full stock or have some coming ordered knough ansell. I find that he has baken Several small orders to me port for some of our customers & they are affecting the flass this full oils are offered at 72/2 + 77/2 to I cant touch them. as Ishall be home to Soon after your receme this letter will tell you all about my trip their al Morigh it may not be very commerative in a pecumany fromt of thew. Will Ithink my visits to our customics will turn out for the best in the end I recht form letter ni danna with quotations for which are much obliged The hightriess of the broney market in ma

M

Bfr

my

The !

be 1.

pre

ofu

M

Moritient has not apparautly ex tended to outario. I have not heard a single Complaint yet of difficulty. ni obtaining money at regular rates of interest. There is a good cap of wheat Harmers are fetting good prices Am sorry Lunght has fone up so much without our being able lobing a stock at lower rates. Itave encounter ed quotations from both d'accessores & B. M. & Co. It ave therefore had to ent rather fines on tamustus them I would Mor may ship after och 1 th B. a mischell of London pu 4 IR 2 Bols Cé tamest 92 2 - Brown Japan 82 1 - Black " 82 1 - In 2 Luck Dupnig Carraje 1/2 D/Q+ 1/2 Q (a) 150 1 Ky To yalls Deman # 125 smith Chapman voo pa 4 IR. if not priviously ordered. 1. Bhl Brown Japan 85 p last.

Smal

werd

They .

have

mas

Divera

forme

affec

me o house

Aron a

tell

Morify

In a 20 gent

The

H. Lewis London pu 922 5 Bbles & Varnest & 954 find a fe of do arrive ni ob 100 feet 24 + 46 /7D 200 - 24 + 50 melica 200 - 26 + 50 Har 200 _ 28 + 46 Am 100 _ 30 + 46 much It It mcKeoregh Chathain a sho for mail Imi to It and ton can ed g Great Mestern Machines BIR rables 1 Bbl Ce Parmist (mo quotation) Mon ! I also agreed to send tolf B. a The bal of his spring order 2 13. will explain to you when I get - 1 home Hours breety 11/

Namilton Dec 13th Messis C. Cameron V. Co Dear Sus He sent fon a Thout time ago a fence lest Thinkow Glass. Since that time however we have read a somewhat lower quotation I are now enabled to offer for Messes Bennet & Bivocks yeu Star Brand of Glass at the enclosed prices. which we hope you will find Datesfactory The writer expected to have had the pleasure of Calling upon you this forenoon before knowing for Toronto bout was mable to do so Should for favor us with form to receive their as early as posseble in order to insene the shipment by Fruiting form favors we remain

20

ga

3 4

half.

4700 Mohrie Circus Thromound

4700 Motrie Wirms Fredrious! October 9 th /15

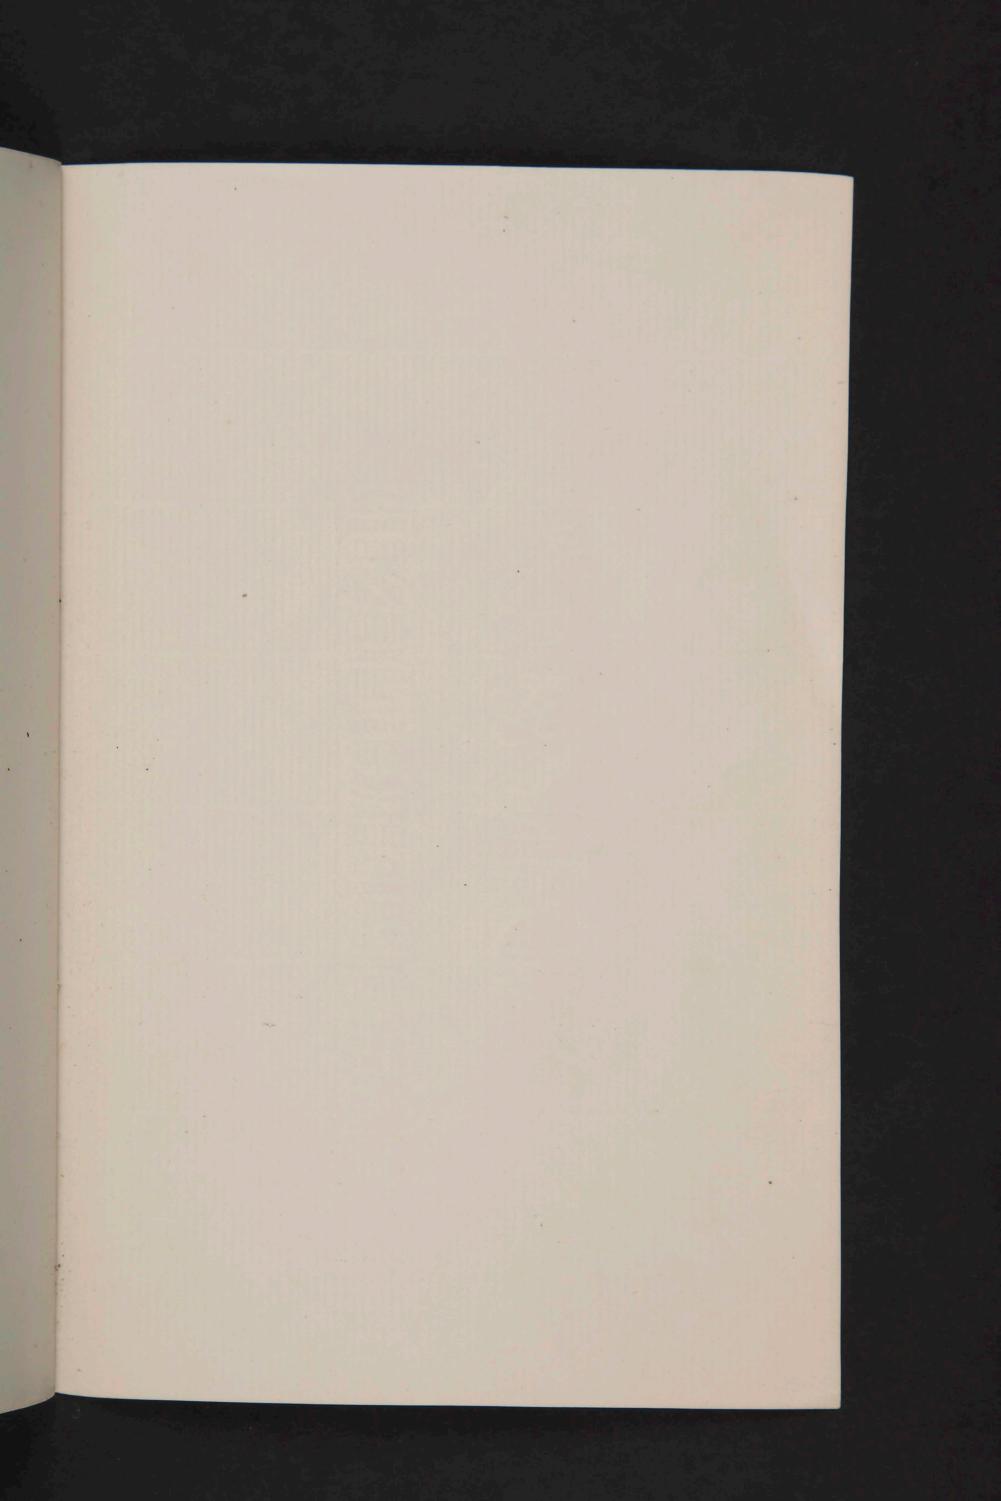

M & Amater & Co

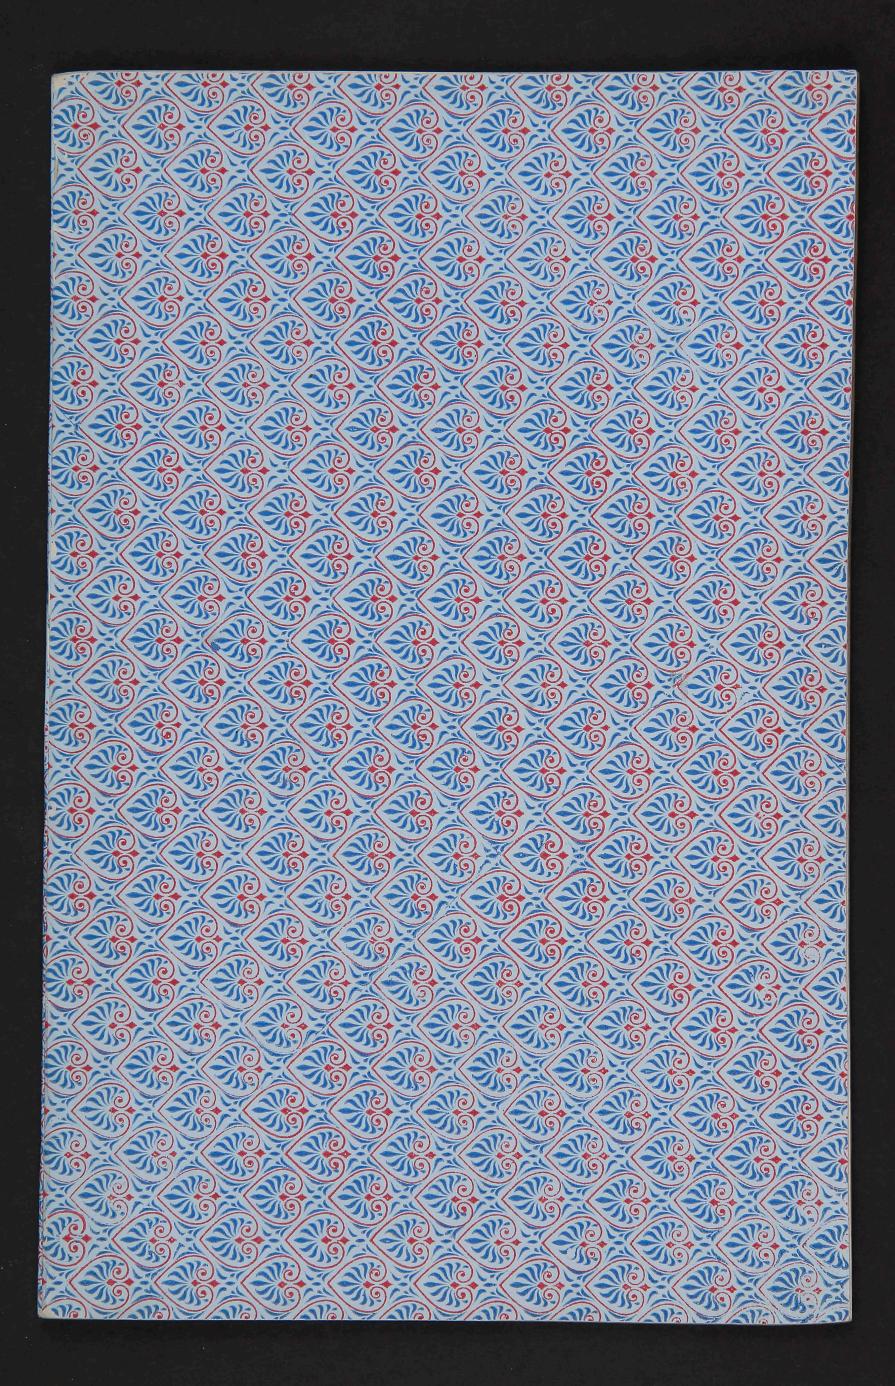

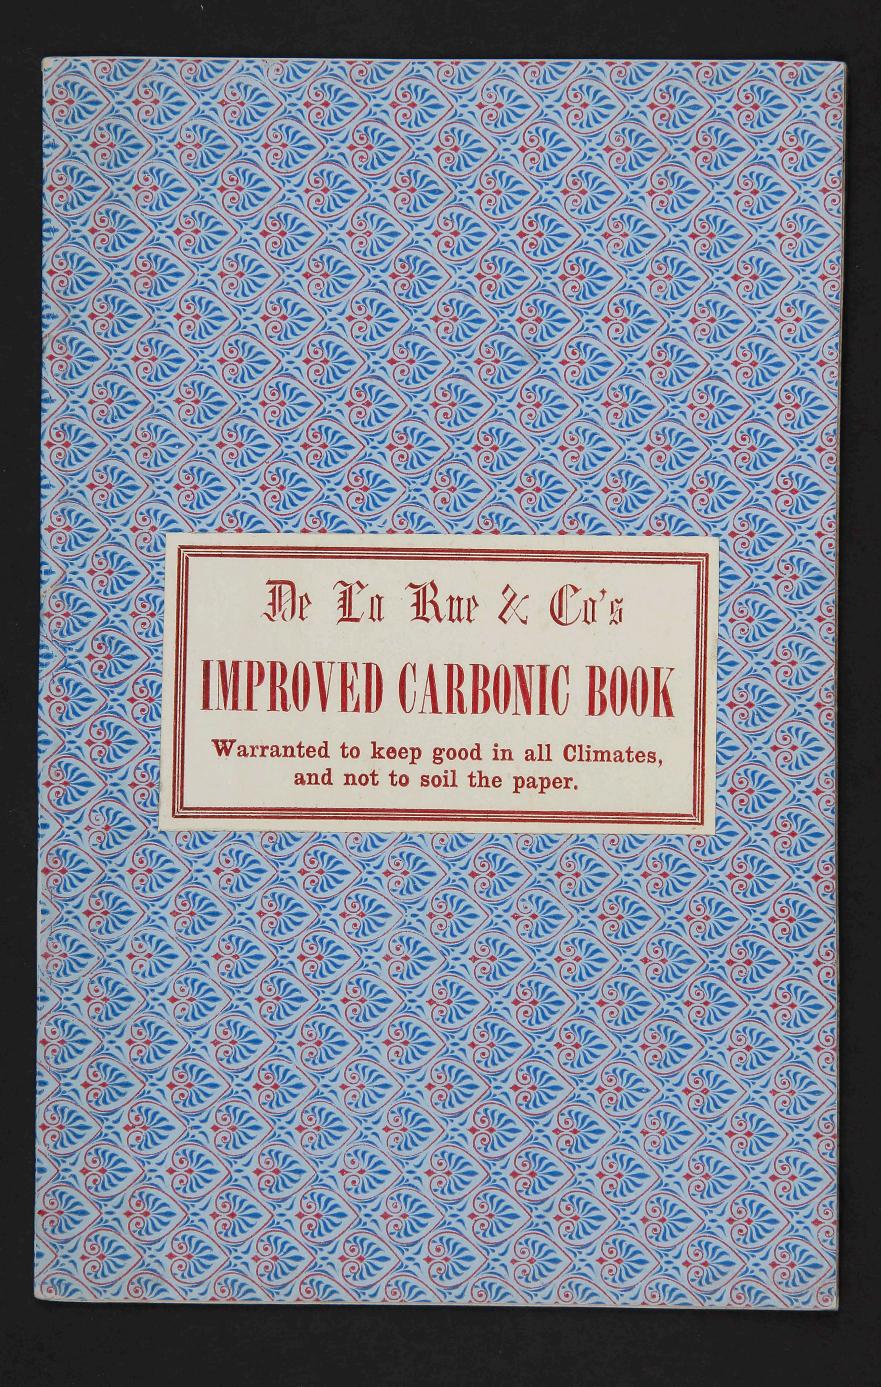

Marchael Bert & # 15/2 The the Assistance grand though a green to adopt the following process plans I explan Main A with for just of the guillity of your wholes of the The process tree freed for apering they promise by the lift willing the bosiness win Michigan Bus falling by the Establish of de Alexander de Alexander appoint alle a contra Inter the continue between the The the Property of Magnifica, & when the rack office, to Mindain Ephloret.

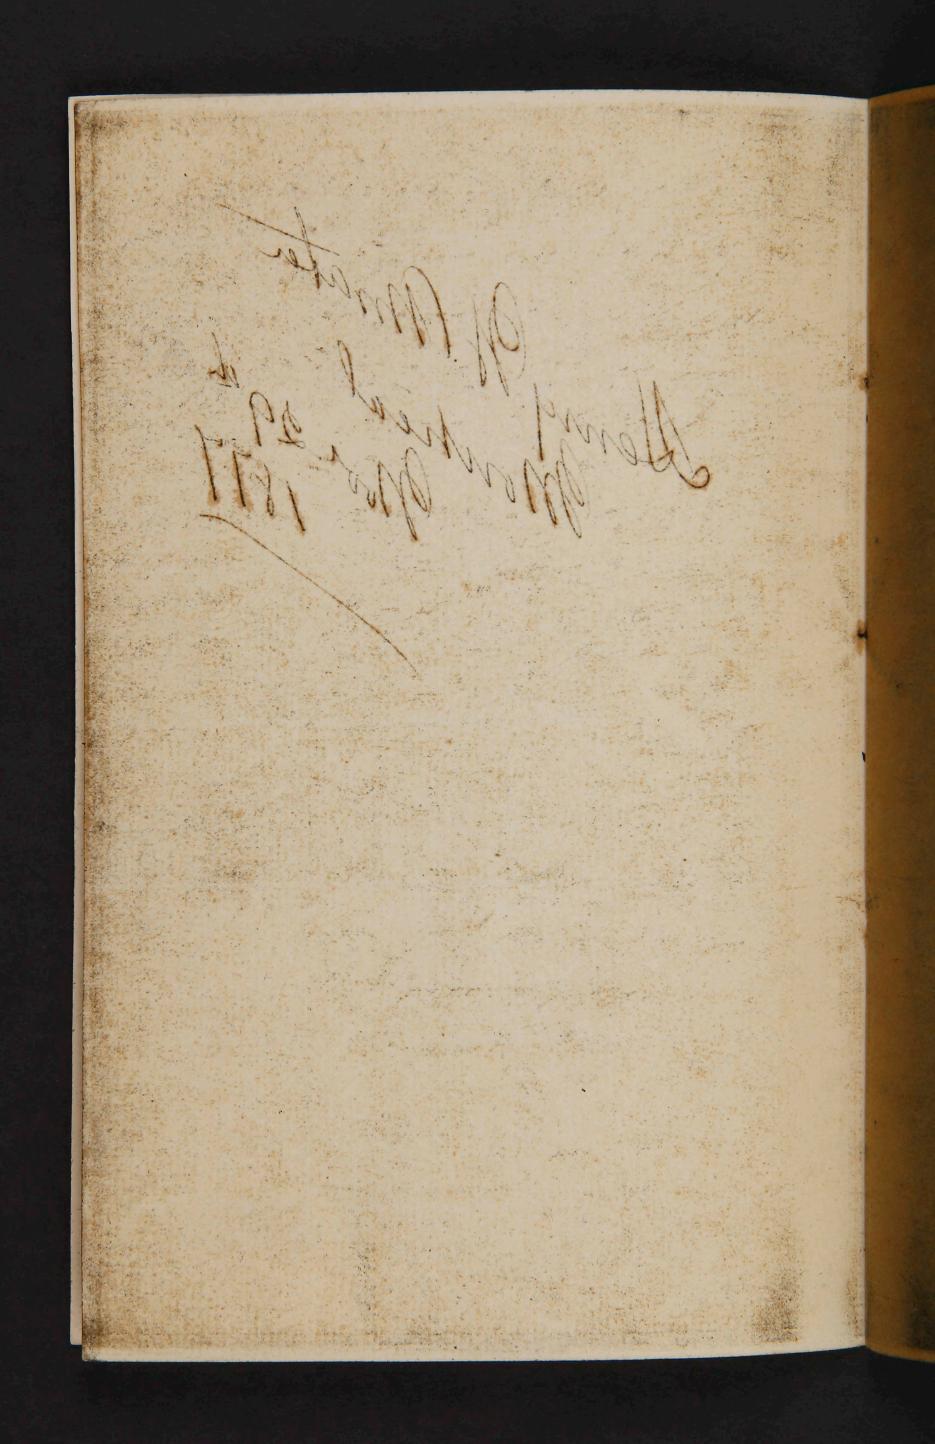

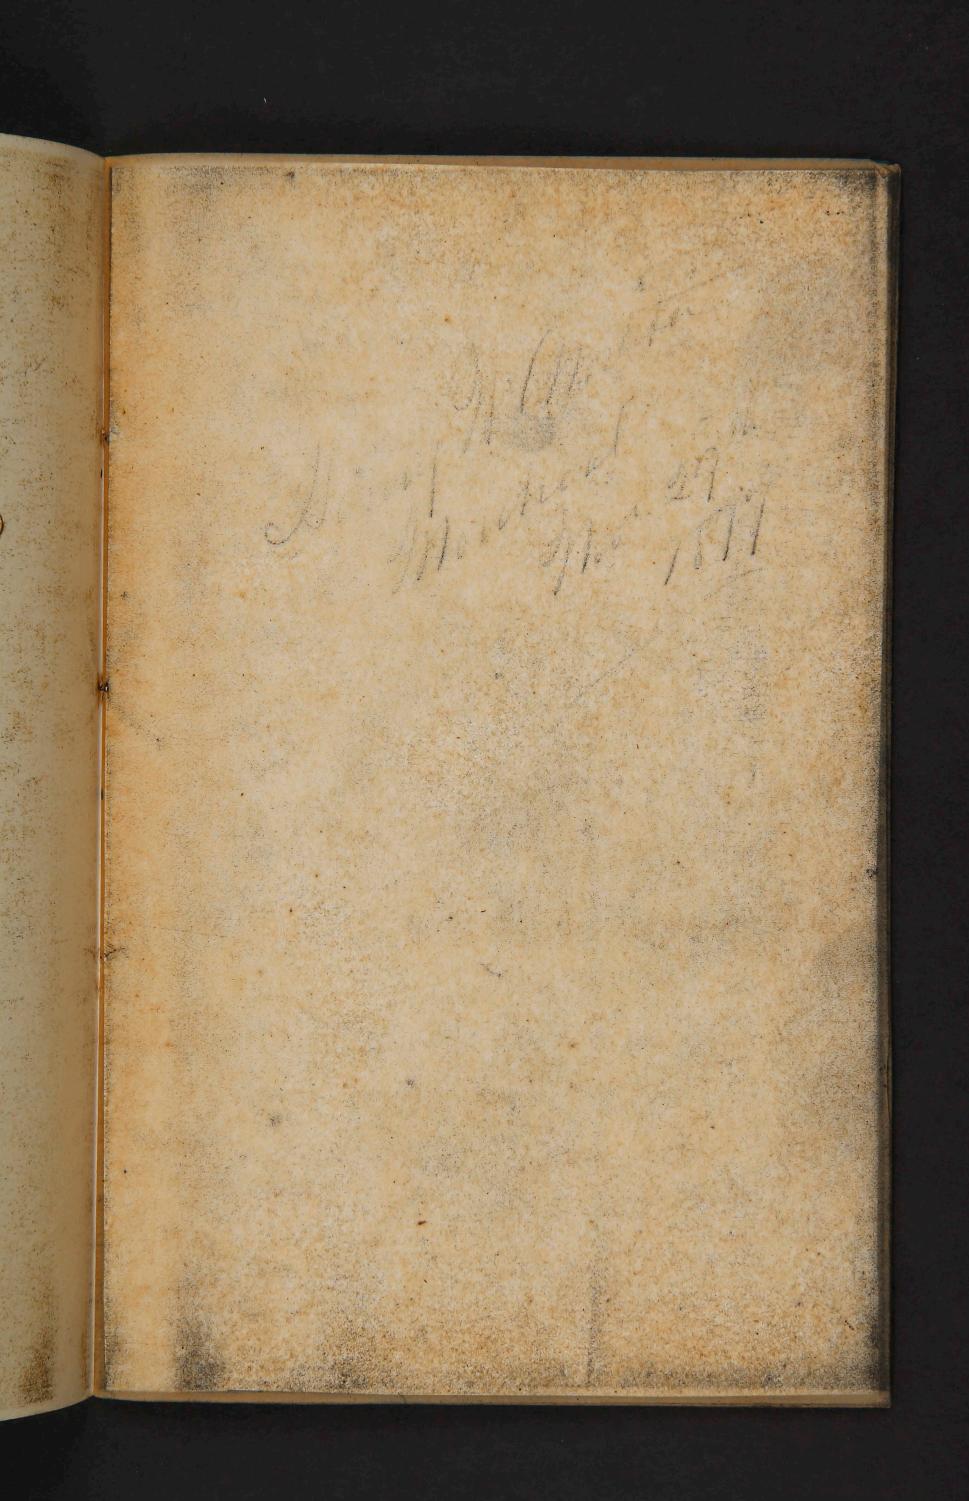

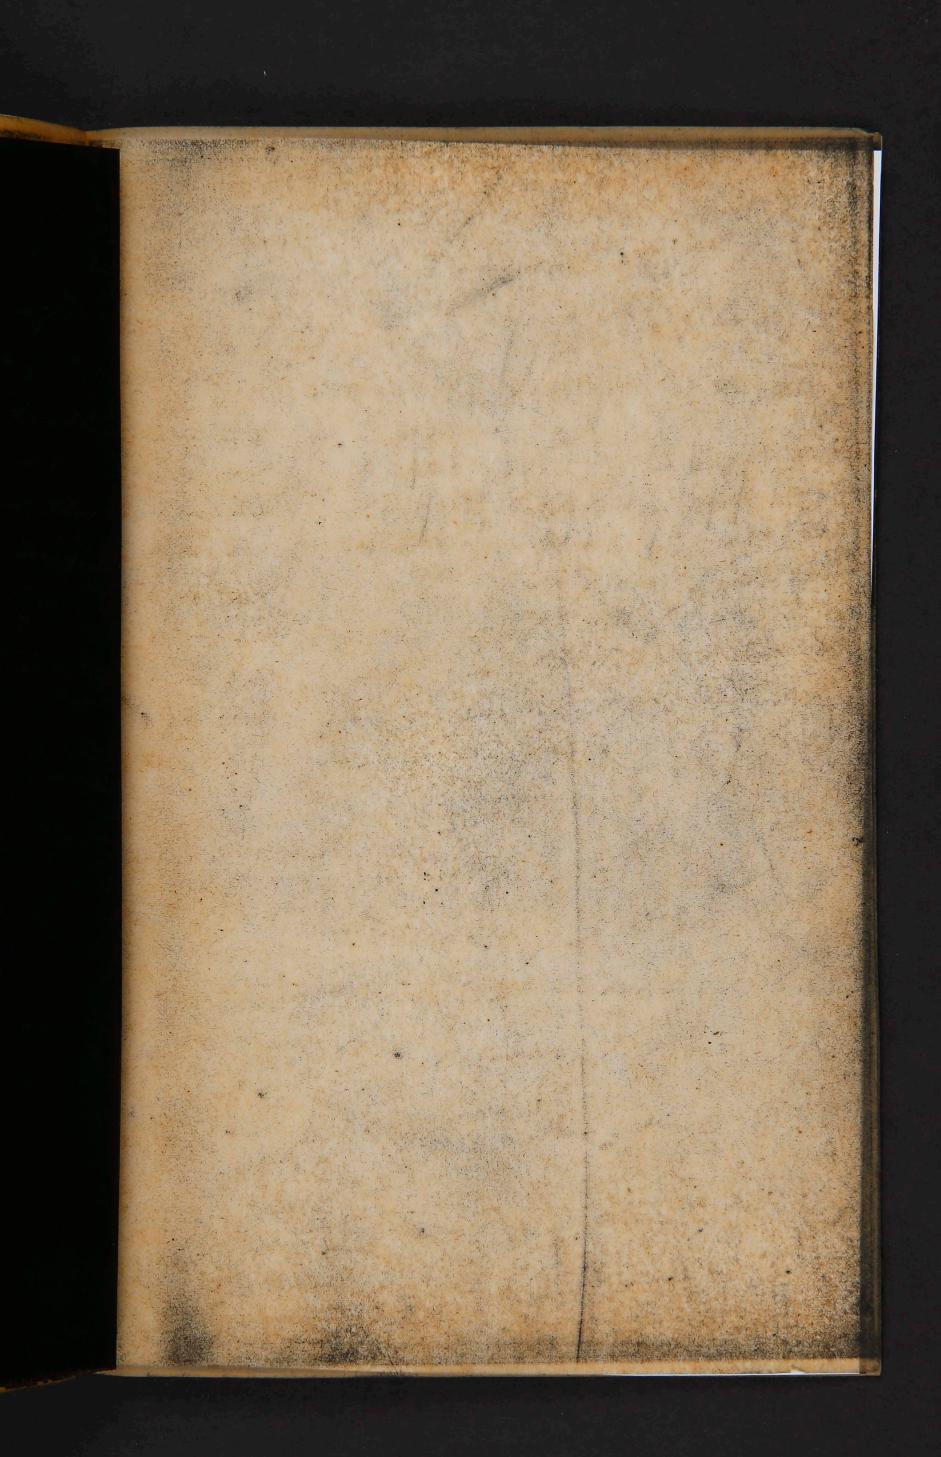

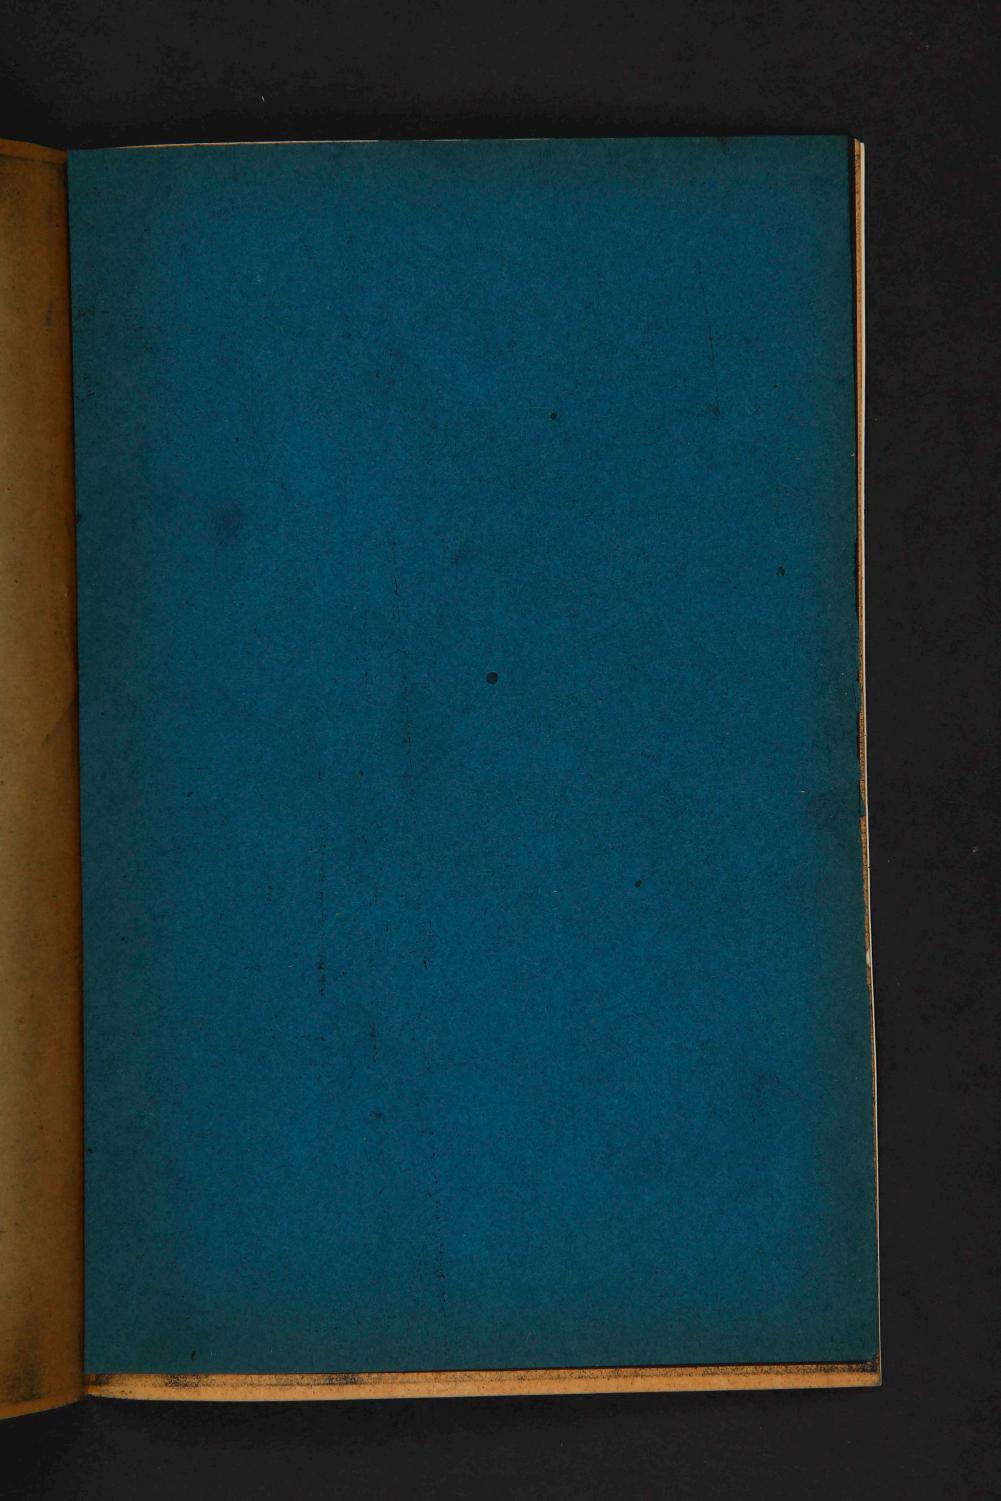

少城中心

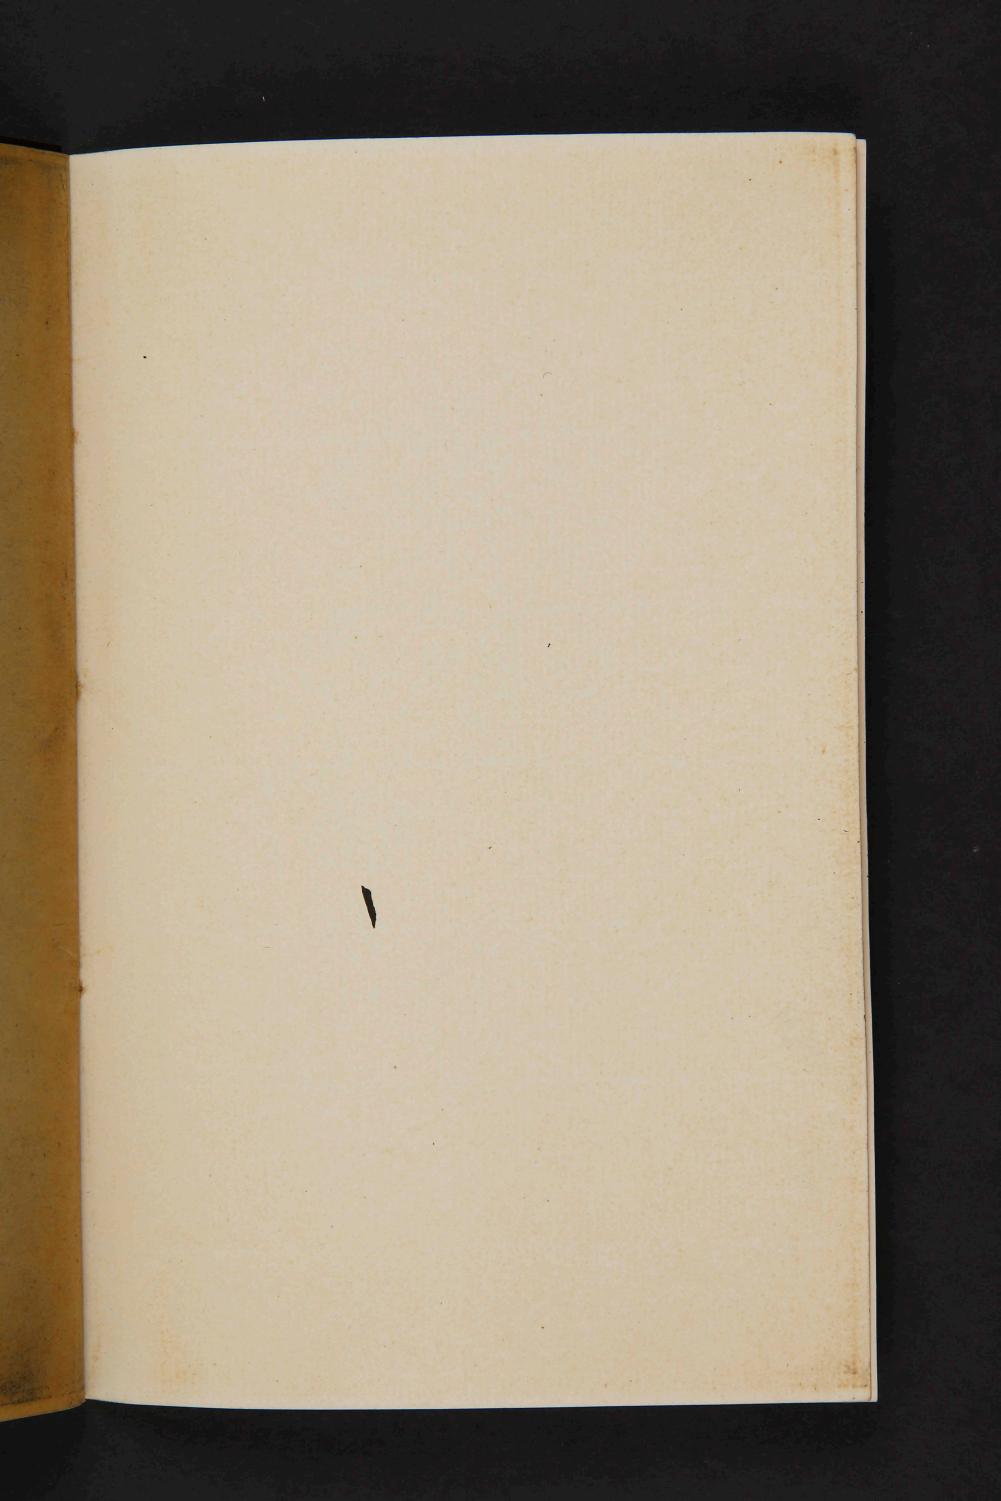

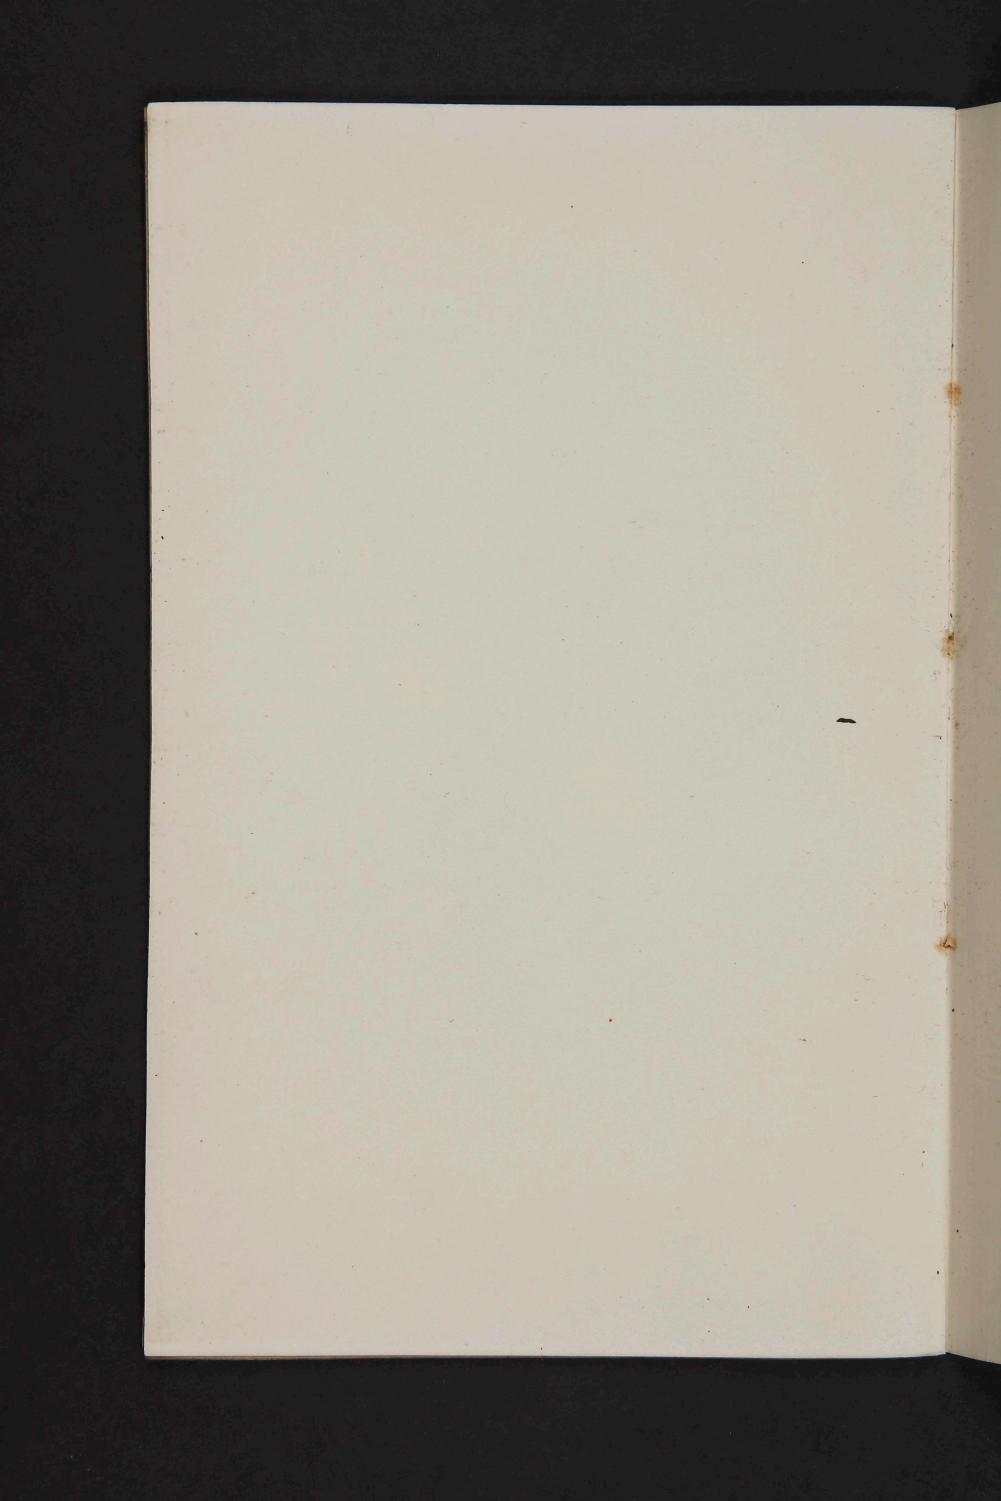

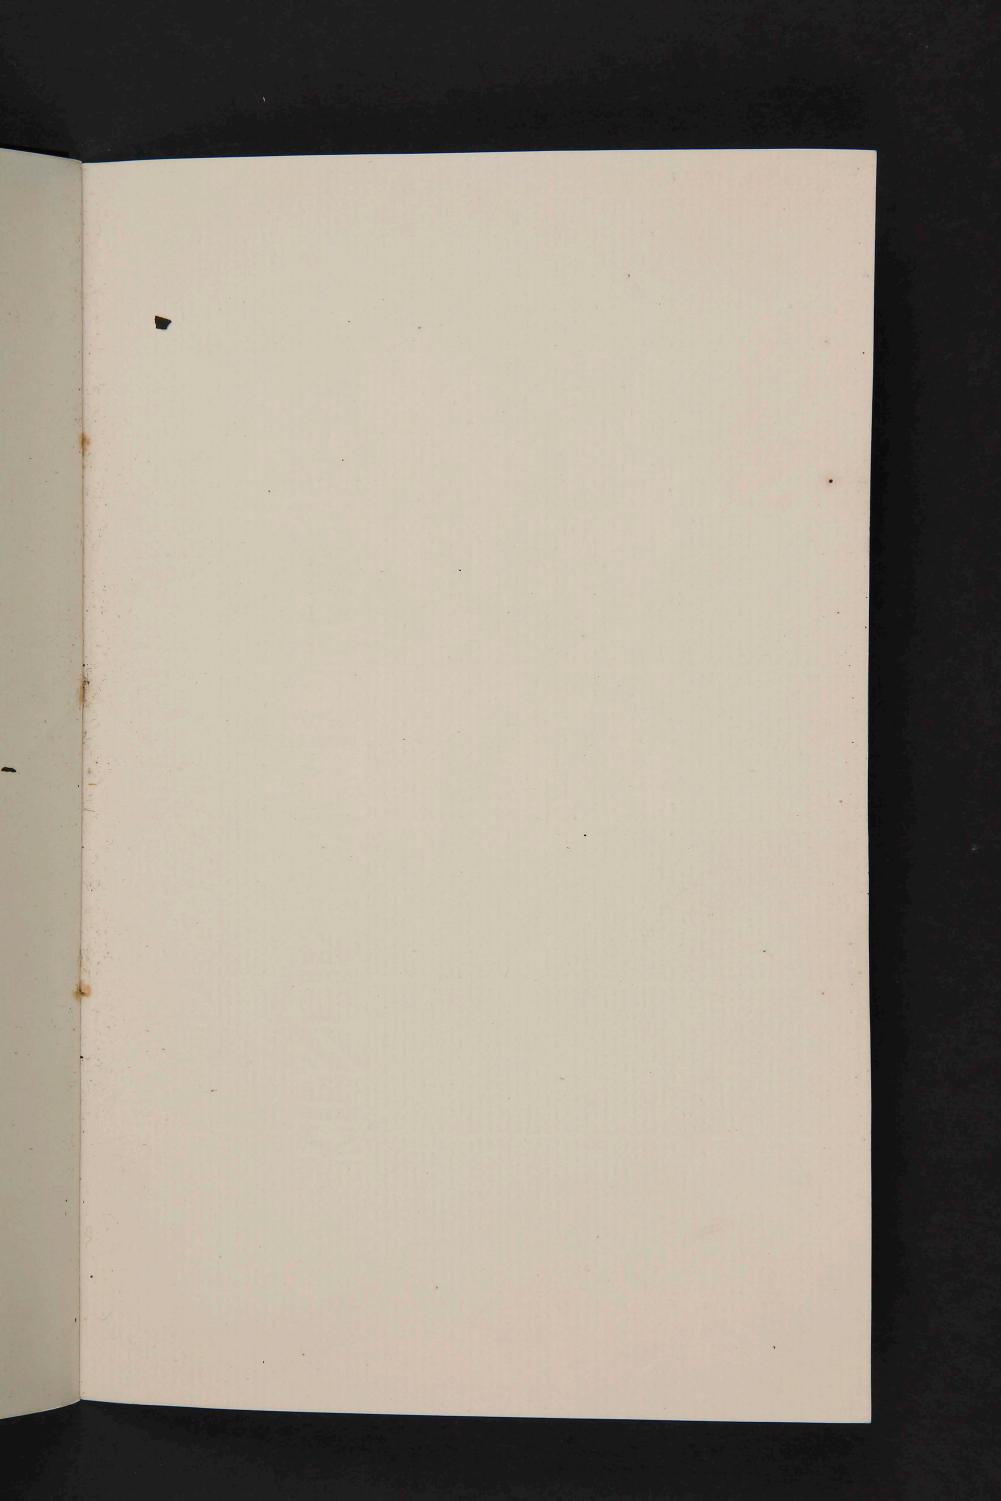

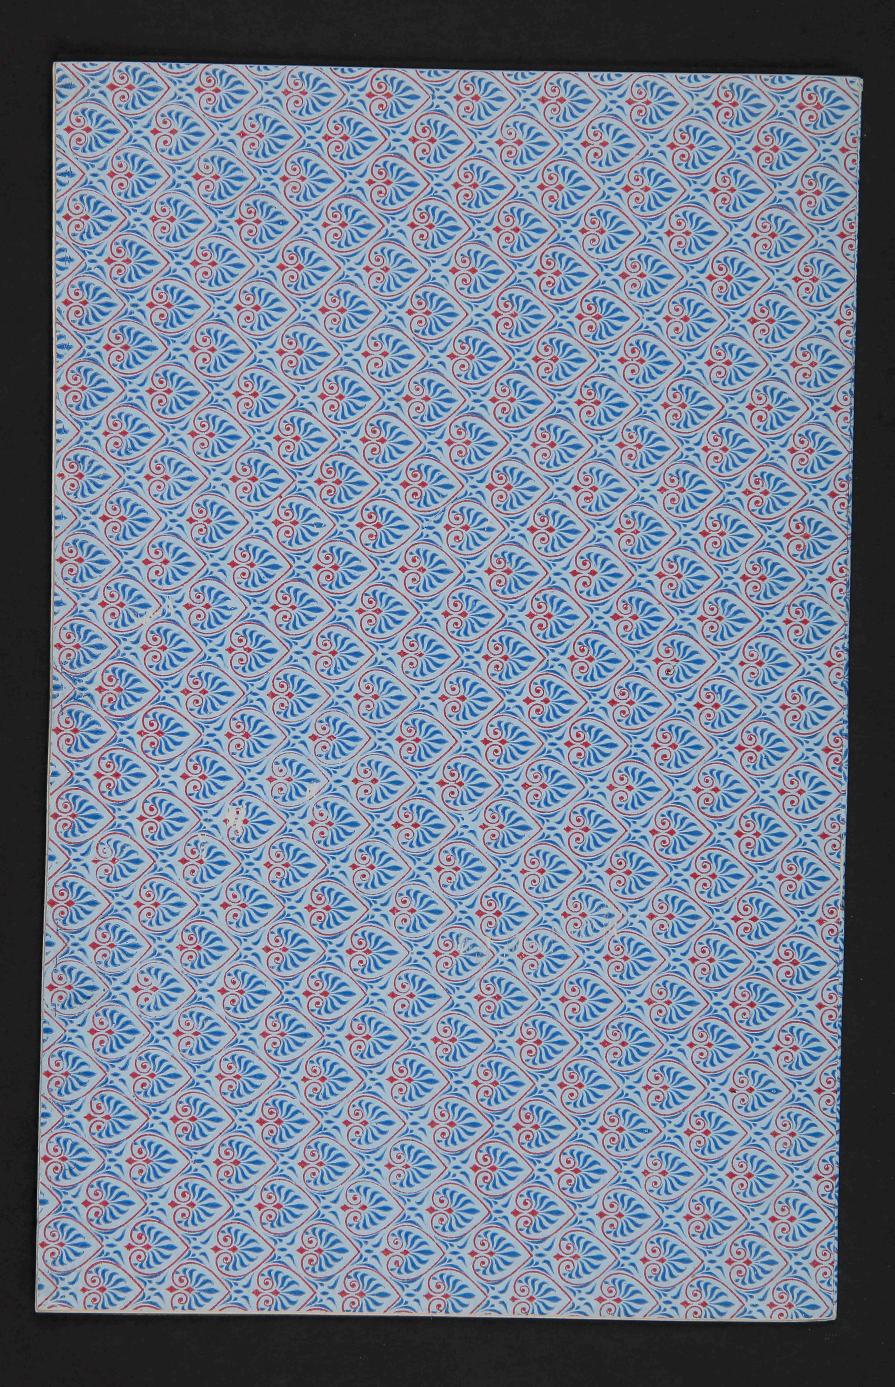

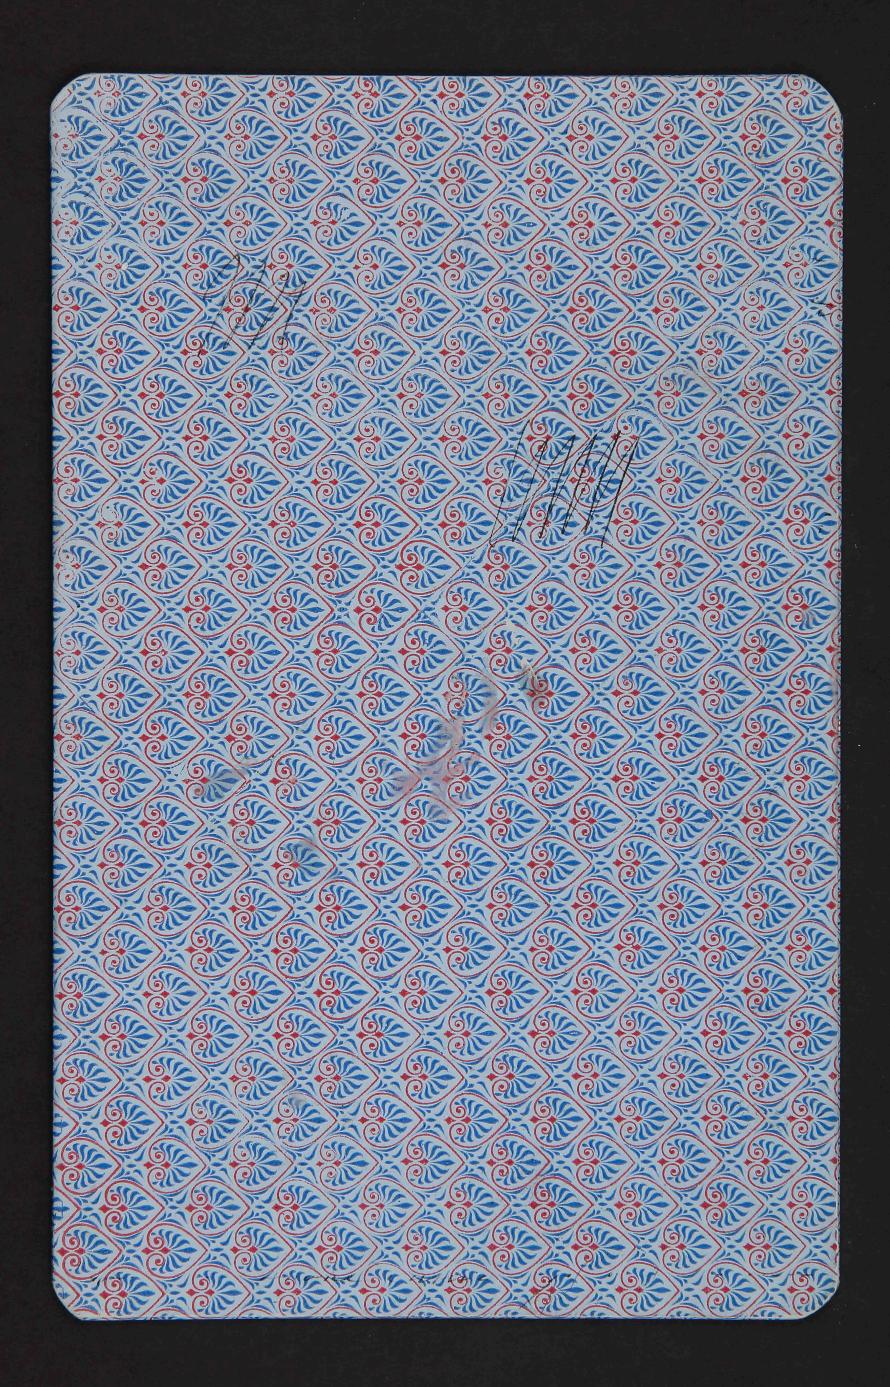

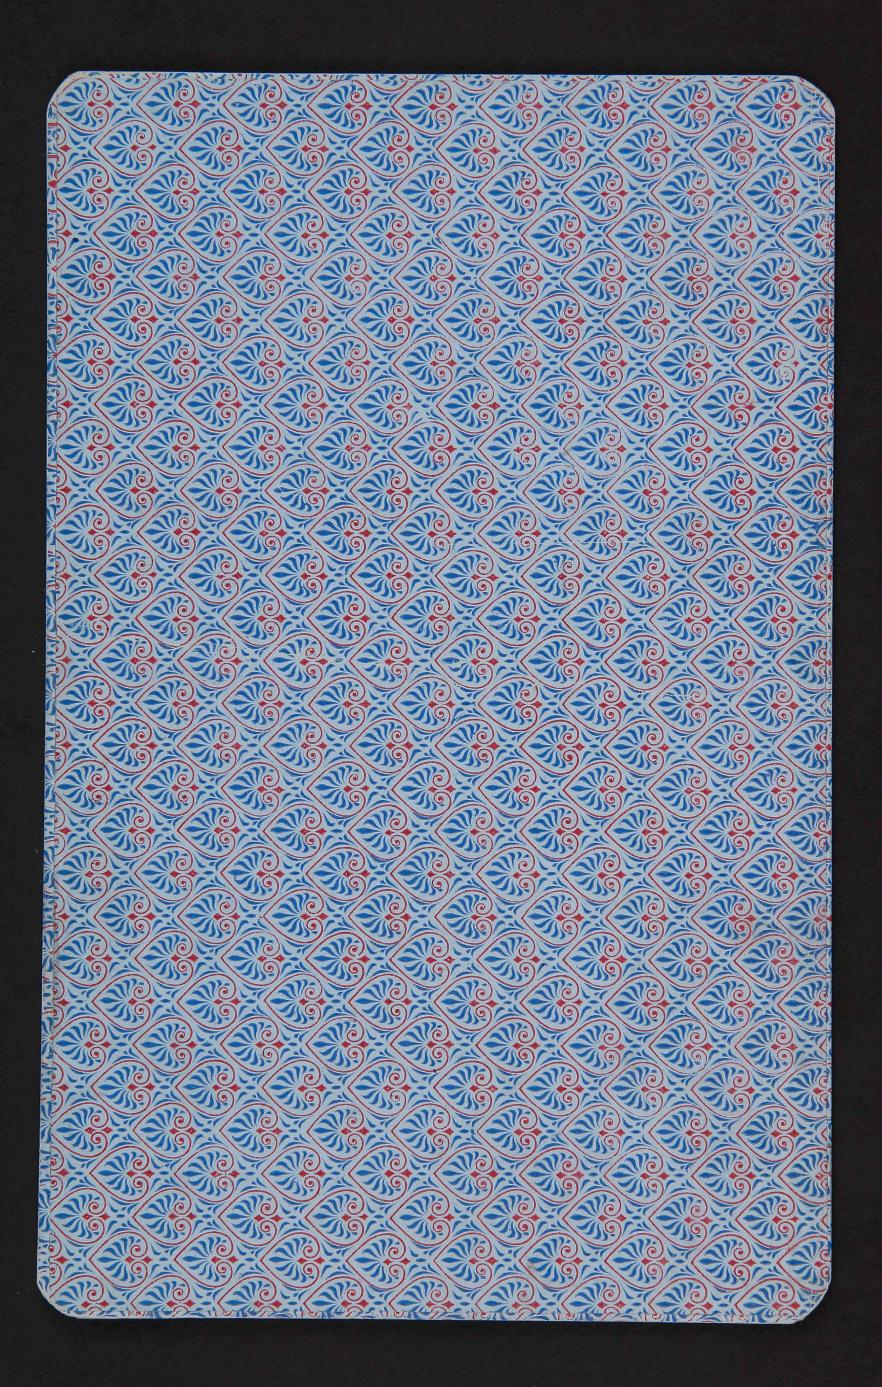

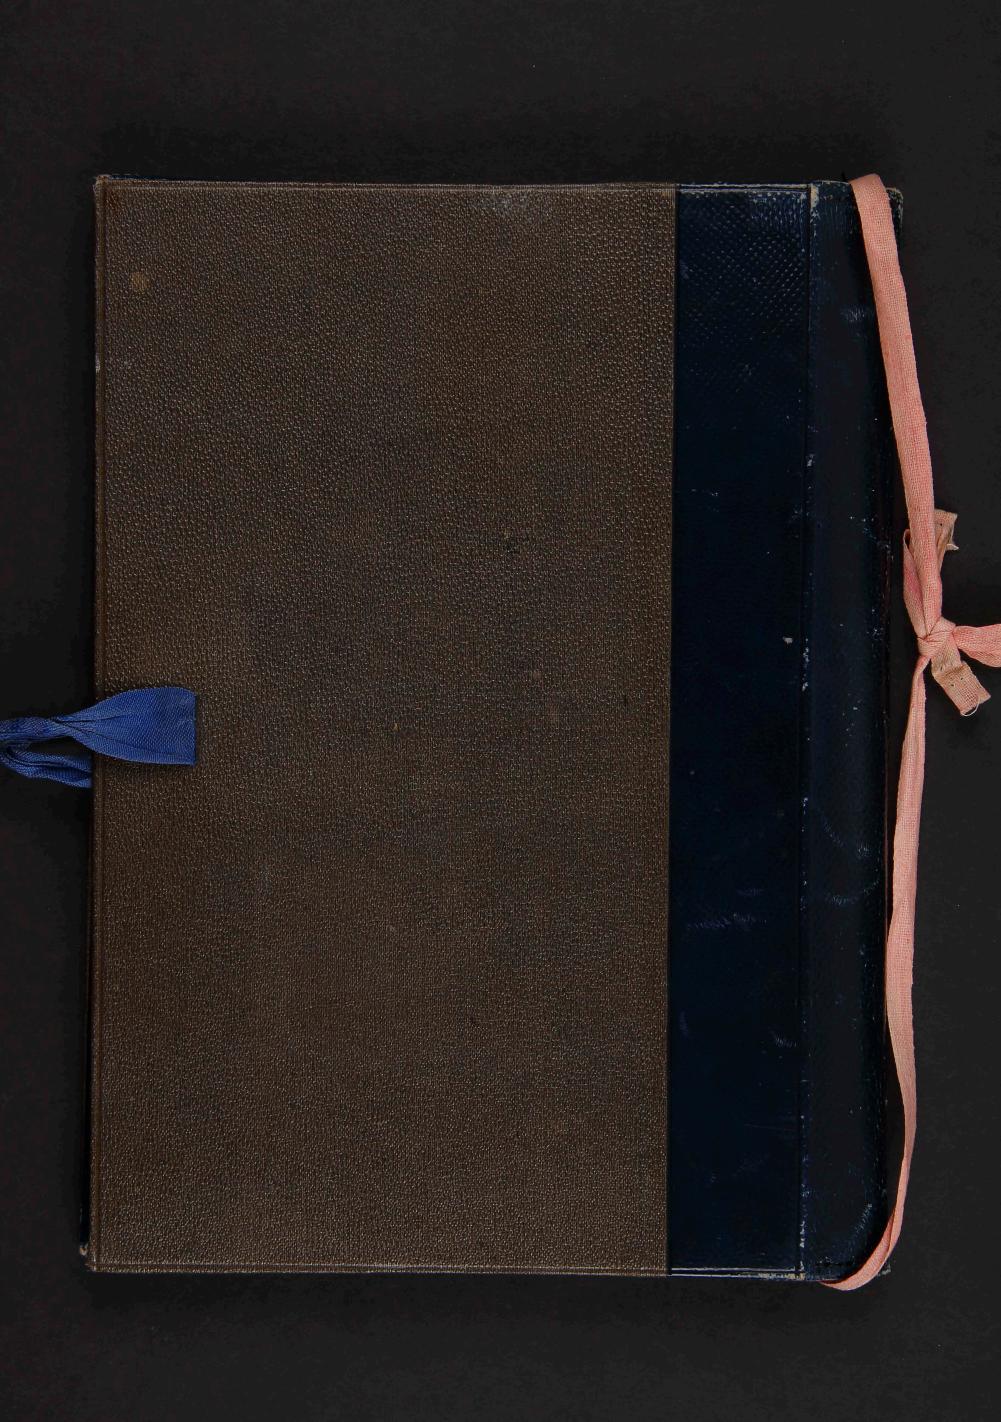

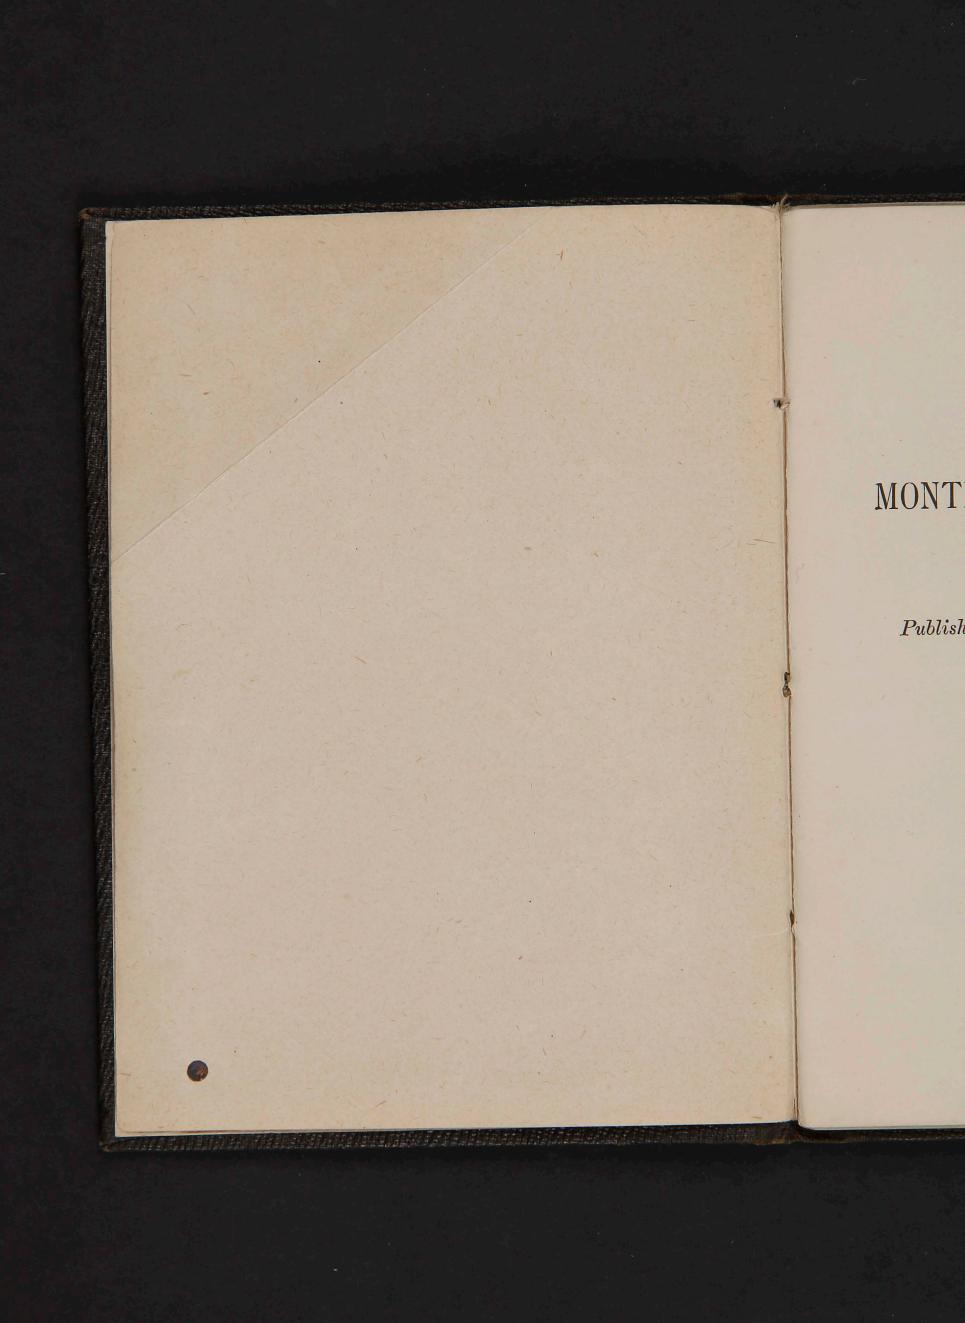

PHARMACOPEIA OF THE MONTREAL GENERAL HOSPITAL.

O Marrier T

CHAS. E. SCARFF.

PHARMACOPŒIA

OF THE

MONTREAL GENERAL HOSPITAL.

Published by the Authority of the Medical Board.

2nd EDITION.

MONTREAL: 1893.

MON

JOHN LOVELL & SON, PRINTERS, 23 & 25 ST. NICHOLAS ST., MONTREAL.

Injectio

[minatio

Sulp

Injectio Chlo

Injectio

Sulp

PHARMACOPŒIA

OF THE

MONTREAL GENERAL HOSPITAL

INJECTIONES.

Injectio Zinci Sulphatis.

Sulphate of Zinc 1 grain (.06); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Injectio Zinci Chloridi.

Chloride of Zinc $\frac{1}{2}$ grain (.03); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Injectio Zinci Acetatis Composita.

Sulphate of Zinc ½ grain (.03); Solution of the Subacetate of Lead 4 minims (.30); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Injectio Argenti Nitratis.

Nitrate of Silver 4 grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Injectio Potassii Permanganatis.

Permanganate of Potassium $\frac{1}{2}$ grain (.03); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Injectio Zinci Sulphatis Composita.

Sulphate of Zinc 1 grain (.06); Oxide of Zinc 2 grains (.15); Rectified Spirit 8 minims (.50); Mucilage 1½ drachms (5.50); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

LINCTUS.

Linctus Morphinae.

Solution of the Hydrochlorate of Morphine 3 minims (.18); Spirits of Chloroform 3 minims (.18); Glycerine ½ drachm (2.50); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Linctus Codeinae.

Codeine ½ grain (.008); Compound Tincture of Cardamons, Spirits of Chloroform of each 5 minims (.28); Syrup ½ drachm (2.5); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Linctus

Solu

Linimen

Soft

Liniment

33111111111111

Linin

. .

Liniment

Oil of

ti

O

Liniment

Tinetu

5

Linetus Morphinæ cum Acido Hydrocyanico.

Solution of the Acetate of Morphine 5 minims (.30); Dilute Hydrocyanic Acid, 1½ minims (.08); Spirits of Chloroform 3 minims (.18); Syrup of Lemons ½ drachm (2.50); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

LINIMENTA.

Linimentum Saponis.

Soft Soap 1 drachm (4.00); Camphor 24 grains (1.50); Rectified Spirit 96 minims (5.50); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Linimentum Belladonnæ et Chloroformi.

Liniment of Belladonna 3 drachms (10.00); Chloroform 1 drachm (5.00); Liniment of Soap to 1 ounce (30.00).

Linimentum Commune (Hospital Liniment).

Oil of Turpentine $1\frac{1}{2}$ drachm (5.00); Stronger Solution of Ammonia 45 minims (2.50); Liniment of Soap to 1 ounce (30.00).

Linimentum Saponis cum Opio (Anodyne Liniment).

Tincture of Opium 2 drachms (7.00); Liniment of Soap to 1 ounce (30.00).

ce (30.00).

; Water 1

2 grains Mucilage (30.00).

3 minims ns (.18); 1 drachm

of Carminims drachm

LOTIONES.

Lotio Plumbi.

Solution of the Subacetate of Lead 12 minims (.75); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Plumbi Evaporans,

Solution of the Subacetate of Lead 20 minims (1.25); Rectified Spirits 2 drachms (6.75); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Plumbi cum Opio.

Solution of the Subacetate of Lead, Tincture of Opium, of each 12 minims (.75); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Rubra (Red Wash).

Sulphate of Zinc 2 grains (.13); Compound Tincture of Lavender 20 minims (1.25); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Zinci Oxidi.

Oxide of Zinc 20 grains (30); Dilute Hydrocyanic Acid 10 minims (60); Glycerine 40 minims (3.30); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Cal

Lime 1

Lotio Ac

Salicy

Lotio Zin

Oxide

in

Mistura A

Carbon M

to

Mistura A

Iodide Po

(1

inims (.75);

nims (1.25); Water to 1

e of Opium, unce (30.00).

d Tincture to I ounce

Iydrocyanic nims (3.30);

Lotio Calcis cum Sulphure (Vlemingkx Solution.)

Lime 1 ounce (32.00); Sulphur 2 ounces (64.00); Water 1 pint (600.00). Slake the lime, add the Sulphur, and boil to 12 ounces (350.00).

Lotio Acidi Salicylici (Thiersch's Solution).

Salicylic Acid 1 grain (.07); Biborate of Sodium 6 grains (.40); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Zinci Oxidi cum Calomelane.

Oxide of Ziuc 9 grains (.60); Calomel 3 grains (.20); Carbolic Acid 3 grains (.20); Glycerine 12 minims (.90); Lime Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

MISTURÆ.

Mistura Alba.

Carbonate of Magnesium 10 grains (.65); Sulphate of Magnesium 1 drachm (4.00); Peppermint Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Alkalina.

Iodide of Potassium 5 grains (.32); Bicarbonate of Potassium 15 grains (1.00); water to $\frac{1}{2}$; ounce (15.00).

Mistura Ammonium Chloridi.

Chloride of Ammonium 5 grains (.32); Spirits of Chloroform 10 minims (.60); Compound Tincture of Camphor 15 minims (.92); Fluid Extract of Licorice 20 minims (1.50); Water to ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Bismuthi cum Acido Hydrocyanico.

Subnitrate of Bismuth 10 grains (.65); Dilute Hydrocyanic Acid 3 minims (.16); Infusion of Calumba to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Ferri Acetatis.

Tincture of the Perchloride of Iron 15 minims (.92); Solution of the Acetate of Ammonium 1 drachm (3.75); Dilute Acetic Acid 20 minims (1.25); Water to ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Ferri Aperiens.

Sulphate of Magnesium ½ drachm (1.95); Sulphate of Iron 2 grains (.13); Dilute Sulphuric Acid 5 minims (.30); Tincture of Calumba ½ drachm (1.90); Peppermint Water to ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura I

Sulph

Misture

Mistura .

Tinct

V.T. .

Mistura

Bicar

n

d

Mistura

Corro

Mistura]

Wine

as d Mistura Ferri et Quininæ.

Sulphate of Iron Sulphate of Quinine, of each 1 grain (.065); Dilute Sulphuric Acid 10 minims (.60); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Ferri Perchloridi.

Tincture of the Perchloride of Iron 10 minims (.60);
Dilute Phosphoric Acid 10 minims (.60); Tincture of Lemon Peel 30 minims (1.90); Syrup 1 drachm
(5.00); Water to ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Gentianæ Alkalina.

Bicarbonate of Sodium 10 grains (.65); Compound Tincture of Gentian 1 drachm (3.75); Peppermint Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Hydrargyri (Green's Mixture).

Corrosive Sublimate $\frac{1}{12}$ grain (.005); Iodide of Potassium 5 grains (.32); Tincture of Calumba $\frac{1}{2}$ drachm (1.90); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Ipecacuanhæ.

Wine of Ipecacuanha 10 minims (.60); Citrate of Potassium 15 grains (1.00); Sweet Spirits of Nitre ½ drachm (1.70); Water to ½ ounce (15.00).

rits of Chlo-Tincture of Extract of to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce

ute Hydroof Calumba

ims (.92);
1 drachm
ns (1.25);

ulphate of cid 5 min (1.90);

Mistura Nitromuriatica.

Dilute Nitromuriatic Acid 10 minims (.60); Tincture of Calumba 1 drachm (3.75); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Pectoralis Acuta.

Tartarated Antimony $\frac{1}{8}$ grain (.008); Wine of Ipecacuanha 10 minims (.60); Solution of the Acetate of Amononium $\frac{1}{2}$ drachm (1.90); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Pectoralis Chronica.

Nitrate of Potassium 10 grains (.65); Compound Tincture of Camphor 20 minims (1.25); Vinegar of Squills 20 minims (1.25); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Potassii.

Citrate of Potassium 30 grains (2.00); Bicarbonate of Potassium 15 grains (1.00); Peppermint Water ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Potassii cum Hyoscyamo.

Tincture of Hyoscyamus ½ drachm (1.90); Potassium Mixture to ½ ounce (15.00).

Mistura

Aceta

Mistura I

Bicar

Mistura S

Sulpl

Person

Mistura S

Benze

Mistura (

Cod]

Mistura Potassii Acetatis Composita.

Acetate of Potassium 20 grains (1.30); Vinegar of Squills 20 minims (1.25); Sweet Spirits of Nitre $\frac{1}{2}$ drachm (1.70); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Rhei et Sodii.

Bicarbonate of Sodium 10 grains (.65); Powdered Rhubarb 5 grains (.32); Peppermint Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Salina.

Sulphate of Magnesium 30 grains (2.00); Compound Tincture of Gentian $\frac{1}{2}$ drachm (1.90); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Sodii Benzoatis.

Benzoic Acid 10 grains (.65); Biborate of Sodium 15 grains (1.00); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (15.00).

Mistura Olei Morrhuæ.

Cod Liver Oil, Apohaqui Water, of each 2 drachms (8.00).

nims (.60); Tincture; Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce

8); Wine of Ipecantion of the Acetate 1.90); Water to $\frac{1}{2}$

; Compound Tinc-(1.25); Vinegar of Water to $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce

); Bicarbonate of ppermint Water ½

(1.90); Potassium

PIGMENTA.

Pigmentum Carbolici et Resinæ.

Carbolic Acid 1 drachm (4.00); Resin 1 drachm (4.00). For toothache, to be placed in the cavity.

Pigmentum Belladonnæ.

Extract of Belladonna 1 drachm (4.00); Glycerine 7 drachms (36.00).

PILULÆ.

Pilula Aloes et Belladonnæ.

Aloes $2\frac{1}{2}$ grains (.16); Extract of Belladonna $\frac{1}{6}$ grain (.010); Extract of Nux Vomica $\frac{1}{4}$ grain (.016).

Pilula Camphoræ Composita.

Camphor 1 grain (.065); Opium ½ grain (.03); Ipecacuanha ¼ grain (.016); Mucilage of Acacia a sufficiency.

Pilula Colocynthidis cum Hydrargyro.

Compound Extract of Colocynth 3 grains (.20); Pill of Mercury 1½ grains (.10); Extract of Hyoscyamus ½ grain (.03).

Pilula

Car

Pulvis

Cal

Unguer Chi

Unguer

Lea

1

Unguer

Pilula Camphoræ et Calomelanos.

Camphor 1 grain (.03); Calomel \(\frac{1}{4}\) grain (.010); Oleo Resin Capsic 1-20 grain (.003); Powdered Opium and Powdered Ipecac of each \(\frac{1}{2}\) grain (.03).

PULVERES.

Pulvis Calomelanos Composita.

Calomel, Powdered Boracic Acid, Powdered Starch, equal parts. As an application to venereal ulcers

UNGUENTA.

Unguentum Chrysarobini.

Chrysarobin 5 grains (.30); Vaseline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Lithargyri (Hebra).

Lead Plaster 10 ounces (30.00); Olive Oil 1 pint (60.00); Oil of Lavender 2 drachms (.60). Heat and mix thoroughly the Lead Plaster and the Olive Oil and then add the Oil of Lavender.

Unguentum Sulphuris Compositum.

Sublimed Sulphur 3 ounces (3.00); Oil of Cade 3 ounces (3.00); Green Soap and Lard, of each ½ pound (8.00); Chalk 2 ounces (2.00). (Hebra's Ointment for Scabies).

achm (4.00).

Glycerine 7

lladonna $\frac{1}{6}$ ica $\frac{1}{4}$ grain

3); Ipecacacia a suffi-

(.20); Pill of Hyoscy-

Unguentum Zinci Compositum.

Zinc Ointment and Simple Ointment of each ½ ounce (15.00); Calomel 10 grains (.65); Oil of Cade I drachm (4.00).

Unguentum Resorcini.

Resorcin ½ drachm (2.00); Salicylic Acid 20 grains (1.50); Sulphur Ointment 1 ounce (32.00). (For Acne).

Unguentum Hydrargyri Ammoniati Compositum.

Zinc Ointment and Simple Ointment, of each 2 drachms (8.00); Ointment of Ammoniated Mercury $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (16.00).

Unguentum Hydrargyri Oleatis.

Oleate of Mercury (10 per cent.) 2 drachms (8.00); Prepared Lard 1 drachm (4.00); Oil of Lavender 3 minims (.2). (For Dandruff).

SPIRITUS.

Spiritus Saponis Viridis.

Green Soap 2 ounces (60.00); Alcohol 1 ounce (30.00); Oil of Lavender 20 minims (1.00). Dissolve the Soap in the Spirit, filter and add the Oil of Lavender.

Vapor Iod

Sulph

ourp.

(1

d

Vapor Cr

Crease

R

VAPORES.

Vapor Iodi Compositum (Coghill's Inhalation).

Sulphuric Ether, Tincture of Iodine, Carbolic Acid, of each 3 drachms (8.00, 12.00, 15.00); Creasote 1½ drachms (7.50); Rectified Spirits 5½ drachms (18.00). Dose.—Ten drops on the sponge of an oro-nasal inhaler.

Vapor Creasoti et Acidi Carbolici.

Creasote, Carbolic Acid, of each 2 drachms (8.00); Rectified Spirits 4 drachms (14.00).

 $\begin{array}{c} \text{ach } \frac{1}{2} \text{ ounce} \\ \text{l of Cade l} \end{array}$

20 grains 2.00). (For

itum.

of each 2 niated Mernms (8.00); of Lavender nce (30.00); ve the Soap Lavender.

PHARMACOPŒIA

OF THE DEPARTMENT FOR

DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR

COLLYRIA.

Collyrium Acidi Boracici.

Boracic Acid 15 grains (1.00); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium Aluminis.

Alum 5 grains (.30); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium Argenti Nitratis.

Nitrate of Silver 2 grains (.13); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium

(

Boraci

Collyrium Corros

ou

ou

Collyrium

Chlori

Collyrium

Sulpha

Collyrium

Sulpho

Fomentum

Poppy

fo

Collyrium Boracis.

Boracic Acid, Biborate of Sodium, of each 6 grains (.40); Camphor Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium Hydrargyri Perchloridi.

Corrosive Sublimate 1 grain (.05); Distilled Water 10 ounces (300.00).

Collyrium Zinci Chloridi.

Chloride of Zinc 2 grains (.15); Distilled Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium Zinci Sulphatis.

Sulphate of Zinc 4 grains (.25); Boracic Acid 10 grains (.65); Distilled Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Collyrium Zinci Sulphocarbolatis.

Sulphocarbolate of Zinc 2 grains (.15); Distilled Water 1 ounce (30.00).

FOMENTA.

Fomentum Papaveris.

Poppy Capsules freed from their seeds and bruised 2 ounces (60.00); Water $1\frac{1}{2}$ pint (900.00). Boil for a quarter of an hour, and strain. To be used as a hot fomentation.

ND EAR

unce (30.00).

1).

unce (30.00).

Fomentum Boracis.

Boracic Acid 6 drachms (25.00); Boiling Water 1 pint (600.00).

Fomentum Belladonnæ.

Extract of Belladonna 1 drachm (4.00); Distilled Water 1 pint (600.00). Rub together until dissolved.

GUTTÆ.

Guttæ Atropinæ.

Sulphate of Atropine 4 grains (.26); Boracic Acid 6 grains (.39); Salicylic Acid 4 grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Atropinæ Mitiores.

Sulphate of Atropine 2 grains (.13); Boracic Acid 6 grains (.39); Salicylic Acid 4 grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Eserinæ.

Salicylate of Eserine 2 grains (.13); Salicylic Acid 4 grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Co

Hydro A

Guttæ H

Hydr

Guttæ O

Wine

Guttæ Pi

Hydr

Infusum

Powd

Guttæ Cocainæ.

Hydrochlorate of Cocaine 10 grains (.65); Salicylic Acid \(\frac{1}{4} \) grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Homatropinæ et Cocainæ.

Hydrobromate of Homatropine 4 grains (.26); Hydrochlorate of Cocaine 8 grains (.52); Salicylic Acid ¹/₄ grain (.016); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Opii.

Wine of Opium 1 drachm (3.75); Distilled Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Guttæ Pilocarpinæ.

Hydrochlorate of Pilocarpine 4 grains (.26); Salicylic Acid \(\frac{1}{4}\) grain (.016); Distilled Water I ounce (30.00).

INFUSA.

Infusum Abri.

Powdered decorticated Jequirity seeds 20 grains (1.30); Distilled Water at 100° F 38° C., 1 ounce (30.00). Steep the powder in the water for two hours and strain through fine muslin.

Water 1 pint

stilled Water dissolved.

racic Acid 6 (6); Water 1

racic Acid 6 16); Water 1

cylic Acid 1/4

LAPIDES.

Lapis Divinus.

Sulphate of Copper, Alum, Nitrate of Potash, of each 1 part. Fuse together and add 1-60 of Camphor of the whole by weight. Run into suitable moulds.

Lapis Mitigatus I.

Nitrate of Silver 1 part; Nitrate of Potash 2 parts. Fuse and run into suitable moulds.

Lapis Mitigatus II.

Nitrate of Silver 1 part; Nitrate of Potash 3 parts.

LOTIONES.

These lotions, intended for aural use, should be introduced into the ear at the temperature of about 100 F. 38° C.

Lotio Acid Boracici.

Boracic Acid 1 drachm (4.00); Glycerine 1 drachm (5.00); Rectified Spirits 7 drachms (24.00); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Alka

Bicarbo 1 g

Lotio Amm

Chlorid Wa

Lotio Alun

Alum (

Lotio Zinci

Sulpha

gra

Pasta Zino

Solutio (3:

sm

Lotio Alkalina.

Bicarbonate of Sodium 12 grains (.80); Carbolic Acid 1 grain (.065); Water 1 ounce (30,00).

Lotio Ammonii Chloridi Astringens.

Chloride of Ammonium, Alum, of each 6 grains (.4); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Aluminis.

Alum 6 grains (40); Carbolic acid $1\frac{1}{2}$ grains (.10); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Lotio Zinci Sulphatis.

Sulphate of Zinc 6 grains (.40); Carbolic Acid 1 grain (10); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

PASTÆ.

Pasta Zinci Chloridi.

Solution of the Chloride of Zinc with Opium 1 ounce (32.00); Wheaten Flour 20 grains (1.30). Mix smoothly in a mortar, and heat over a water bath until of proper consistence.

sh, of each 1 Camphor of e moulds.

ish 2 parts.

3 parts.

uld be introire of about

e 1 drachm (00); Water

UNGUENTA.

Unguentum Flavum I.

Yellow Oxide of Mercury 5 grains (.30); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Flavum II.

Yellow Oxide of Mercury 10 grains (.60); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Flavum III.

Yellow Oxide of Mercury 15 grains (.90); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline I ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Flavum IV.

Yellow Oxide of Mercury 25 grains (150); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline I ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Iodoformi et Acidi Tannici.

Powdered Todoform, Tannic Acid, of each 4 grains (.25); White Vaseline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Peru.

Ammonio Chloride of Mercury 3 grains (.20); Balsam of Peru 12 drops (.90); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentur

lin

Ammo

Unguentun

Ointm 11

Unguentur

Powde

Unguentu

Hydro

af

st

Unguentu

Unguenti

Sulph

(

Unguentum Hydrargyri Ammoniatis Mitius.

Am monio-Chloride of Mercury 5 grains (.30); Lanoline 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Hydrargyri Nitratis Mitius.

Ointment of Nitrate of Mercury 1 part; Soft Paraffine 11 parts.

Unguentum Acidi Boracici.

Powdered Boracic Acid 60 grains (4.00); Paraffine 16 grains (1.00); White Vaseline to 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Cocainæ.

Hydrochlorate of Cocaine 10 grains (.25); Soft Paraffine 1 ounce (30.00). Heat until dissolved and stir until cold.

Unguentum Ichthyolis.

Ichthyol 30 grains (2.00); Ointment of Oxide of Zinc 1 drachm (4.00); Soft Paraffin to 1 ounce (30.00).

Unguentum Atropinæ.

Sulphate of Atropine 4 grains (.25); Soft Paraffine 1 ounce (30.00). Heat until dissolved and stir until cold.

Paraffine 16 ice (30.00).

; Paraffine nce (30.00).

; Paraffine ice (30.00).

; Paraffine ace (30.00).

4 grains

; Balsam ns (1.00);

PHARMACOPŒIA

OF THE DEPARTMENT FOR

DISEASES OF THE NOSE AND THROAT

COLLUNARIA OR NASAL LOTIONS.

Collunarium Boracis' (The "Cleansing Solution").

Biborate of Sodium, Bicarbonate of Sodium, of each 3 grains (.20); Carbolic Acid (Calvert's No. 1) 1 grain (.065); Glycerine (pure) 1 drachm (5.00); water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Collunarium Alkalinum.

Biborate of Sodium, Bicarbonate of Sodium, Common Salt, of each 7 grains (.45); Refined White Sugar 15 grains (1.00). Dissolve in half a tumbler of warm Water.

Collunari

Bicar

Collunari

Sulpl

Collunar Bica

Colluna

Solu

Colluna

Solu

Collunarium Pini Canadensis.

Bicarbonate of Sodium, Biborate of Sodium, of each 8 grains (.55); Fluid Extract of Canadian Pine 15 minums (1.00); Glycerine (pure) 2 drachms (10.00); water (warm) 4 ounces (120.00).

Collunarium Zinci Sulpho-Carbolatis.

Sulpho-Carbolate of Zinc 2 grains (.15); Water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00).

Collunarium "Listerine."

Bicarbonate of Sodium 3 grains (.20); Listerine (Lamber Phar. Co.) 15 minims (1.00); Water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00).

Collunarium Potassii Permanganatis,

Solution (Liquor) of Permanganate of Potassium (Ph. B.) 6 minims (.30); water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00)

Collunarium Potassii Permanganatis Compositum.

Solution (Liquor) of Permanganate of Potassium (B.P.) 6 minims (.30); Muriate of Ammonium 2 grains (.10); Chlorate of Potassium 3 grains (.15); Water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00).

HROAT

on ").

of each 3 No. 1) 1

(5.00);

Common White a tumbler

Collunarium Sodii Salicylatis.

Salicylate of Sodium ½ grain (.03); Biborate of Sodium 3 grains (.15); Water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00).

Collunarium Acidi Tannici.

Tannic Acid 3 grains (.15); Water (warm) 1 ounce (30.00).

Note.—Collunaria may be applied by means of atomization.

GARGARISMATA.

Gargarisma Acidi Carbolici.

Carbolic Acid (Calvert's No. 1) 1 drachm (1.00); Water 12 ounces (100.00).

Gargarisma Aluminis cum Acido Tannico.

Powdered Alum, Tannic Acid, of each 1 drachm (1.00); Water 8 ounces (65.00).

Gargarisma Potassii Permanganatis.

Solution of Permanganate of Potassium (B.P.) 1 drachm (1.00); Water 10 ounces (80.00).

Gargarisma

Take of chl

oui oui a l

the

Gargarisma Powde

ou (6)

Gargarism

Dilute

(1

Insufflati

Sulph

For 1

Gargarisma Potassii Chloratis.

Take of Chlorate of Potassium 90 grains (6.00); Hydrochloric Acid 40 minims (2.50); Glycerine 1 fluid ounce (40.00); Distilled Water up to 20 fluid ounces (600.00). Mix the Acid and the Chlorate in a bottle, cork and let it stand for three minutes, then add the Water gradually with much shaking, lastly add the Glycerine.

Gargarisma Aluminis.

Powdered Alum 180 grains (12.00); Glycerine fluid 1 ounce (40.00); Distilled Water up to 20 ounces (600.00). Dissolve and mix.

Gargarisma Acidi Tannici.

Dilute Hydrochloric Acid 2 fluid drachms (7.50); Glycerine of Tannic Acid (B. P.) 3 fluid drachms (15.00); Water up to 20 fluid ounces (600.00). Mix.

INSUFFLATIONES.

Insufflatio Morphinæ et Iodoformi.

Sulphate of Morphine ½ grain (.008); Powdered Iodoform, Powdered Acacia, of each 1 grain (065). For laryngeal insufflation.

of Sodium (30.00).

n) 1 ounce

zation.

hm (1.00);

hm (1.00);

(B.P.) 1

Insufflatio Morphinæ Simplex.

Sulphate of Morphine ½ grain (.008); Powdered Starch 1 grain (.065).

For laryngeal insufflation.

Insufflatio Iodoformi Simplex.

Powdered Iodoform, Powdered Gum Acacia, of each 1 grain.

For laryngeal use.

Insufflatio "Iodol" composita.

Iodol, Tannic Acid, Boric Acid, equal parts by weight. For nasal use.

Insufflatio Sanguinariæ (Bosworth).

Powdered Blood Root 2 drachms (100); Powdered Starch 6 drachms (3.00). For nasal use.

MISTURÆ.

Mistura Potassii Chloratis cum Guaiaco.

Chlorate of Potassium 2 drachms (8.00); Ammoniated Tincture of Guaiacum 6 drachms (22.00); Strained Honey a sufficiency; Water to 6 ounces (180.00). One des sertspoonful for each dose.

Mistura A

Tanni

To be a

Nebula C

Hydra

For a

Nebula A

Tanni

For la

Nebula I

Perox

Mix

Mistura Acidi Tannici et Gallici.

Tannic Acid 6 drachms (24.00); Gallic Acid 2 drachms (8.00); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

To be sipped slowly for the prevention of hæmorrhage after Tonsillotomy.

NEBULÆ.

Nebula Chloralis Hydratis.

Hydrate of Chloral 16 grains (1.00); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

For a nasal and naso-pharyngeal spray.

Nebula Acidi Tannici Sedativa.

Tannic Acid 10 grains (.65); Carbolic Acid (Calvert's No.1), English Oil of Peppermint, of each 1 minim (.06); Glycerine (pure) 1 drachm (5.60); Water 7 drachms (26.25).

For laryngeal use.

Nebula Hydrogeni Peroxidi.

Peroxide of Hydrogen (Charles Marchand's) 2 drachms (7 50); Water to 1 ounce (30.00).

Mix freshly, for nasal or naso-pharyngeal use in diphtheria.

dered Starch

acia, of each ts by weight.

; Powdered

Ammoniated 00); Strained aces (180.00).

PIGMENTA.

Pigmentum Argenti Nitratis.

Nitrate of Silver 10 grains (.65); Distilled Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Ferri et Aluminis Sulphatis.

Iron Alum 10 grains (.65); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Ferri et Aluminis Sulphatis Mitius.

Iron Alum 5 grains (.32); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Ferri Perchloridi.

Perchloride of Iron 20 grains (1.30); Water 1 ounce (30,00).

Pigmentum Zinci Chloridi.

Chloride of Zinc 10 grains (.65); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Acidi Chromici.

Chromic Acid Crystals (Merck) 15 grains (1.00); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigment

Chr

Pigmen

Sulp

Chlo

Pigmen

Pigmen Lac

Pigmen Iod

Pigmen

Pigmer

Iod

Iod

Pigmentum Acidi Chromici Mitius.

Chromic and Crystals 10 grains (.65); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Cupri Sulphatis.

Sulphate of Copper 10 grains (.65); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Zinci Chloridi Mitius.

Chloride of Zinc 5 grains (.32); Water 1 ounce (30.00).

Pigmentum Acidi Lactici.

Lactic Acid 20-80 parts; Water to 100 parts.

Pigmentum Iodi.

Iodine 6 grains (.40); Glycerine 1 ounce (40.00).

Pigmentum Iodi Mitius.

Iodine 3 grains (.20); Glycerine 1 ounce (40.00).

Pigmentum Iodi cum Acido Tannico. (Sajous')

Iodine 15 grains (1.00); Tannic Acid 2 drachms

d Water 1

(30.00).

30.00).

lus.

er 1 ounce

ce (30.00).

ns (1.00);

(8.00); Water 4 ounces (120.00). Mix, filter and evaporate to 1 ounce (30.00). Add 2 ounces of Glycerine (80.00) and one minim of Carbolic Acid (.06.

Pigmentum Chloralis et Camphorae.

Powdered Camphor and Hydrate of Chloral of each half an ounce. Rub together in a warm mortar until liquified.

UNGUENTA.

Unguentum "Aristol."

Aristol 10 grains (.65); Lanoline, Vaseline, of each 4 drachms (16.00).

Unguentum Aristol Mitius.

Aristol 5 grains (.32); Lanoline, Vaseline, of each 4 drachms (16.00).

Unguentum Hydrargyri Biniodidi Dilutum.

Ointment of Biniodide of Mercury (B. P.) 1 drachm (4.00); Lard 7 drachms (28.00).

Unguentum Hydrargyri Subchloridi.

Subchloride of Mercury 2 drachms (8.00); Spermaceti Ointment 1 ounce (32.00).

Unguent

Euca

Vapor B

Vapor A

Ace

Vapor

Cre

Vapor

Oil

At

Iix, filter and d 2 ounces of Carbolic Acid al of each half mortar until

line, of each

line, of each

.) 1 drachm

Spermaceti

Unguentum "Eucalyptol."

Eucalyptol 1 drachm (4.00); Lanoline 2 drachms (8.00); Vaseline 5 drachms (20.00).

VAPORES,

Vapor Benzoini.

Compound Tincture of Benzoin 1 drachm (3.75); Water at 140° F. (60°C) ½ pint (300.00).

Vapor Acidi Acetici.

Acetic Acid, 1 drachm (3.75); Water at 140° F. (60°C) ½ pint (300.00).

Vapor Creasoti.

Creasote 45 minims (3.00); Alcohol 1 ounce (30.00); Water at 140 ° F. (60°C) ½ pint (300.00).

Vapor Pini Sylvestris.

Oil of Scotch Pine (Fir Wood Oil) 40 minims (2.50); Light Carbonate of Magnesium 20 grains (1.30); Water to 1 ounce (30.00). Mix.

A teaspoonful to be added to $\frac{1}{2}$ pint of water at $140 \circ F$. (60°C).

Vapor Acidi Carbolici Composita (J. Lewis Smith).

Carbolic Acid, Oil of Eucalyptus, of each 1 ounce (30.00); Oil of Turpentine 8 ounces (240.00). Mix

Add one ounce to one quart of boiling water in a shallow pan, and vaporize constantly by the aid of a spirit lamp.

Vapor Acidi Carbolici et Ammoniæ (Hager and Brand).

Carbolic Acid, Stronger Solution of Ammonia, of each, ½ ounce (15.00); Rectified spirits 1½ ounces (40.00); 5 or 10 drops to be poured into a funnel of blotting paper, and inhaled every 2 hours in acute coryza.

Vapor Ammoniæ.

Solution of Ammonia, Water, of each 4 drachms (15.00). Add one teaspoonful to one pint of hot water 120° F. (50°C). for laryngeal inhalation.

The foll

Mistura Dil

Mistur Ca: s Smith).

ch 1 ounce 40,00). Mix water in a by the aid of

Hager and

nia, of each, nces (40.00); el of blotting cute coryza.

4 drachms pint of hot inhalation.

PHARMACOPŒIA

FOR CHILDREN.

The following prescriptions are designed for a child one year old.

MISTURÆ.

Mistura Acidi Hydrochlorici Infantilis.

Dilute Hydrochloric Acid $1\frac{1}{2}$ minims (.09); Spirits of Chloroform $1\frac{1}{2}$ minims (.09); Tincture of Orange Peel 5 minims (.30); Water to 1 fluid drachm (3.75).

Mistura Aromatica Infantilis.

Carbonate of Magnesium 1 grain (.065); Aromatic Chalk Powder 5 grains (.32); Tincture of Rhu barb 5 minims (.30); Glycerine 5 minims (.40); Peppermint Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Carminativa.

Bicarbonate of Sodium $1\frac{1}{2}$ grain (.09); Aromatic Spirits of Ammonia $1\frac{1}{2}$ minims (.09); Glycerine 5 minims (.40); Peppermint Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Ferri Citratis Infantilis.

Ammonio-Citrate of Iron 1 grain (.065); Glycerine 5 minims (.40); Tincture of Orange Peel 5 minims (.30); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Ferri Pernitratis Infantilis.

Solution of the Pernitrate of Iron 1 minim (.06);
Dilute Nitric Acid ½ minim (.03); Tincture of Nux Vomica ½ minim (.03); Spirits of Chloroform 1½ minims (.09); Glycerine 4 minims (.30);
Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Ferri Perchloridi Infantilis.

Tincture of the Perchloride of Iron 3 minims (.18); Glycerine 5 minims (.40); Spirits of Chloroform 1½ minims (.09); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Hæmatoxyli Infantilis.

Dilute Sulphuric Acid 1 minim (.06); Tincture of Mistura (

Casto

Mistura I

Citra

Pulvis H

Merc

matic Spirits ne 5 minims n (3.75).

Glycerine 5 el 5 minims

inim (.06); Fincture of of Chloroinims (.30);

iims (.18); Chloroform 3.75).

Cincture of Catechu 5 minims (.30); Compound Tincture of Camphor 5 minims (.30); Syrup of Ginger 5 minims (.40); Decoction of Logwood to 1 drachm (3.75).

Mistura Olei Ricini.

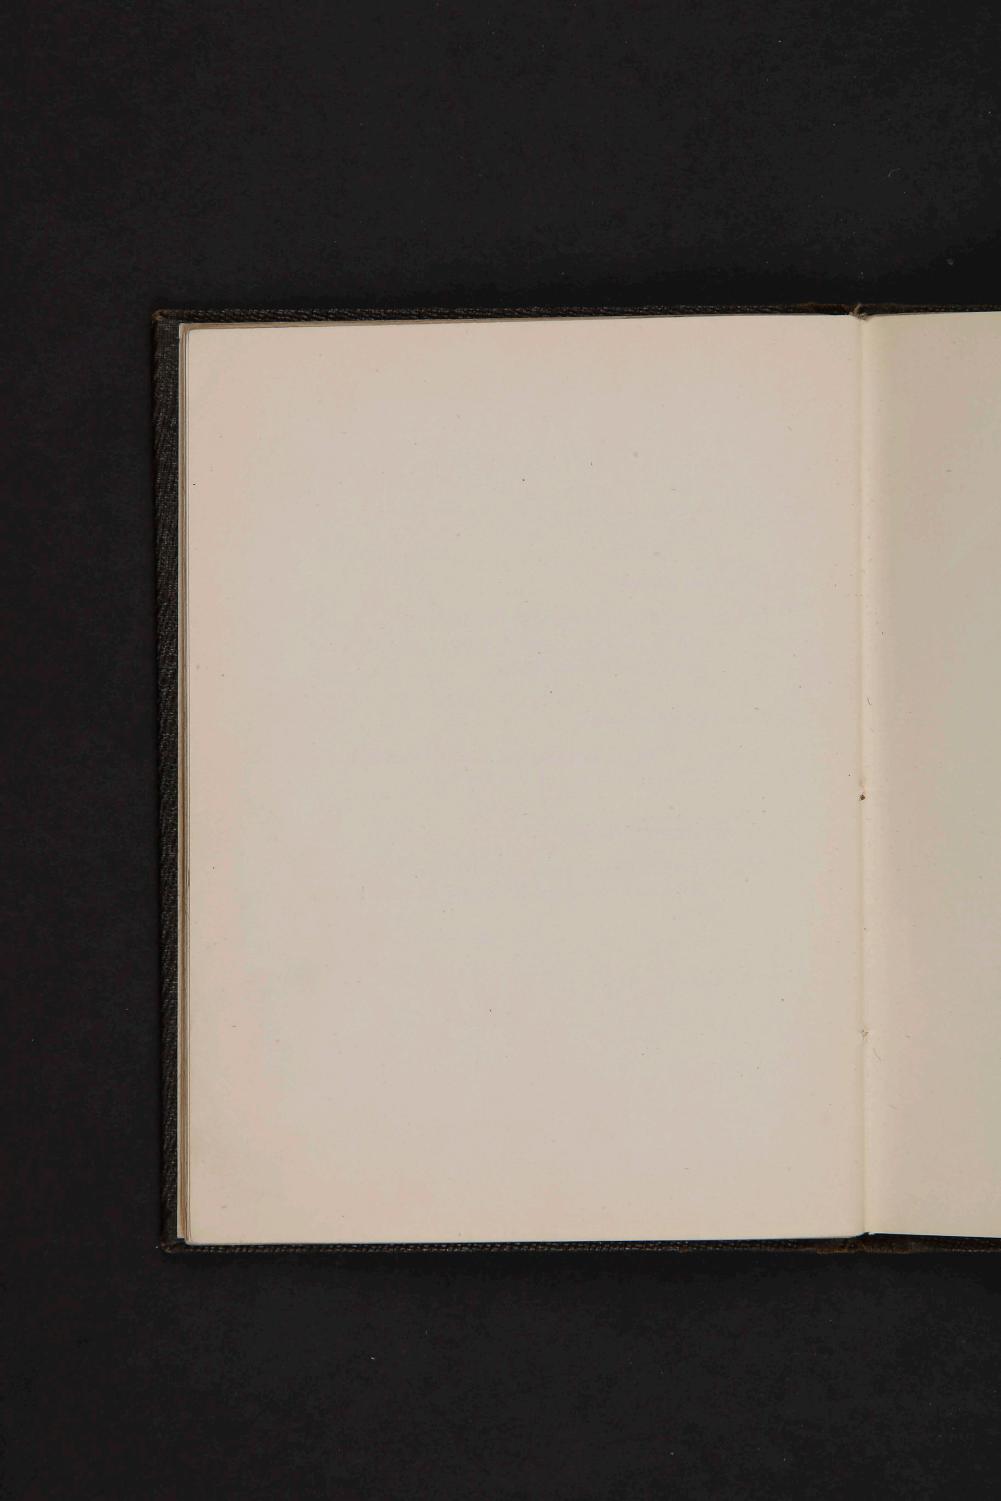

Castor Oil 5 minims (.40); Powdered Gum Acacia and White Sugar of each 5 grains (.32); Caraway Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

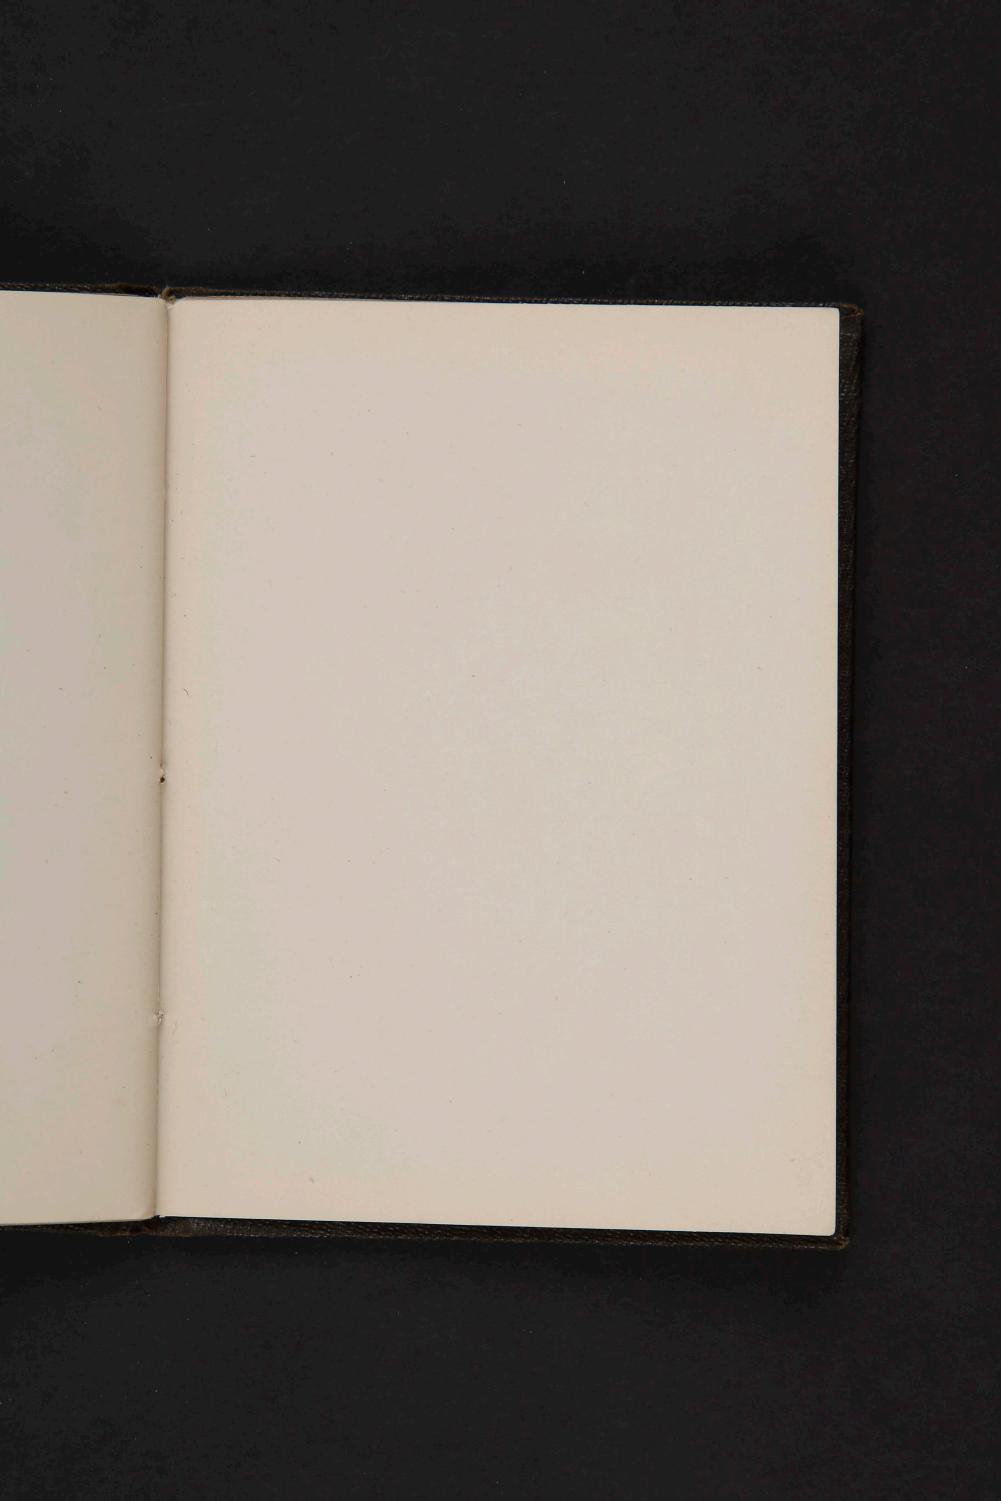

Mistura Potassii Citratis.

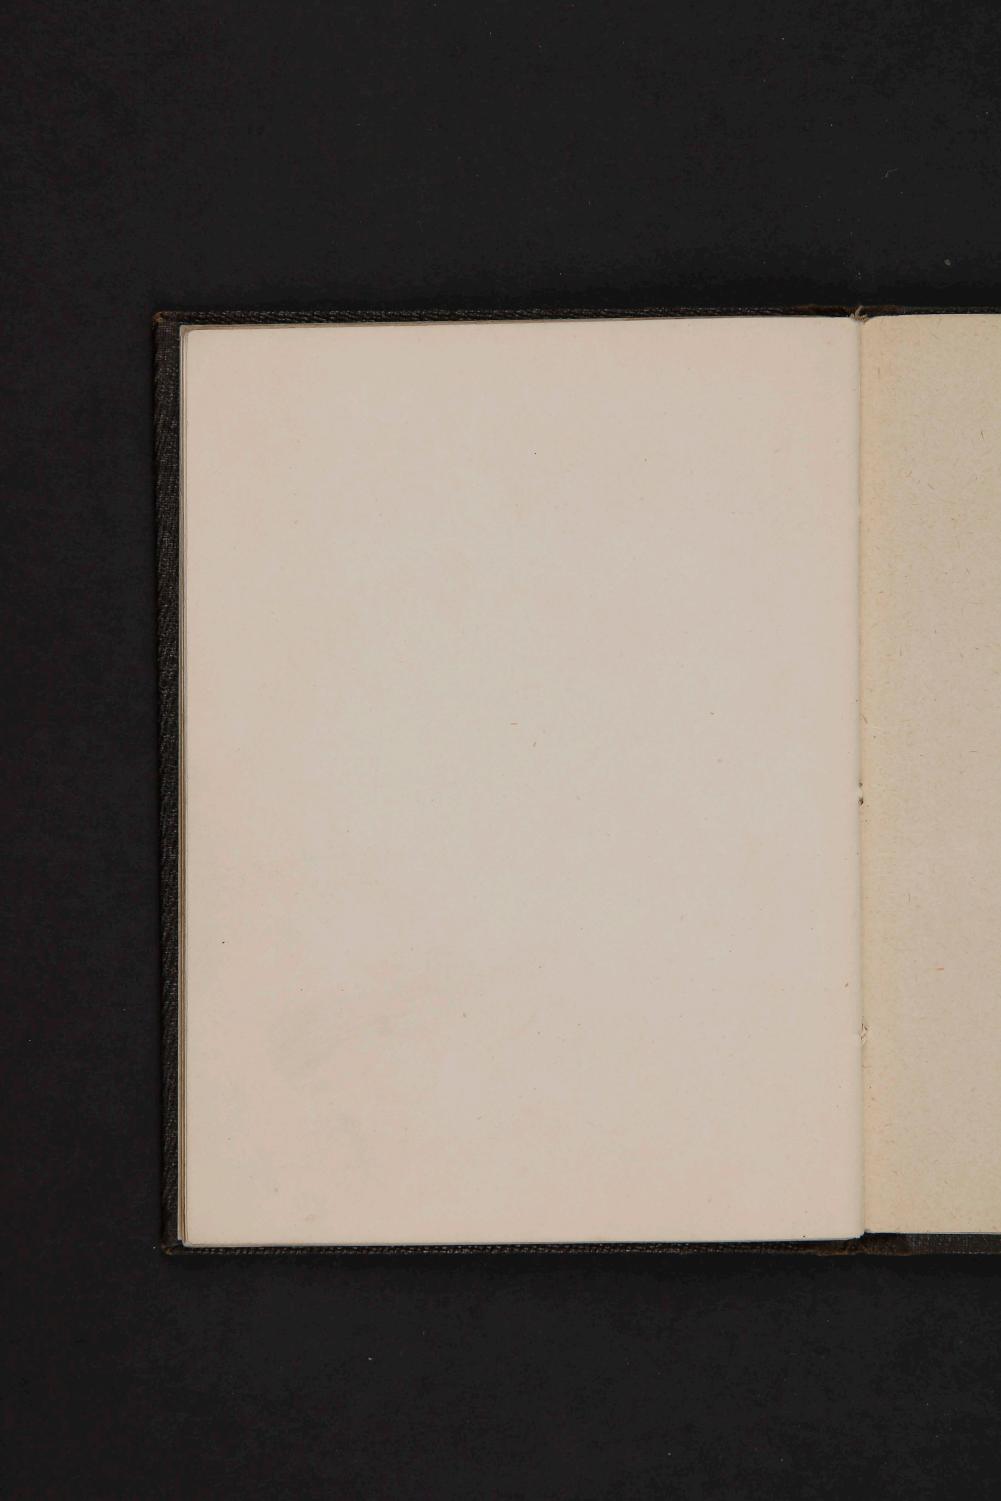

Citrate of Potassium $2\frac{1}{2}$ grains (.15); Glycerine 5 minims (.40); Water to 1 drachm (3.75).

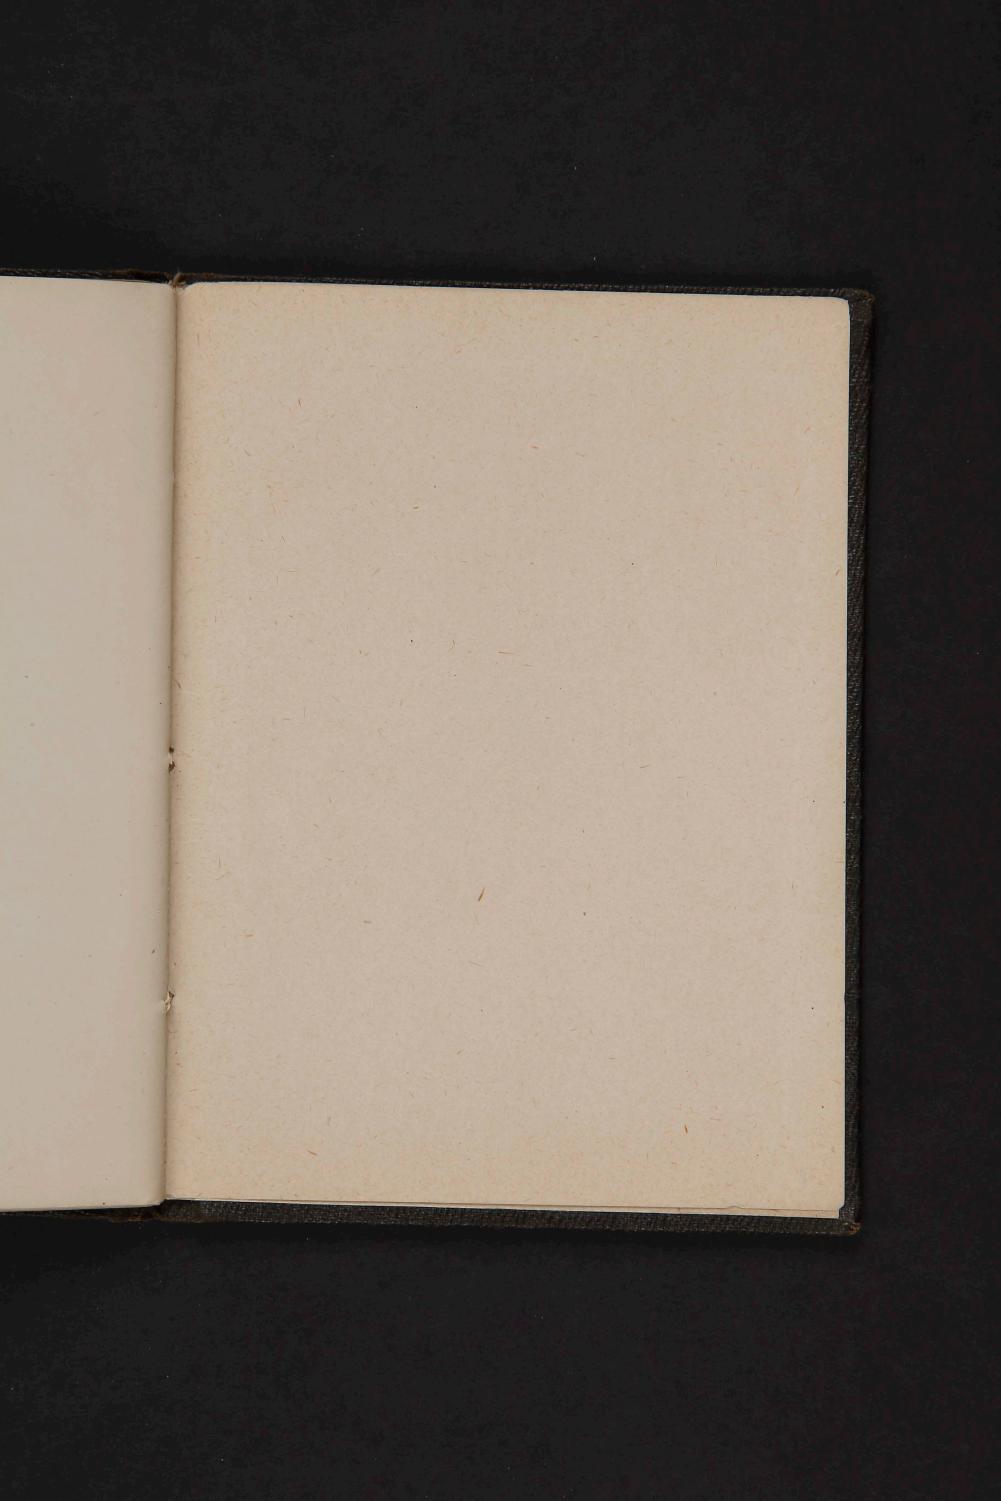

Pulvis Hydrargyri et Rhei.

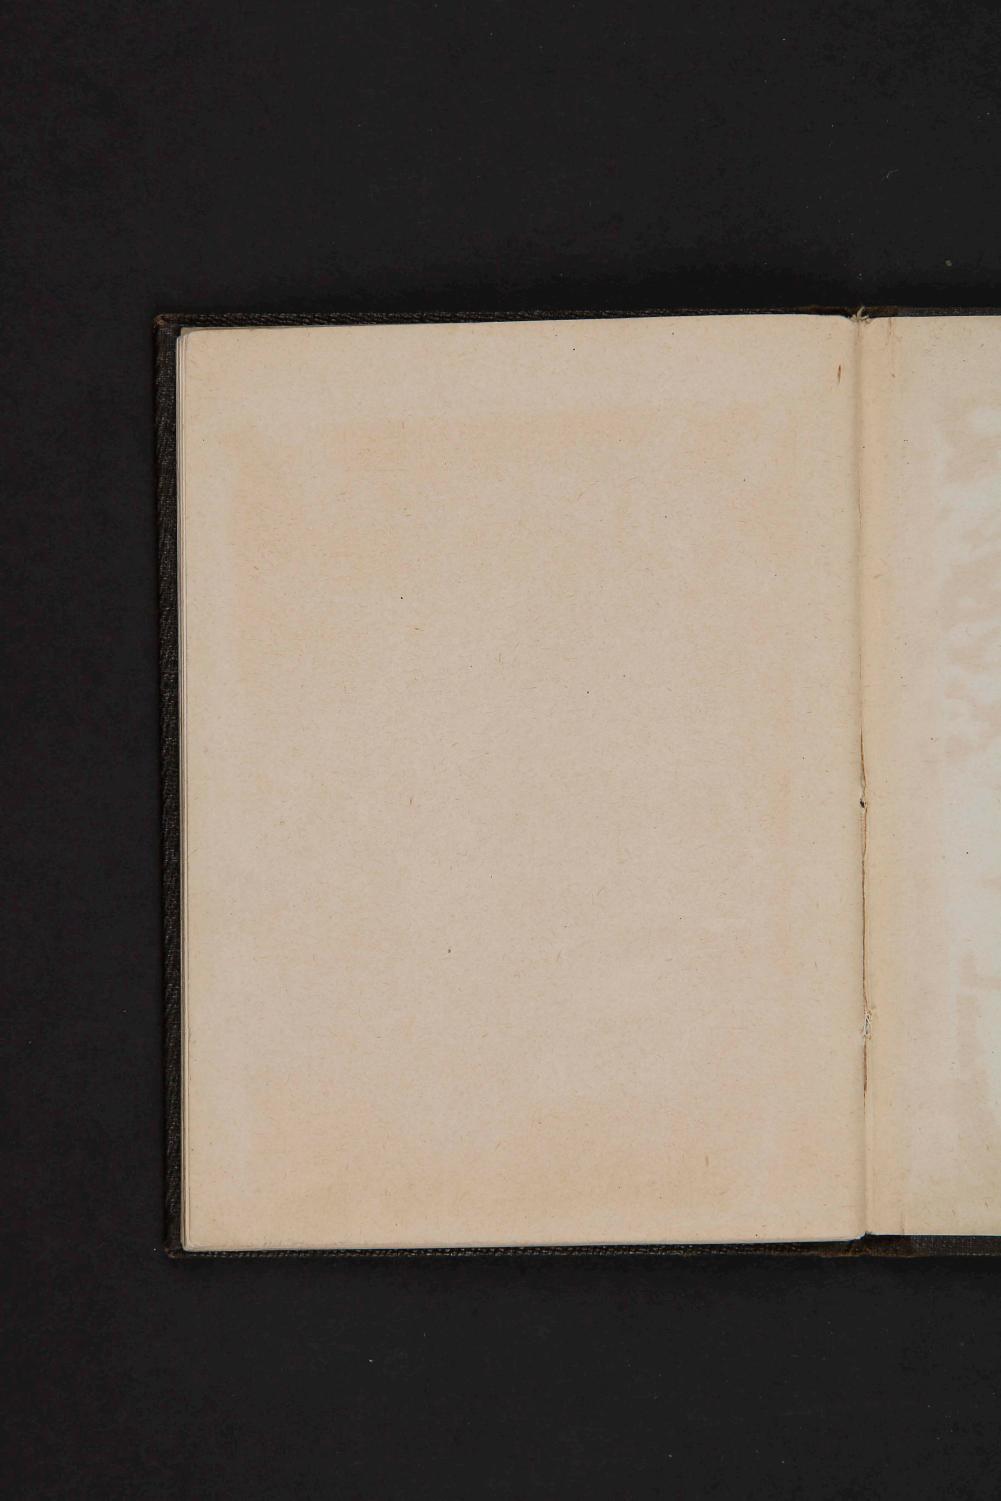

Mercury with Chalk ½ grain (.03); Bicarbonate of Sodium and Powdered Rhubarb, of each 1 grain (.065).

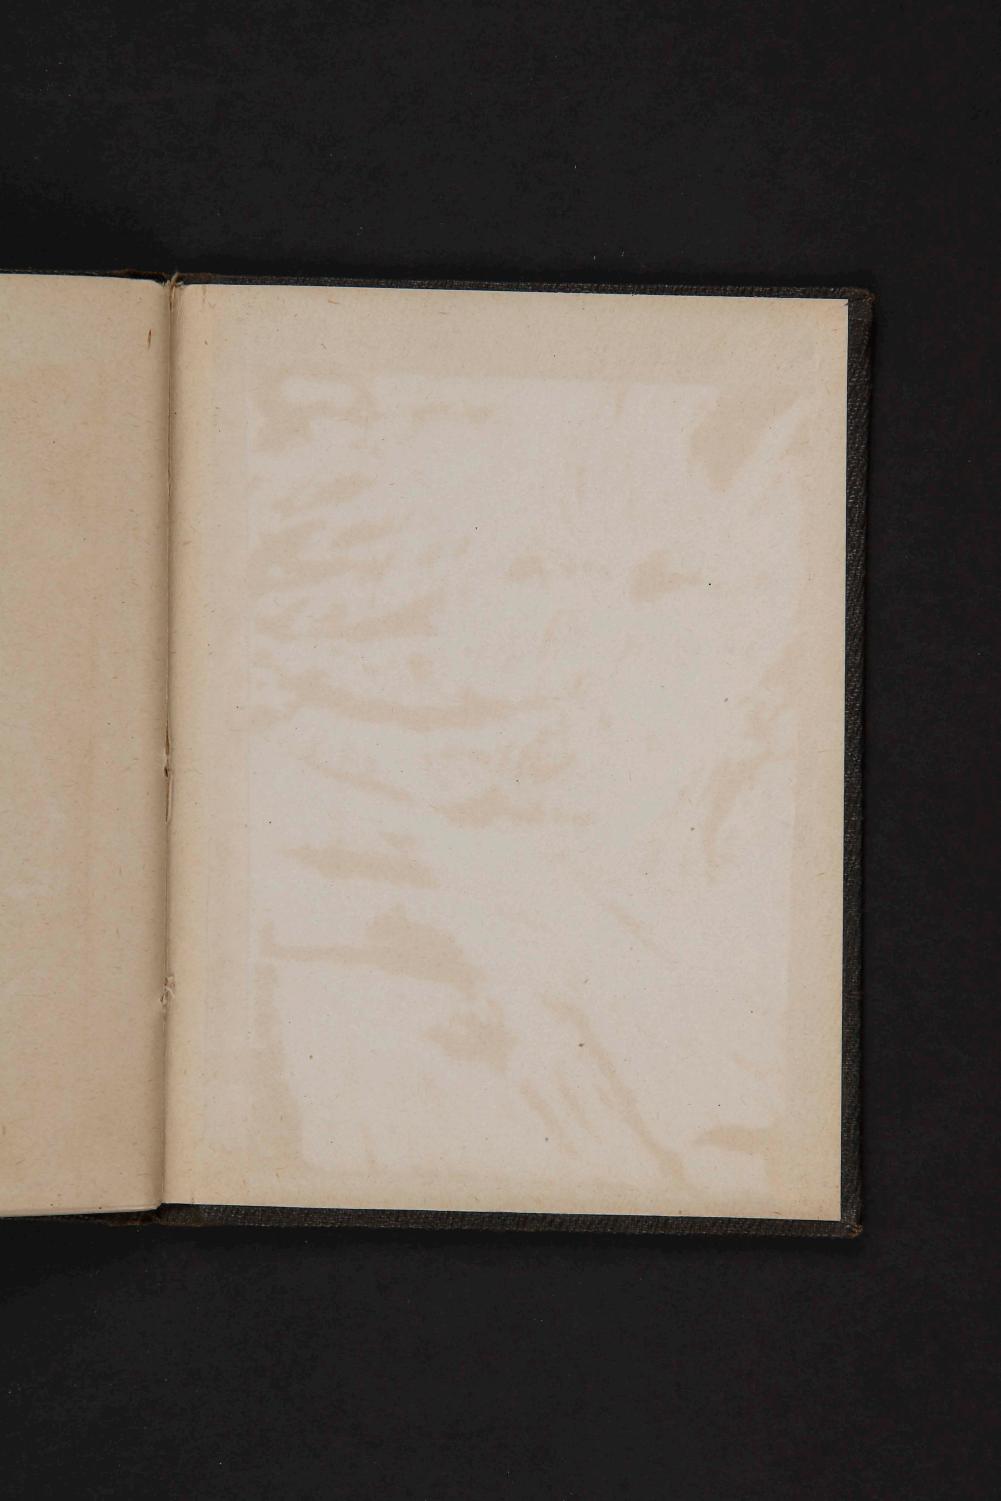

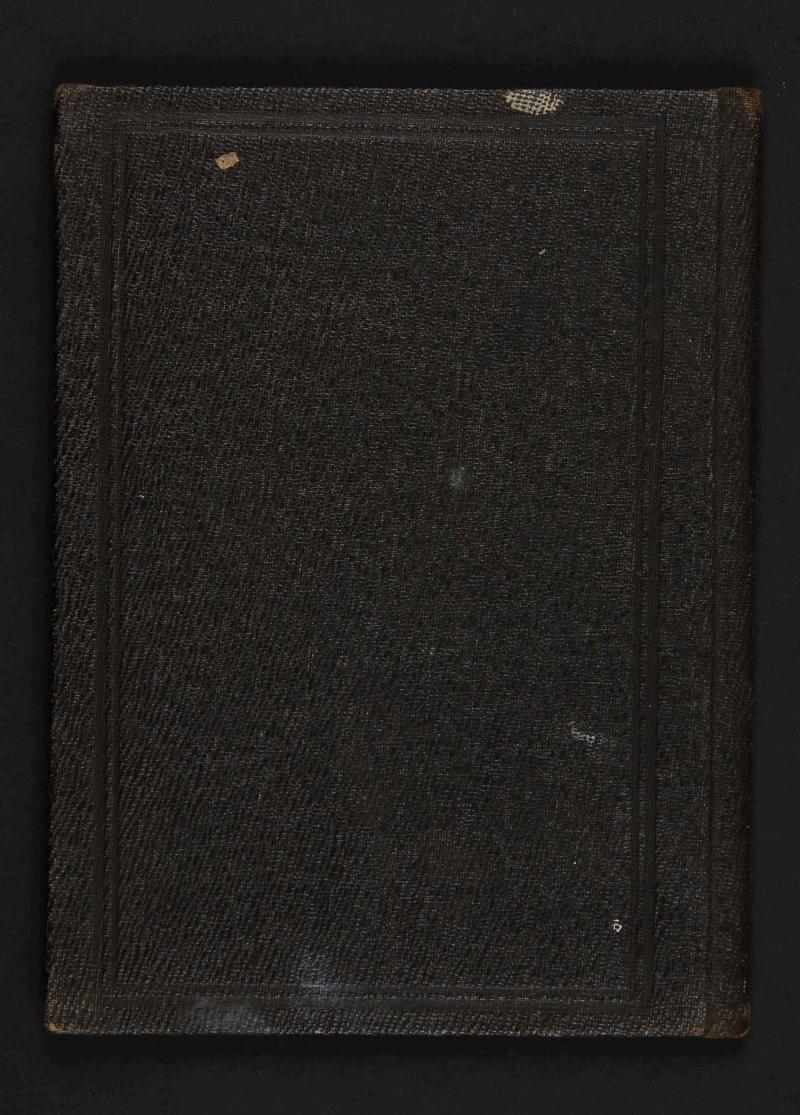

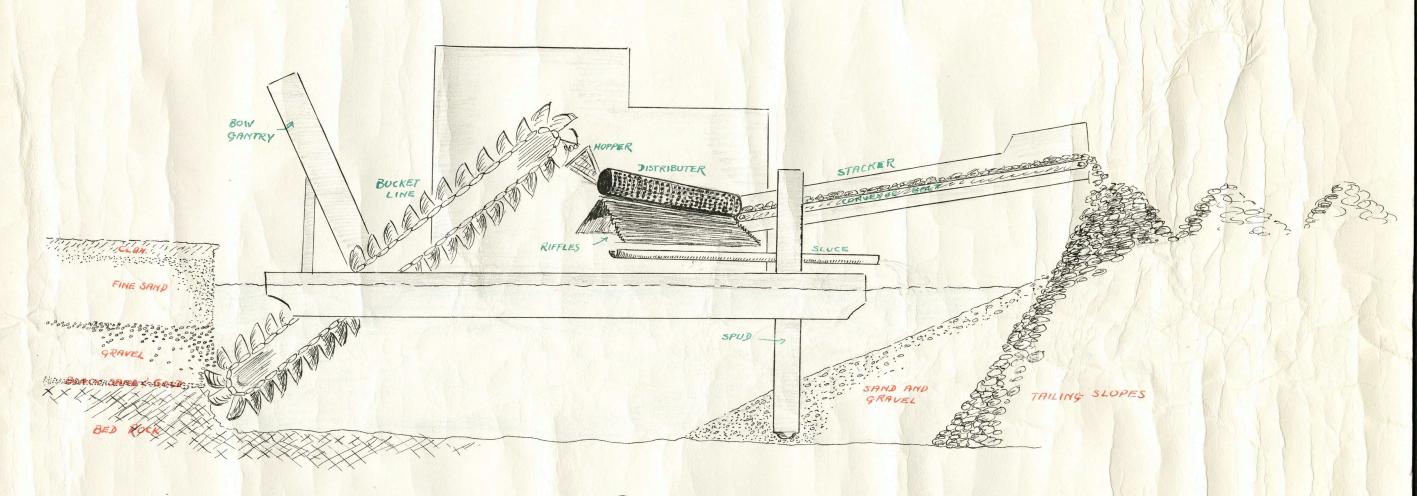

cipled

General Montcalm was born in France in 1712. He took command of the forces in Canada in 1756, and defeated the British in several engagements. In 1759, however, he was defeated and mortally wounded at the battle with Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham. He was a brave, heroic man.

from a Regulare of the original pointing in the Marquise De Montealm Paris copied Horn coll.

App M 548/29 App M552/29 Merteling to Hacklin Glabace -Mereteer I Suspice Heel- wear It back) Feel - Theate 1. 1804-6. College Steel The Mausine House 1 Seb. 1818. Note Danne Skeet Efficie Redect Ballocks Theed-Jac 1821 The her Machel - Theater - Joegers Carrier Square Freek 1822 Jefte - 1824. The Royal Ecicus Eleig Steel to lear plesent dite Heel- Theater Keyal Like Brusieners Markel-Jeth-Regal bly lupic Theater "Therethe" Dest Side of Jocques backer Square. Were hoter Dacen St. 1125. Sweeth Fight I ken Theater Reyal, Hay's Theater - Mar of Mago 11846-y- Block hoter Dame of Dallenesse Squale, Backed cirk ken Sheater Regal Forte Steel-There was a dieletary Theorie her in 1835. in the Acheleny Bouschs Goed Mons / Heraudee Las here in 1841 Gereine Shelden in 1846. Staluese Stein 184 -Garach Bleet in 1849. Jufued St 1870. Do Jeenen Theater. Heventh Madeeny Music 1875. Der Majelly's Theater. 1898. Il flace Bopherto - The heart Hevel heaken

Meaties Muchael

THE GOLD DREDGE

899. DUVAR (JOHN HUNTER-Canadian Poet). Autograph sketch of his life, 3 pp.; two A. L.'s S., 1895; autograph extract from his Canadian drama "Roberval," A. N. S., stating that his books are out of print; autograph extract (3 pp.), from his "John a' Var gentilhomme et Trobadour, his Lais": and a printed galley-proof and newspaper extracts of his poems. With autographed photograph.

CANADIAN ANTHEM.

(Copyright).

'Our own land is the fairest land,'
And ours is one awakes a glow
Of pride to watch its powers expand
And note how firm the fibres grow
From out the bush to frame a State
That has the daring to be great.

We need the axe's toil no more,
For countless leagues of ripened grain,
With cities dotted, fringe our shore,
And freedom and contentment reign,
While home-built trading squadrons swim
With ladings to earth's utmost rim.

As was said in the days of old
All women virtuous and fair
And all men debonair and bold,
With freedom for their native air.
Be ours to hand this loved land down
'Neath British laws and Britain's Crown.

Stand fast, Saxons! stand fast, Franks!

Have but one sole heart and brain in your serried ranks.

(On the demise of the Crown* add two lines)

And through our welkin fervent ring
The loyal prayer God Save the King!

^{*}An inevitable event in future history. Reference to it does not in the slightest indicate a desire to precipitate it, but merely gives assurance of Canada's loyalty to the succession.

THE MOIRA ENCANTADA.

[A belief of Spain. The wells of lonely Moorish ruins are haunted by the figure of a beautiful female, the Moira Encantada, or enchanted Mooress. Acquaintance with her brings misfortune and death.]

cquantance with her brings misfortune and death The Spanish night was breathless, still, And in the shadow of the mill No olive bent nor willow shook Along the sullen meadow brook, Nor any murmur met the ear Save the rill tumbling o'er the weir, When José his lorn loveplaint made And softly sang this

SERENADE.

There lacks not music. Everywhere The resting hills, the balmy air, The æther blue, the stars, the moon, In tune Make silent melody, and sing In chord with my love-zittern string.

Maraquita!

She answers not be the closed ages.

She answers not; her closed eyes
Make dark as when the daylight dies,
Why should her young life sleep so soon?
O boon
O'er her soft dreams love-watch to keep,—
Rest dear tired eyes in sweetest sleep,
Maraquita!

Be still, guitar. Caressing string
To her ear not to-night shall ring,
Enough for now the mill weir's croon.
Ere noon
Of night I shall be over streams,—
Good angels give thee loving dreams,
Maraquita !

A small hand drew the bars apart
And from the lattice shy was flung
A white rose with a crimson heart,
While red lips lisped in love's fond tongue
"Querido mi, I love thee?"
And answered low the voice that sung,
"Love's blessing be above thee!"

Young José took the homeward track
The while his heart with love-flame burned,
Ever and anon looking back,
Until he had an angle turned
That hid the water-dripping mill
With its low olive-circled grange,
Then set he stout to breast the hill
And make way to the higher range.

And make way to the higher range. The higher up the more did change
The scene from meadows, lying lush,
To Moorland with its shades of browns,
Through which at intervals came rush of brook and runnel brawling down;
Yet higher, where lay mossy hags
Dotted with huge grey lichened stones
Down tumbled from the beetling crags
That stood out like an old world's bones,
Until he reached the trodden line.
That ran along the ridge's spine.

As he strode up the road's incline

As he strode up the road's incline
He heard in gusts come rough but clear
The home

Song of the Muleteer.

Ictch! trusty mulos! plod along the way,
Gee on! brindles! for mountain leagues are long,
Fair have ye footed, all the weary day,
Chime bells, mulos! and I will join my song,
For Paquita the goodwife
Sits up in the hut,
Little one's all in their cribs
With their tired eyes shut.

Not far, borricos! scarcely now a league,
Miles near the stable hardest are to draw,
Soon shall we cast our load and our fatigue
And you and I shall have our crisp rye straw,—
And Paquita the goodwife
Will bustle in the hut,
Little ones all in their cribs
And their dear eyes shut.

And their dear eyes shut.

As o'er the selfsame landscape scene
The season's changing features pass
From springtime with its springing green
To summer with its wealth of grass,
And thence through autumn's ripened hues
Of nutty browns, till o'er the world
And vale and hill and running flues
Comes winter with its crystalled cold,
Yet still the visage is unchanged
Though over it have changes reigned;
So o'er this sunny land of Spain

Though over it have changes reigned;
So o'er this sunny land of Spain,
This languorous home of pride and sloth,
Are left faint traces of each reign
From the Iberi to the Goth,
And from the Goth, through divers creeds
And grades of glory, f ree and law,
Shining, ignoble, noble deeds
Did Christian and did Moslemah;
Hence faded faiths and present hopes
Are traced on these same mountain slopes.

Are traced on these same mountain slopes.

It may be that in times of old
When Yousuf in Cordova reigned,
The gallant gay Morescoes bold
Their prancing Arab steeds restrained
Beneath wide spreading cork-oak aisles,
And bent their feathered turbans low
As through the forest's dim defiles
They lowered lance to 'scape some bough
That rained on them a rain of seeds,
As to the muster spurred they in
When war drum summoned men and steeds
With its long thunderous rolling din;
Or to the tournament of reeds
Rode gaily when the war was o'er;
Or went to beard the good wild boar.

But now no wealth of stalwart trees
Clothes with a shade the brown hillside,
Nor does the Andalusian breeze
From out the westward sweeping wide
Strike a low-sounding harp of leaves,
To ring a woodland melody
High up among the leafy eaves,
To chime with lay of chivalry
Sung of Zegri, or carolled clear
How at the bullfight Don Gazul,
The aleaydé, with dart and spear
Won Xarifa the beautiful,
Gone are the woods that heard and saw
This on the march of Cordova.

There stood now but a Moorish hold

Gone are the woods that neard and saw
This on the march of Cordova.

There stood now but a Moorish hold,
Built of a ruddy, tinted stone,
In ruin, yet still haught and bold,
Though o'er its face the bronze had grown
And look of long old age; its line
Of outer wall (which best endures
The gnaw of time and tooth and tyne,)
Was caten into embrazures,
Through which was seen a horseshoe arch
Reared high, as it would bid and dare
Defiance to the ages' march.
At angle of the courtyard square
Was set a carven fountain shell
From out which came the water's play
And in a spray of stars down fell,
And falling, chimed a tinkling tune
Within a tiny lake that lay
As mirror to the demi-moon.
Here José stopped in startled awe,

As mirror to the demi-moon.

Here José stopped in startled awe,
For, leaning on the carven rim
Of the low balustrade, he saw,
Half hidden in the shadows dim,
A female form in Moorish guise
With pale brown face that looked at him
From out a pair of lustrous eyes
Lambent and large with languorous light,
Yet with exceeding earnestness,
As if they something would express
And speak to him if speak they might,
He knew the MODEA of the rale

He knew the Morra, of the tale
That grandams in awed accents tell,
Who lures men by their strong desires
And draws them to the enchanted well
And offers treasure trove, but still
Her gifts oft turn to bale and ill;
Yet as he saw her keeping vise
Beside the fount she leaned above,
Flushed through his heart, hysteric-wise,
One fierce warm rush of sudden love.

One herce warm rush of sudden love.

Love is a torrent,—rising swift
And foaming up tumultuously,
Bearing resolve like thistle down
And sweeping caution to the sea;
Love is a fire,—a flaming wing
That scurries in its mad career,
And scorches up all living thing
And leaves the subheart parched and sere;
Thus José, by his mad weird pressed,
His incoherent love expressed:

(Reautify being Life thou art

His incoherent love expressed:

"Beautiful being! if thou art
A spirit or a thing of form,
Thy loveliness wakes in the heart
Of him who sees thee, gust and storm
Of wild impassioned love. Be thou
My leman, Moira! 'Neath thy feet,
Even on the spot thou standest now,
Lie mines of buried Moorish gold,
Give me the treasures, I entreat,
That were hid in the days of old,
And if thou seek'st to draw to thee
A mortal lover, I am he!"
There came distinctly to his ear.

A motan lovel, I am he ar,
As vibrant as a lute well strung,
Responding words, low-pitched and clear
In the soft lingua franca tongue:
"At the third quarter of the moon
Return and ask, and have thy boon."

Return and ask, and have thy boon."
The crescent moon grew full and round And made a daylight of the night, Throwing in hollows of the ground Long inky shadows on the white, And then she waned for evenings seven, Each night more thin and wan, and reigned A lessening planet in the heaven,—
But all this time for good or ill,
No love note sounded near the mill.

After a fervent day of sun
The air cooled with the twilight's rise,
And vapours rose when day was done
Up from the hot earth furtivewise
And with thin veil the landscape hid,
In such a night might fancy call
Up filing ghosts as sorceress did
In Endor old the ghost of Saul.

No lights shone through the evening damp Save from the hill a tiny billow Ot smoky ray shed from the lamp Of Padre, Cura, Fray Pedrillo, A rotund rosy man was he And of peculiar sanctity.

The fray a romancero read
As, seated in his chair of cane,
He pecked a little biscuit bread
And sipped a little wine of Spain,
Until 'twixt half-awake and napping
He seemed to hear a timid tapping.

"Who knocks so late? Go on your way Whoe'er you be, nor seek my cell, This is the hour in which I pray, And there's a hospice down the dell Wherein they do both bake and brew, Go there, my son, your rose beads tell And take my blessing 'long o' you."

A small hand raised the latchet pin And Maraquita entered in.

And Maraquita entered in.

"O holy fray! here on my knees
I come to tell a dreadful thing!
My José promised, if you please,
From Cord-va to bring the ring
And make of me his bonny bride
And wed me at midsummertide,
But now indeed for many an eve
I have not seen him,—and I grieve.
An herbero hath told to me
The Moira of the Haunted Well
Hath ta'en from me my good José
And holds him in unholy spell;
O father! father! loose the chain
And give my sweetheart back again."
The worthy father scratched the ring

And give my sweetheart back again."

The worthy father scratched the ring
Of grey hair round his polished crown,
"Daughter, this is a fearsome thing,
Would make a Christian angel frown,
And needs the candle, book and bell,
Yet keep thy trust and faith in view,
For Holy Church can baffle spell
Of José and of Moira too,
Though, my sweet lambkin, be thou sure
"Tis hard to exorcise a Moor.
Thou, therefore, go, thy griefs express
Unto Our Lady of Bitterness,
And I will try if chaunts can quell
This pestilent wanton of the well."
Upon a round-topped sodded mound

This pestilent wanton of the well."

Upon a round-topped sodded mound
That stood out from the hillside's steep
Which formed a dusky brown background,
In solemn loneliness and deep
Heroic size a Calvary stood.
August and dread the Holy One
Hung ghastly on the accursed tree,
As saying deathly: "It is done,
Father, am I forsook by thee?"
Around I forsook by thee?"
Around his brow the spiney crown,
The death-sweat streaming to his knee,
And ichor blood gouts dropping down
Betrayed his last dread agony,—
While at the black foot of the cross
There wept the Mother Dolorous,
Young Maraquita, crushed and prone,

While at the black foot of the cross
There wept the Mother Dolorous.
Young Maraquita, crushed and prone,
With tear founts streaming from her eyes,
Knelt on the sacred mount alone
And prayed in accents full of sighs:
Madre dolorosa, hear me!
Thou thyself hast anguish known,
Be thy holy influence near me,
May thy pity easy my moan;
By thine own heart-rending pangs
By seven dolors of thy Son!
Rescue from the witch's fangs
My own dear lover
Here sudden ceased her words, for she Fell fainting by the calvary.
The mist cleared, and night's pulse stood still Above each sleeping vale and hill,
With the concave all darkly blue
And dotted with the glance of stars,
Like eyes of angels peeping through
The chinks of heaven's lattice bars,
Till o'er the hills a space waxed clear
As if the dark were growing thin,
Until it seemed a silvery mere
That white cloud curls were sailing in,
A sheen of pearl,—and then, effsoon!
A common miracle was wrought,
For up shot the last-quarter moon
And floated upwards like a boat.
While Maraquita wildly prayed
Before the hill Gethsemane.

While Maraquita wildly prayed
Before the hill Gethsemane,
Her José the Mooress essayed
And made his prayer distractedly:
"O beauteous Moira! keep thy vow,
I come to claim the promise now."

The Moira with her deep dark eyes,
O'er which the long black lashes clung,
Looked with a pitying surprise
And murmured in her broken tongue:
"O living man! the dead are cold
In person, and to have and hold,
But take my hand and kiss my mouth."

He, with hot clasp, a fervid storm
Of kisses rained, as rain on drouth,
And took within its amorous grips
No shadow but a woman's form;
Yet no response nor answering breath
Like ballmy air from sunny south
Came, but the icy cold of death
Were on her mouth and finger tips.
He died as a tired infant dies,
While she looked on with soft sad eyes.
The Moorish min solemn stands.

While she looked on with soft sad eyes.

The Moorish ruin solemn stands
In its old guise of browns and greys
Upon the slope of the Moor lands,
In light and shade of moon's-change rays,
While Maraquita, cloistered nun,
Still prays, each setting of the sun,
For the lost soul of her José;
And Spanish maids, when spinning done
And gossip comes with close of day,
Tell at the firesides in Granada
Of the dread Moira Encantada.

Hernewood, P.E.I.

HUNTER DUVAR.

I I regret that (excepting haperscovered copy of Enamorado, sent by Book host today) I have only are copy each of my books. Little can be made of the enclosed scraps, - which are not selected but happen to be among my papers. None of them show anything of a gay wein with which I am charged, in which although polished arrows are shot in plenty have of them. are barbed with coarseness or makine. Ochaps a salaction may be made from these. (M. D.) These need not be estamed. from Enamorado: fair examples of text may be found an hage 38,39) and hage 67 - harked. and hage 70 ct al.

DOMINION DAY, 1874.

NATIONAL AIR OF CANADA.

STAND up! ye men of Canada!

Hold up your heads, elate,
As members of a nation,
As people of a State:
A State, upon whose utmost shores
Earth's two great oceans roll,
Whose fence-line is the mighty lakes,
And northmost bounds, the Pole.

A nation with a history;
For on the rolls of fame
Is writ, in French and English blood,
The proud Canadian name.
No stain is on her spotless shield,
No blot upon her brow;
And we, as stainless as the past
Will keep her record now.

From no ignoble origin
Our Canada has sprung,
But hath wrought out her birthright well
By sword and pen and tongue:
The past is past; the future comes
With wider, nobler aims,
And future pen on history's scroll
Will write Canadian names.

With her old mother England
She side by side will stand;
With England proud to lean upon
The leal Canadian land;
Home thoughts, home habits,—these within
Her policy expressed,
Will make her, in this age, or next,
The Britain of the West.

Upon Canadian waters
Shall float Canadian fleets,
And in Canadian woods shall grow
Productive labor's seats.
Full-grown, all armed for peace, or war,
She is, or soon will be;
And then 'twill be; gare à qui touche
Our stronghold of the free.

As did, of old, Horatius,
Her sons will hold the gate,
As members of a Nation,
As people of a State;
And, please The God, through present calm
And distant storm that lowers,
They'll keep, quite safe for evermore,
This Canada of Ours.
HUNTER DUYAR,

34 Pastoral Song. [From St. John Globe.] Beneath this mellow autumn sun Come sit we down and take no heed Of how conflicting parties run, But tune the Doric reed. Beneath these bending fruiting boughs Care not what coils the peoples keep, But watch the milk white milking cows And tend the silly sheep. We see no fal-lals, cups and grails, No bracelets, ouches, gauds or rings, But here we see the brooks and dales With other pretty things. The little birds from nests that fledge All in the gusty springtide days, Do sit upon the hedge's edge And sing their virelays. All in the shade, where small gnats lurk, The glinting butterflies do swim. And busybody bees at work Intone an autumn hymn. Vain world go by! let trouble pass! [crooks, We shepherds wreath with flowers our And lay us down along the grass
Beside the gadding brooks. Upon our chestnut tresses bind No circlets we for ladies meet, But lilies with blush-roses twined, . And thyme and meadow-sweet. And Nan doth dance and Jan doth play, Merry go-round doth swiftly spin, And ne'er do we on ever a day Let carking trouble in. When sunset falls, and all the deep Dark blue is flecked with crimson bars, We say our prayers, then soundly sleep Beneath the winking stars. When sunrise springing brings the day, And all the dawn is dashed with gold, Again we take our woodland way, Again our sheep unfold. Again we seek the mountain side— Whence dreamy we can see the sea-Again our patient flocks we guide, Again are happy we! The shepherds wont to pipe with Pan, Though now, alas! the fauns are mute.
Yet sing we loves of Nan and Jan, And blow the woodland flute. HUNTER DUVAR. Hernewood.

BY THE SEA.

THE stars looked down on an angry sea, The grev clouds scudded across the moon, And the roar of the surf came sullenly Like the bass to some monotonous tune. At the landing stage behind the pier Dirk Deadeve's fishing boat lapped and rocked,— When a sea-ghost rose up, weedy and blear, And came to the door and knocked,

Three solemn knocks on the lintel-post, And then in voice, with an eldritch screech And sobbing tone, spoke the sad sea-ghost: "The wreck to-night drifts in on the beach,-Sailors are drowning,—and never a sail Will reach the harbour, -- nor hull nor spar"; --Then the voice drew out to an eerie wail That died away on the bar.

earmans

"Wak'st, good wife? Mist!" fisher Dirk did say, "Did'st hear some water-thing come and knock To warn that Willie is cast away? And,—I'll take my 'davy,—on Purcell's rock; Thou better had'st say a prayer or two If 'twas aught but my fears begat it, But if 'twas some rascal of Jolkin's crew, I'd like to catch him at it!"

All that night on the sands of the bay, Castaway, drowned, on a drifting boom That rolled and tumbled as if in play In the wash of churning froth and spume, And tangled all in the salt sea-ware That back and forth in the breakers ran, There floated the boy with the curly hair That sailed in the Mary Ann. HUNTER DUVAR.

The first the second of the se from Sa John N. B. "Pro Whether upon the earth I cannot tell.
Or in a higher or a lower sphere,
A horror of great darkness there befull,
But where, no mortal man can guess anear
Nor place be found by any ghostly seer,
Itmay be in the coss long agone
Light might have been, but daylight now was As mer mane teen and cottend her her like a goord-Her countenance has all the heauty rare. That markful to noble of Ezrptian race, The bread, low brow, the check beyond compare, Titude, but where to writhle you could trace, Straight nose, and in the configur of her face first pare, black, slanding eyes with inture glowed, And the old blood of Memnon-momarche aboved. Light migachiave been put daying now was bot Or it may well have been wildin some world Where darkness never yet has ceased to reign Nor the wing brooding o'er the deep been furled To loose the lashping samilght all analir! Or in some star to choos given again; Or or do where disembolled spirit d well;— And that there be such many sagas tell. Action to the united of Attended lips firm and full.

A small, red mouth, with arched lips firm and full.

That lightly tonched in form of archer's bow,

Wearing a smile so sweet and beautiful.

No man could look on bor but feel a glow,

Had he in life but seen her even so,

and there she waited, the one beautious thing

Of all the shapes of that appalling ring. Or at the shapes of this appalling engr.
THE WATENSAME APOPULS, THE ACCUSES, SEEANS ("FORO), Clooping, born of Pharply like, Weare of Egypt's double diadem,
The monarch's efficie to be a sign Unto the subjects, and to culture the
In pregnant angles the lag and then
To watch and we not allow them, and to how
To the immurated Gods—what answerest thou?" Therefore beneath this borrer of the dark Were shrouded mysteries, close-folded age. Within an orb of which the outer are Bounded by page and you whereof no ray Could penetrate the units wherein there lay The Court of Souls, the dread of Mulchary Or great Osiris, Lord of Heaven! O'er that dread judgment place there hung a pall, Opaque, tenebrous, sullen, dire and deuser, Egyptian darkness seeming like a wall Of velvet black through which no cyball's bris Could look and live, but blackness more intense Than depths of subterranean carerra bear, So untransparent was the motionless air. So unitariparent was the motivations after A point of light oped in the solid dark, A vivid pendi of bright blood-red bue, Which slow and sheat from the central spark In wast concentric rings expanding grew And through the orb a sanguine self-light threw More awful than o'er sung by poet's yre, A circular background of red, rayless fire, an the structure arms of the Camopani tay,

"Were all a part of me—than disdem

"Hored them—and (although I could not know)

Did think benificede that given us them,
Nor deem that by could work as any wor.

It may be 'true. I know not. Be it so,
I did not night myrelf. Did I create

There feelings that they should affect my fate?" A circular oscagouate of this red and glowing sphere
A thin and shifting smoky mist appeared
Which, denser growing, cast a murky smart
Upon the red, and filekel about and neared
The central point, till in some manner weird
The mist had taken substance and had grown
Into the semblance of an chon throse. This giant throne was massive framed and railed with seeming linbs of gnaried withered trees. But which were writhing scrpers, sable scaled, That never ceased to intertriest and squeeze. One on the other. As caryattles. Seren living splannes did the throne upfear. And with their long ryes looked out from their lair. Soon other mists came shimmering out for red In soft, this vapors like the sware of wines Of wandering sprites that round the centre sped, And drawing near the centre of the rings Grew dense, till the unreal fickerings Formed into corporal figures, towering tall, And stood embodied, forty-two in all. Comparison of the Comparison o O'Through my had

"Through my had

The gods had worship. At the feasts of state
I oft was present, may and with my hand
Did pet the white boil Apis, no Cale
The wine likable where the godbeads str,
Nor failto place fresh flowers djon the idds of the kings' ombas are in the pramids, were uprigat resumant unterly momented hands.

Higher than these the Genil of the dead,

Headed as man, as jackal, havk and ape,

The four dread Masters who do cut the thread
And let the sprite forth dee from out the shape
And mortal coil that lies with mooth sepre).

These four were there to whomes what might be

The fate of the said souls they load end tree. Ane rate of the sauronus they lost rent free.
And with them dop-faced Armbis, the gwide
Who from the genils', liberating hands
Lecals forth the routs and saligh upon the the Until 18 sales') reach the shadowy strands',
Freel from the effect body's awalting bands,
Where timids for its definer, or clast,
It waits to cross the lints of the gate. "If that I shaidered at the sight of gove Of fawns and cooing dores and did recoil From blood of living innocent things, the more Did I bring to the aldra corn and oil, Fruks, flowers, analgroducts of the soil, Gun and frankincene and the root of trees My sea-ships brought from many lands and seas pleasant Right of the throne stood Horns, also known AHIAR the Child, fair-haired and double crowned with the through stoody with them there are holosomers. His sunny hair, by sunlight more embrowned, HI swam that his vengance was renowned Of his slain sire—has say Osirit hymns. Of me sain streets say of such plane.

First on the left the moon god Thoth there stood With ibis fare, and held the goden scale Wherein to weigh the evil and the good, And pen of record to record the tale. That measures out the benefity and bale, A crescent most lift phis cutting hair With rays like to an aureole of the air. Of mysic obelias and brows "navine."
"As woman I reveiled the Women Gods,
Athor the lady of the dance and glee,
Mistress of turquoises,—as say her odes,
Isis the mother veiled in mystery,
Full bosomed Magi, for genatrix is she,
These I alore the ly loving all things fair,
For adoration is in praise, not prayer." With rays like to an aurors of the air.

The others ronged alike on either band:

Shu the preventer, Nubt of the south, grim Bes
Abborrest pignay bated in the land,
Ra of the smilght whom the people bless,
Priapian Khem, Khons with the single trees,
Kheph with the scarabeurs, numay bound,
And Atum lord of On the lotus-crowned. And Atom for a colon to educationary.

Apophis the watermake who brings:
The accusation gainst the foul set free,
The nine Temara gods, masters of things,
Great Intails, besides the Abstract They who be
Of Years, Age, Life and of Eternity.
All these and more were ranged in line of state
And with an air expectant seemed to wait. The crowd of the spectator dead stayed still.

Nor did they, at demand and countermand,
Lay on the sool at hor ought charge of till.

Nor yet did tell good deeds doon in the land?

Nor advocate did take the cause in hand,

Bitt the accessed stood, no one by her side,

Calm, proud, imperiour, hanght and monare Thus all those larid forms personified
The qualities that judge the accused soul,
Each one to watch the faults the living hide
Of all the two and forty sins of older,
Each sin full written on a penal scroll—
O awful lesson this; that under sun
No soul can 'scape the deeds in body done. Then Thoth the writer took his tablet up Where he had writ the record cher and fair, And Anobis the weigher placed the cup Of good declar drow, in one scale to compare, And in the other hid the braxer square 'Giants which good mitigating acts are weighed, While auxious all looked as the balance played. Until, inscrutably, an august Shape,
That had not entered, grew upon the eye
As grows the outline of a giant cape
From out the sea mists, so was seen anigh
Amid these fearome courtiers standing by,
A Presence vast, majestic, magdan, loue,
The Great Osmus scated on his throne. A countenance so still, so passionless, No'er words could paint in deepest fancy's dreax Nor that brow's majesty could faint express, Nor tell the great long almond cyball's gleam Forcing, yet plifful; the men supreme, Tip beardless chin and grare mount's full, firm! Conjoined to make a contour all divine. FYTTE THE THIRD. As type of strength two horns—in shape new mo Thin ares for they, "filliminate and lowne," Ripen to cresects of mid-inoutist white mosting Around the mighty form flowed ample down (Throat-latched by Upper Egript's feathered ero An opalescent mantle to the feet— A regal vestiture, vague, wizard, meet. 3/ The judge Oriris spoke the direful doom:
"Daughter of balanced deeds, sor ill nor great,
Gay thing of whins, as frail as blossom bloom,
Too great at thou for hell, for heaven too late,
Too slight for purping fires, too delicate,
Due transmigration let thy soul enclasp
And for one cycle* be a lamian asp." And as this Presence sate upon the throne
There slid out of the dark till dimly seen
A ghastly company, stern as of stone,
No man could number nor say who had been,
Their day forms through their cerements showing Meantime the antic pageant's bloodred glare Deadened as metal taken from the fire, And in the places where the figures were Swam but faint films; soon eventhese expire And the tenebrous ring contracting digher FYTTE THE SECOND.

Slow came betwee the throne and the stern line
Of the demones and actessors grint,
A female form most deleasely his
Of perfect symmetry and grace of linb,
Who steed below the Judge, and looked at him
With a proof argal port that seemed to be
A challenge made to an equality. Long centralies have trailed since those accords
And Egypt's fate has veered for good and ill,
The Roman, Modern, French and British herders
Have made her vealures respect to their will,
But the and settoned Geogram and
Or by the Nile's banks bases 'mong the received.
HERNEWOOD, P. K. J.
THE END-

THE JUDGMENT OF OSIRIS.

By Hunter Duvar FYTTE THE FIRST.

Whether upon the earth I cannot tell, Or in a higher or a lower sphere, A horror of great darkness there befoll, But tokere, no mortal man can guess anear Nor place be found by any ghostly seer, It may be in the cons long agone Light might have been, but daylight now was Digit maps have been out daying now world.

Or it may well have been within some world.

Where darkness never yet has ceased to reign.

Nor the wing brooding o'er the deep been furled. To loose the laughing sunlight all amain;

Or in some star to choos given again;

Or or sho where disembolded spirite dwell,—

And that there be such many sagas tell.

And that there be such many sagas tell. Youth bloometh quick, but dies ere buds expan Age livels alow yet comes to dust again, While all the time death's not unkindly hand Is never thred of gathering in the grain, And when the loosened splitt's expess life's pain Before some high Court is its plea appealed, Its cause is judged of and its fate is sealed.

Therefore beneath this horror of the dark
Were shrouded mysteries, close-folded sye,
Within an orb of which the outer are Bounded by space and sum whereof no ray
Could penetrate the mirk wherein there lay
The Court of Souls, the dread Judiciary Or great Osiris, Lord of Heaven! He!

Or et hat dread judgment place there bung a pall, Opaque, tenebrous, sullen, dire and dense, Egyptin darkness seeming like a wall Of velvet black through while no cyball's lens Could look and live, but blackness more intense Than depths of subternaean caveram bear, So untransparent was the motionless air.

co untransparent was the motioniess air.

A point of light oped in the solid dark,
A vivid penell of bright blood-red tue,
Which slow and silent from the central spark
In vast concertire rings expanding grew
And through the orb a sangulos self-light threw
More awful than e'rs ung by poet's 1vre,
A circular background of red, rayless fire.

In centre of this red and glowing sphere
A thin and shifting smoky mist appeared
Which, denser growing, cast a murky smear
Upon the red, and flicked about and neared
The central point, till in some manner weird
The mist had taken substance and had grown
Into the semblance of an ebon throne.

and us seminance of an econ throne.

This giant throne was massive-framed and railed With seeming limbs of garated withered trees. But which were writhing serpens, sable scaled, That never ceased to intervist and squeeze. One on the other. As caryatiles Seven living sphinax did the throne upbear And with their long cyes looked out from their la

And was delit some cycle tooked out from their la Soon other miste came shimmering on the red In soft, thin vapors like the wave of wings Of wandering sprites that round the centre sped, And drawing near the centre of the rings Grew dense, till the unreal filekerings Formed into corporat figures, towering tall, And stoogle embodied, forty-two in all.

The Assessors these. One for each mortal sin.
An awsoine company with heads of bears,
Bulls, llons, rams, and apes with ghastly grin,
Cats, crocodiles and vulture-beaks. In pairs
They all were ranged beside the throne on stair O'er each head waled a feather, and edged by
Were upright held in all their mummled hands.

Were upright held in all their mummen amoust-ligher than these the Genil of the dead, Headed as man, as Jackal, hawk and ape, The four dread Masters who do cut the thread And let the spite forth fee from out the shape And mortal coil that lies with mouth agape; These four were there to winess what might be The fate of the sad souls they had sent free,

The fate of the saa souls they not seen irre-And with them dog-faced Anubis, the guide Who from the genil's liberating hands Leads forth the souls and sails upon the tide Until it safely reachighte shadowy strands, Freed from the effect body's awalking bands, Where timid for its doings, or elate, It waits to cross the lintel of the gate.

Hight of the throne stood Horus, also known As Har the Child, fair-laired and double-crowne With fairon visage, around which was blown His samp hair, by saulight more embrowed; He Iwas that in his vangeance was renovaed on Typhon, and sought out the estatered limbs Of his slain sire—as say Osirid hymns.

First on the late moon-god Thoth there stood With bis face, and held the goden scale Wherela to weigh the evil and the good, And pen of record to record the tale That measures out the benefits and bale, A crescent moon lit up his curing hair With rays like to an aureole of the air.

The others ranged alike on either hand:— Shu the preventer, Null of the south, grim Bes Abborrent pigmy lated in the land, Ra of the smillgit whom the people bless, Prispian Khem, Khons with the single tress, Kheph with the scarabeus, nummy bound, And Atum lord of On the lotus-crowned.

And Alum ord of the some-crowned.

Apophis the watersake who brings

The accusation gainst the soul set free,
The nine Temars gods, masters of things,
Great Philab, besides the Abstract They who
Of Years, Age, file and of Eternity,
All these and more were ranged in line of state
And with an air expectant seemed to waif.

And with an air expectant seemed to white.
This all these lurid forms personified.
The qualities that judge the accused soul,
Each one to watch the faults the living hide
Of all the two and forty sins of folio,
Each sin full written on a penal serol—
O awful lesson this, that under sun
No soul can 'scape the deeds in body done.

Until, inscrutably, an august Shape,
That had not entered, grew upon the eye
As grows the outline of a giant cape
From out the sea mists, so was seen anigh
Amid these fearonne courtiers standing by,
A Presence vast, majestle, magian, lone,
The Great Osims scated on his throne.

A countenance so still, so parsionless,

Ne'er words could paint in deepest fancy's dream
Nor that brow's majesty could faint express,
Nor tell the great long almode pobalit's gleam
Piercing, yet piifful; the men supreme,
Tho beardless chia and grave mouth's full, firm li
Conjoined to make a contour all divine.

As type of strength two horns—in shape new m Thin ares are they, "illuminate and howne," Illpen to cressets of mid-months' white moons, Around the mighty form flowed ample down (Throat-latched by Upper Egypt's fashered or An opalescent mantle to the feet— A regal vestiture, vague, wizard, meet.

Not raiment this, not web of woof or die-But as when human vision would devise The outline of the sun at noomide high, Yet sees but dancing prima—so the sys That saw Osiris knew not if in size He were a naked form, vast, undefined, Or a draped figure present to the mind.

And as this Presence sate upon the throns There slid out of the dark till dimly seen A ghastly company, stern as of stone, No man could number nor say who had bee Their dry forms through their cerements

And phosphorescent, as in waves on waves
These dead spectators came from out their graves.

Profoundly silent all. No motion broke Nor whisper from that ghostly multitude, 'Twas scene such as a sorcerer might evoke From out of hades in his wildest mood, Till sudden, startling as a bell-stroke would, A voice came like a storm-sough from the north And spake the words; "Let the Accused stand forth!"

FYTTE THE SECOND.

Slow came betere the throne and the stern line Of the demones and assessors grim, A female form most delicately fair Of perfect symmetry and grace of limb, Who stood before the Judge, and looked at him With a proad regal port that seemed to be A challenge made to an equality.

Robeless was she as when laid on her bier, The perfect semblance now that she had borne, For Anubis the angel brought her here To show the body she on earth had worn

In the fair Nile-land of the fruit and com, Wherein her name had been a synonym For all that other women did bedim.

Her color was of pallid, perfect gold,
Or as if paley bronne were lightly washed
With faintly riedly ere, and where the mould
Other fine figure carred and brightly flashed
Soft violet shidows fild as all abashed,
Her midnight-flark of tresses flowed adown
To her small feet and clothed her her like a gown.

Her countenance had all the beauty rare
That marked the noble of Exprihan race,
The broad, low brow, the check beyond compare,
Tinted, but where no writikle you could trace,
Straight nose, and in the conteur of her face
Her large, black, sharing eyes with latter glowed,
And the old blood of Memons-nonarchs showed.

And the old Blood of Memora-Conareas snowed.

A small, red mouth, with arched lips firm and fall
That lightly touched in form of archer's bow,
Wearing a smile so sweet and beautiful
No man could look on the fut fired a glow,
Had he in life but seen her even so,
And there she waited, the one beautious thing
Of all the shapes of that appalling ring.

THE WATERSAKE APOPHIS, THE ACCUSE, SPEAKS

"Thou, Geogatra, born of Phanch's line,
Warrer of Egypt's double disem,
The monarch's office is to be a sign
Use to be subject, and to eclusive them
In pregnant mythe that grow from Seb list stein,
To watch and ward and lead them, and to bow
To the immortal Gods—what answerent thou?"

"Lord of the dead and quick! of heaven, O King!
The world hash been so very fair to me,
My heart was full of by that made it ing,
And my varsit senses thrilled so blisefully.
At pleasant sounds to hear and again to see,
The air was bliss, our glorified the skir,
It me one was blist and the star were type;

"The fountains in easis, where they sang, Spoke mystically pleasant words to me, The bird-songs 'mong the tendrils as they rang Through sigh of reeds and numrum of the tree, The creeping of the Nile through lilled less. The bine of waters where my galleys lay. In the stretched arms of the Canopian bay.

"Were all a part of me-dhan diadem
Hored them—and (although I could not know)
Did think benifeence had given us them,
Nor deem that Joy could work us any woe.
If may be true. I know not. Be it so,
I'dd not mike myself. Did I create
These feelings that they should affect my fate?"

In circum posting: What systems on the CLEOPATH.

"What wars were waged what drait of fighting men?
What axas will gree were motized in my right.
Boots wenn, steeds ramped, slaves builded, and the pen
page words. Compeliored on the plain,
Paper's words. Compeliored on the plain,
New Johnson and Cleopath of the Cleopath of the Cleopath
New Johnson and Cleopath
New Johns

Accused! the gods claim worship."

"Accused the good cann worship."

(LEOPATHA.

"Through my land.

The gods and worship, at the feater of state.

I not use a worship and the feater of state.

I not use a worship and with my hand.

I not perfect white bould July, nor assect.

The wipe libations where the profilends state,

Nor fall to place fresh flowers upon the lids.

Of the kings' tombs are in the pyramids,

Of the ange solute of at the sjylat of gore
Of fawns and cooing doves and did recoil
From blood of living innecent things, the more
Dal I bring to the afters corn and oil,
Fruits, flowers, and products of the soil
Gum and frankinense and the woods of trees
My sea-ships brought from many lands and seas.

"The temples' walls I theted with hieroglyph And sculptured sacred figures on the paues; Made alters misty with the pungent while Of spikenned; for the priest and this crames, And placed new sphluses on the avenue lanes At temple gates, and lengthened out the line Of mystic obeliaks and forms divine.

"As woman I revealed the Women Gods, Athor the lady of the dance and glee, Mistress of turquoises,—as say her odes, Isis the mother veiled in mystery, Fall-bosomed Mant, for genatrix is she, These I sdored by loving all things fair, For adoration is in praise, not prayer."

ACCUSEN.
"Wanton! once of Two Egypt's crowned queen,
In thy luxurious and voluptuous life
Leman of sca-barbarians hast thou been,
Thus bringing luxury on the land, and strife." CLEOPATRA.

"How could a Queen Egypt stoop to wife? If that my hot blood surged as doth the sea The blame lay with the gods and not with me.

The count of the spectator dead stayed still Nor did they, at demand and countermand, Lay on the soil as har ought charge of Ill Nor yet did tell good deed doon in the land; Nor yet did tell good deed doon in the land; Nor adveste did take the cause in hand, But the secured stood, no me by her side, Calm, proud, imperious, haught and monarch-eyed

Then Thoth the writer took his tablet up
Where he had write the record clear and fair,
And Anabis the weigher placed the cup
Of good deeds done, ion se sale to compare,
And in the other hald the braxen square
Gainst while good mitigating sets are weighed,
While anxious all looked as the balance played. While auxious all looked as the balance playe. The beam's vibration quivered to and fro, A flicker through the golden balance run Quickly as first, then slowly growing slow Till fell the the brazen square with motion not Showing the ill was more than good was done Then Apophis the make stood forth and cried In crite tone, "This woman's cause is tried."

FYTTE THE THIRD.

Or it the steamy wasper of the leaves?

"Daughter of balanced deeds, nor ill nor great, Gay thing of whim, as frail as blosson bloom, Too good art thou for hell, for heaven too lake, Too slight for purying fares, too delicate, Too slight for purying fares, too delicate, Andrew of the slight for purying fares, too delicate, and for one cycle* be a lamian sap."

And for one cyclet' be a lamian asp."
With piereing thrick the sentenced soal fell down.
In writing on the choin paven floor,
Her self-long hair that clothed her like a gown
Shrivelled to nothingness,—own form no more
But likeness of a spotted snake she hore,
Her white and carmine that grew felseksd with bars
And eyes shone out on her and phosphor stars,

Yet with a grace out on ner and phosphor tars.

The line of beauty to her progress chave
Though prone, in saltant spasma as behoved
Her new form, and a scientification gave
As you have seen an undulating wave
Creeted with light though body all agreen,
So undulated Egypt's hapless queen.

Meantime the antic pageant's bloodred glare Deadened as metal taken from the fire, And in the places where the figures were Swam but faint films; soon eventhese expire And the tenebrous ring contracting higher Shrunk to one vivid spot; then out the spark And once more fell the herror of the dark.

Long centuries have trailed since these accords And Egypt's fate has vested for good and ill. The Rongan, Molten, French and Brittish borde Have made her veakness subject to their will, But the and settenced Gleopars will Dath undsates athwart the litled monds of by the Nile's balls haves mong the reads. Hennywoon, F. E. I. The Exp.

CANADA, 1878.

By HUNTER DUVAR.

All hail the Norland! topmost gem In that rich carcanet That Britain in her diadem Hath proudly looped and set. Whence Canad, to realms afar, A lustrous orb looks down, The brightest constellation star In the colonial Crown.

Ours no plebeian heritage,
Ours no ignoble caste,
For bright is traced on history's page
Our record of the past;
Our cities' sites, hills, waters, plains,
Woods, prairies, both the seas
That wash the shores of our domains
Are full of memories.

The rockbound coast of Labrador Hath seen brave Cabot's ships, And echo woke on Chaleur's shore To Cartier's caanons' lips,— Then Stadacona's skiffs recall When on St. Lawrence stream, And by the town of Montreal Of Hochelaga dream.

Who but those priests in fancy sees
Who came with good Champlain
And traced our water arteries
Far to the southern main,
The pioneers of axe and plow
Through many a toil and tramp,
Whose bark cance fore on its prow
The dim-lit gospel lamp?

In Breton's isle of rock and mine
Still looms the fortress-wreck;
What thoughts of gallant deeds entwine
The hill-forts of Quebec!
Our scenes are full, where 'er they be,
Of memories that endure,
E'en in the country by the sea
They tell us of Latour.

Hush! In the dark and troubled days
Two chrisms of blood were mixed
In strife,—from whence war's lurid rays
Fired to a glory,—fixed
And radiant as an aureole,
Grew settled on Canada's brow.
A horror then, a doleful dole,
A glorious memory now.

Two bloods, two founts to found a race,
Two mixtures, clear and strong,
When war was o'er drew near a pace
And, mingling, flowed along,
One, sound as sap of mountain pine,
One, brightjas glance of lance,
The warm blood of the Saxon line
And gallant blood of France.

The best, the bravest, each to each
Its purest heart stream lent,
With aim towards a higher reach
In one true people blent;
And ever may the Saxon strain
And gallant Gallic dash;
Urge effort on where end to gain,
And temper what is rash.

Our Norland, our Canadian land!
Brave land of honest toil,
Where trustful heart and willing hand
Can earn a share of soil,
Where healthful air and fertile ground
Cry: "Stranger! cease to roam,
Here stay content and haste to found
That blessed possession—home!

No tyrant's word, no feudal thrall
Here trespass in their might,
Nor antecedents' ghosts appal
Our People's sense of right.
Here man is Man—no grade hath he,
Here work repays its aim,
Here Freedom reigns, and Liberty
Is no illusive name.

Here rippling waves of golden grain L^op down the primal woods, And ploughshares rip the fertile plain Where roamed the forest broods; Here forges flare, here clang the mauls Where glowed the wigwam fires, Here launch we floating wooden walls As did our British sires.

Here where but late the streamlets fair
Ran murm'ring 'mid the brakes,
And rivers with their bosoms bare
Flowed lonely to the lakes,
With pleasant splash and cheery hum
Spin labor's whirring wheels,
And inland navies go and come
With produce-laden keels.

Two mighty oceans east and west
Lay off our bounds and metes,
While world-wide skim upon their breast
Our fleet sea-going fleets,
And fisher folk along the coast
Ply net and hook and oars;
A sailor race, a hardy host
To garrison our shores.

Now busy city traffic girds
Around the lakeshores' edge,
Where once the lonely water birds
Stood fishing 'mid the sedge,
For now the restless energies
Of worker and of sage,
Give our land all appliances
Of this grand Iron Age.

Where crept, as glides the lithe dun deer,
The stealthy Indian scout
To bear words of despair or cheer
To some besieged redoubt,
Fly messages of peaceful trade
Along the spider lines,
In letters by the levin made
And lightning-written signs.

Where once was silence save the stream
Low singing to the reeds,
The swift car of the Giant, steam,
Like flying meteor speeds,
And now the filmy bridges span
Where once the Huron saw
The Manitou's grey mist veil fan
Thy falls Niagara!

Now thick as tents school-houses crowd,
Where children hum like bees,
And church spires pierce the leafy shroud
Of cloistered maple trees;
Whence shall the Lamp of Life gleam forth
With pure and steadfast glow,
As sunlight in the pure cold north
Irradiates the snow.

Till from the founts of knowledge Shall wider thought be spread, By Bible, church, school, college, Our higher life be fed, Till little aims and sordid lies No more shall clog our view, But politics' sole gathering cry Shall be: for Good and True!

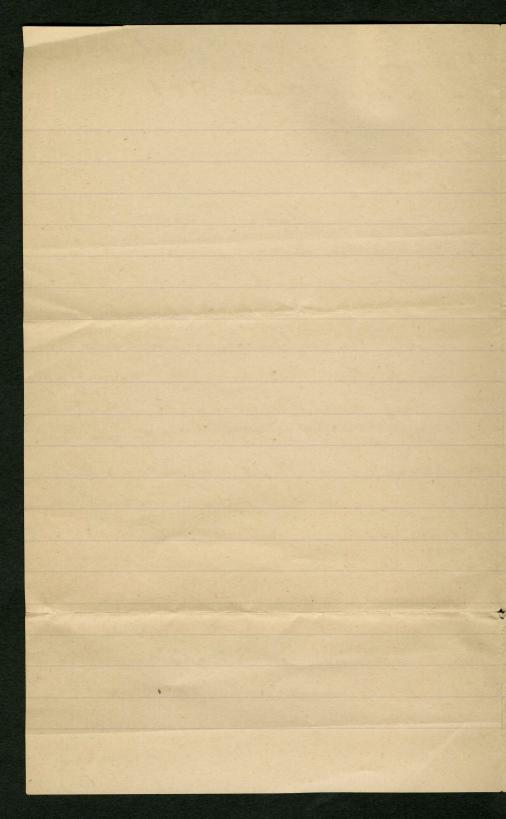

When all degrees, ranks, races, creeds, Shall knit in brothers' bond, And to stretched hand in time of need Shall brothers' heart respond; When Loyalty, sound, honest, clear, Shall be a sign and seal, For Britain as our mother dear, For us as common weal.

And when the fair Canadian land
Shall rank among the States,
Her stalwart sons, with good right hand,
Will stoutly keep the gates,—
In arts, arms, commerce, letters fair,
Shall grow and swell her fame,
And coming men, be proud to bear
The proud Canadian name."

Lord of the nations, low we bend,
Our young State cries to Thee!
Guide our fate onward to the end
Whate'er that fate may be;
Alike, when summer's sunbeams pour,
Alike, when tempest lowers,
Do Thou, Lord, keep for evermore
This Canada of ours.

27th April 1895. Thernewood"

To O'Leary Station, P. F. I., Canada Dear Sei, your favor of 13th. through her ho Kinney, only received today, from imperfect P.O. address. I esteem it an honor to supply the information enclosed, or any further that may be nequired. The brief semi: biographical shetch is written as dispassionately as if it were of a third person, and merely gives my own impossion of my grade in letters, but does not in the least suggest a lead to your own judgement. With best wishes for the success of an enterprise which not only promises interest as a 3 work of reference, but offers herhals to some of "us poor poets" our only chance of ever having our names mentioned after we are dead.

Jours truly

John Hunter Davar

Edmind C. Stedman, Eguire.

OVER

If you do not have him on your list, will you allow me to suggest Nicholas Flood Davin, M.P., Thouse of Commons, Ottawa, Out., author of the spic of "Eros", _ a gentlemain whose scholarship and sloquence is eminent throughout the Dominion,

Canada. John Kunter Duvar, of British birth, 1830, having lived the greater part of his life in Canada is regarded as a Canadian writer. He was for a time in the Canadian Civil Sarvice; also altained the rank of Lieut. Colonel of the 3 % brigade of Falifax Garrison Artillery. The has always been a diligent student, is conversant with the belles lettres of five languages, and has followed literature nather as a recreation than a pursuit, having offered little to magazines although a number of his pieces of his writing, in prose and verse, have found their way into the Canadian and English hapers. Besides translations brown

Aucassin at Nicolette, the John a' Var, his Lays, for private circulation, the Enamorado a drama of the Spanish school, - both of which are out of print, - also Oroberval a closet drama of Rorly Canadian romance, the Triumph of Courtaincy a romaint, with minor poems, Mosars Digby Long Ho, hubbishers, London, have just issued a prose work of fancy of his, Annals of the Court of Oberon, and we learn he has nearly completed a poem of greater pretension which has engaged him at intervals for the hast three or four years, written in ottava vima in a gay vein approaching the style of the Italian satiric poets, and which he modestly calls a burletta although it abounds in passages of higher flight. While exhibiting intense appreciation of the beauties of nature he has selected few Canadian themes, and as the tone of his mind is somewhat archaic his compositions show considerable individuality. Mr. Duvar resides in lettered retirement at his pretty place of Hernewood in Prince Edward Island.

Having some shill in depicting characters by a few touches, and His.

15 may 1895 Edmund C. Stedman, N. 9. mem " (anada. John Funter Dewar (additional) Chanced today to come on This proof. Need not be returned. I have directed publisher to send you by Gook Post (-if you care to hay U.S. Customs duty on it, -) copy of volume containing "Globerval" and "Trumph of Courtaincy", the latter a romaunt which I myself rather like, as it is invented and not a legend versified. Yours truly Adver Hermood Hernter Duvar P.O O'Leary Station P. R. J. Canada.

Mr. Edmund C. Stedman,

POWY 9 NOW SHOW

137 West 78th Street,

New York City, U. S. A.

ohn a' War,

gentilhomme et Trobadour,

HIS LAIS.

RA

strong man's > ge floors, beams, oors, aves.

l air

Estina Var strong, nan's i ng, Introductory Sonnet. eams, ors, res. wandering race of men, and ere they fell To circus tricks of jongleurs and dissours, A noble race of men, all records tell, Were these old-time troveres and troubadours; -Skilful of string, a passionate age they swayed, Exalting deeds of daring; but above Even valor ranging truth and modesty And knightly continence and constant love. The priests of innate courtesy they were, Those cultured brethren of the lyre, who made The unwritten bible of the Gai Saber, The leaven of the lump of chivalry; For, had it not been for their tale and song, Mere brute strength had not kept its prestige long. In Mhigh He Relateth His History. 'T was shrovetide, and, as happens now and then, Fair Elene, bored, as great dames sometimes are,
Said to her mimic court who smiled again,
"Ar't wearied, ladies with this tintamarre?

I see among those rude and boisterous men
The celebrated minstrel John a'Var;
Let's cozen him to bend his steps this way, And try to coax from him the latest lay." Legend of the Holy Hindle.

A ship sailed out from Joppa bar, With flag of blue and crimson silk; All luminous as is a star She left a wake as white as milk Behind her on the silver sea. Abaft, the scented zephyrs sighed y Before her, as to lead the way, The dolphins flashed their glittering scales, And swum and tumbled in their play The rosy nautiluses plied Their latteen-sailed and pearly boats Like men-o'war's-men on the leey Landbirds lit on the gasket-snoods,-The sow-your-wheat and Robin Red, And skylarks carolled overhead While turtle-doves from out the woods Sat cooing on the bulwark rails, And siskins with their silver throats, And small, winged boys, as thick as motes, And, night and day, the nightingales, All singing up among the sails Ave Maria purissima.

Index Rerum.

Dedication
Dedication Introductory Sonnet
Introductory Sonnet
Preface The Page and the Lady; in which John a'Var relateth his history
The Page and the Lady; in which John a var Fraces. Retroencha Serena
Romaunt of the Violet
Madrigal The Idyl of Gunheld
The Idyl of Gunheld. The Stricken Knight to his Ladie
The Stricken Knight to his Ladie. Copheuta
Copheuta Legend of the Holy Girdle
Fablieu
The story of Geoffroy Rudel and the Frincess of Tripont A new ballad of the Bambino and Zingarella.
A new ballad of the Bambino and Zingarena. 1. Fuga in Egitto
Ghazale Persan
The Parliament of Thoulouse
Canzon The Minnesinger's lied
The Minnesinger's lied
The Minnesinger's ned The Northman's rune
The Northman's rune. The Switzer's jodel
The Switzer's jode!
The Sword of the Cid. How Balthazar, the King, went down into Egypt.
How Balthazar, the King, went down into Egypt. The light in the tower
I Rabe's riddle The Rajpoot's poesy
The Rajpoot's poesy Tenson
I John a'Var becometh a Carmente. Notes
Notes

on the subject of mediaval poetry and romance. The doctor, like many other persons of admitted genius, was a man of much one-sidedness. Perhaps his strongest idiosyncrasy was a hostility towards the "science joyeuse,"—the troubadours, troveres, jongleurs, dissours, improvisatori,—players on the citole, the mandora lute, the claricord gutar, hurdy-gurdy, lyre, harp, banjo, dulcimer and sackbut. Smiting his fist to the oak, he would libel them all as vagabonds. And with mine own ears have I heard him characterize the good lent language, joined to the admittedly soothing character of his Stonewall, somewhat modified, therefore, the regret which I endured when he not unfrequently broke in,—rather rudely, I must say,—on what appeared apposite quotations from my favorite bard. "Johnny Var!sır,—Johnny Var!" he would exclaim, "there never was such a man, and if there was he ought to have been scourged at the cart's tail."

After the apotheosis of my erudite friend, circumstances gave me the means of triumphantly disproving his erroneous aspersions as to the identity of the minstrel. The lumber-wing of the grange, undermined by rats and time, toppled to its fall, and disclosed much litter that had been hidden beneath the cobwebs. Among the articles thus brought to light was a battered case that might once have held a lute, and which still contained some scraps of vellum marked with musical notation. The probabilities were that it had belonged to some minstrel of the period; perhaps, who knows, to my illustrious forbere, John A'VAR! Further search confirmed the truth; for lo! was found, in a good state of preservation, not only his autograph, but his portraiture, of which here is presented a fac-simile:—

(BURLESQUE PORTRAIT HERE.)

Much as I have ever lamented the demise of my learned friend, (although he lived to a green old age), I never think without regret that he did not survive to see the complete refutation of his erroneous views. As to the biography of the celebrated minstrel, be it unwritten. Judging from intrinsic evidence he was born about the year 1122; went to the second crusade; and became a monk in 1167. For the rest—he lived, he sung, and the world is all the better for it. So it is with many whose harps were unlistened to on earth, but now swell the choir of the angels. In his works we must look for the scattered incidents of his life:—

"For then he took the scallop shell And trod more lands than I can tell."

It has been said he lived, he loved, he fought, he sang, and in the odor of sanctity he died. A tale that has been told.

from John a'Van, Story of Geoffroy of Rudel and the Princess of Tripole 194 Outside the walls of Tripoli There wells an ever-living spring That drippeth in a sculptured stone, And trickleth o'er refreshingly, And maketh many a fairy ring Than the gazon, emerald grown; And there in sweet spring's earliest prime The primrose soonest opes its eyes, Nor is there in all summer time A spot so rich in vainbour dyes; And there in fall time of the year, Lu dulcet, mellow autumn=tide, When elsewhere leaves are growing sere You latest find the hensees hied And dewy: eyed forget = me: nots. (ine space) It was a lone and sacred shot Made holy by the sculptured stone, For in long ages past and gone Fre Paynim held the land in bonds

LUSTRA'

ranny the strong, and poor man's i world wrong, en be still.

on cottage floors, lustered beams, rellised doors,

e corn waves.

hat am I 's blessed air shine-sky?

ath.

cpires me he skie

! No mor

am the the chings

equade—" all sa ed in lite
th

18 Soon a lan (RUN ON) It was a Christian blace of prayer, -And still a rudely graven cross Talf hid by nodding fern fronds, Above the fout there might be seen, Though lichened o'er with marish moss And liverworts of mauve and green. Twas in a cool umbrageous dell So deep and leaf: entwined, that not In summer any sunlight fell Thou the fount's green garden shot. A holy place. At dusty noon The saints of old to zion bound Might there have trod with sandalled shoon And made the garden blessed ground; May hap even there the Man of Work Had, wayworn, stooped Fix lip to drink, And sanctified the crystal flow Then, as now, running o'er the brink. Fair Tzailte sought the shot in gift, Her Paynim father gave it her, And there eve gave our dead his shrift With rites of Christian sepulture.

LLUSTRA"

d tyranny the strong, nely and poor man's i the world wrong, I then be still.

lead on cottage floors, ne-clustered beams, he trellised doors, ripe corn waves.

on what am I God's blessed air sunshine-sky?

in death.

!! expires me to the skie. e I best could more! No mor

h other thing forth am the ouch the c ts strings

yric requi phrase_ give full s ntained in urely lite irsuit th and to write

(live space) The Moslems all with bended heads Stood silent as his corse went hast, LLUSTRA And women veiled, up on the Leads, tyranny the strong, ly and poor man's i Buds of white roses on him cast; he world wrong, hen be still. The Soldan's lancers grounded spears d on cottage floors, And drooped their pennous to the boy, clustered beams, trellised doors, And thus it was, with many tears, e corn waves. hat am I We buried there my poor geoffroy. s blessed air shine-sky? (line space) pires m My friend lay dead beyond the sea, e skie. st could Then took I ship to whence I came, No mo r thin I And brought this home touth home to me: All are not dogs that bear the name. Hunter Davar Moresco. Chorus of grape: cating girls.

Pipe and tabor! pipe and tabord.

Where the sly buds peep in spring

Circle round in magic ring,

Cast the sandal from the heel,

Round and round in hiring wheel,

Swift as eddy, lithe as we vine

Clash and cling and twist and twine!

Evoiva!

Drum and flute! drum and flute!

All a : tiptoe circles weaving,

Tresses flying, bosoms heaving,

Swifter! swifter twist the twine,

Breathe the extacy divine

Swifter yet with cinctures doffed,

Wave the board bor bare round arms aloft!

Evviva!

ILLUSTRA"

John a Vay

, and tyranny the strong, ntumely and poor man's it ork the world wrong, nd ill and then be still.

en dead on cottage floors, smine-clustered beams, at the trellised doors, raves, the ripe corn waves.

Then what am I un God's blessed air the sunshine-sky? th, fe in death.

tute! expires me cut to the skie; hee I best could 'er.—
To more! No more with other thing ceforth am the r touch the c's its strings lyric required c phrase—"

I give full secontained in purely lite pursuit the ay and to 'write r, the lowers

OVER

Rain the roses! rain the roses!

Shed Shed their perfumes down in rain,

Going love chases fast and fain;

Circle yet, each charm revealing

Till sweet languor cometh stealing,—

Now untivine;— ah! happy sigh!

Slower,— slowly,— cease,— we die!

Drum and fife! hipe and tabor!

Kunter Buvar

an ears have I heard him characterize the good

A postal card from Mr. Duvar contains the following bit of scepticism, which, being so exposed to the public eye, must have been public property from the outset:

> "Friend Edison may think 'twas he invented Their Edison may think Twas he invented The greatest marvel of this wondrous age; But, when I see the Phonograph indented On rites of Isis and Pharaohic page, I doubt the fact!—and so, say I, the bard, The Age's Wonder is the POSTAL CARD, and so I avail myself of it to say -

So long ago as the days of the Maritime Monthly, a book of song, by the above author, entitled "John a' Var, His Lays," was heralded in its pages; but, so far as we are concerned, it became a dream and expectation, with the pleasing exception of a few fragments, which, by the poet's permission, are here presented. "A' Var" (Du Var?) was a troubadour, with all the quaint traits of his profession, who went to the second Crusade and wound up by becoming a The book gives the lyrics he sung. Had I lived in those days (the author writes privately what is here published) I, too, would have been a troubadour and gone to the second Crusade, and not unlikely ended by becoming a monk. Finclosed is an incident that occurred at A' Var's installation (never, I think, published,) that will be as appropriate now to me as then to him.

LXIV.

A shoal of gresome troubadours and knights
With not much reverence pictured on their faces,
Kept crowding round the white-robed acolytes
And kept a coil while jostling them for places,—
Their unwonted presence at those sacred rites
Was not accounted for by new born graces,
But the new monk for whom was sung Te Deum
Was John a' Var, and they had come to see him.

* * * LXIX, et al.

When called to renounce his worldly goods, he drew forth a purse with gold, a hawk's bells, spurs, a jacques knife, divers love tokens and sundries,

All which he reverent on the altar laid.

LXXVI.

Therefore it was before that curious crowd He stood in monkish stole. His youth had flown, His minstrelsy, of which he once was proud, Was over; he must turn his heart to stone, Forgetting all loves but his latest-vowed, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, -she alone To serve and love and worship. It This was the subject of his reverie It might be

LXXVII.

For, with a sudden stride he reached his lyre For, with a sudden stride he reached his tyre And dashed his fingers fiercely o'er the strings, Which rang out wildly with impetuous fire, Waking the echoes like a hundred wings Away up in the rafters of the choir, Then died in low pathetic mutterings;— The clergy were a good deal scandalized, But then a convert such as he was prized.

So none forbade him when, with chastened look His voice chimed piteously to match the strain, And, both together twining, shed and shook Soft falling whispers as of summer rain; But wilder rose and louder as he strook The quivering chords, that moaned and cried amain. A passionate outburst. 'Twas the soul of song In its last agony, but dying strong:—

Take not from me my lute! There is a spirit caught among its wires
That sentient thrill as if with living fires,-Freres! let me keep my lute.

It may not be? ah, well,—
Once more e'er yet thou diest, O breathing string!
That plainest like the heart of lost sea-shell,
And talk'st to me with voice of living thing,
Sad now art thou and I,
Loved lute. Ring out, ring out, ere yet we die!

Ring out the clash of swords! The meeting shock! ring out the victor's strain or dirge when peasants tramp o'er knights and lords, Jarring when the war-trumpet blows amain, And scattered all afield The shivered lance-shaft and the shattered shield.

Ring out to ladies' eyes!

To love's wild ecstacy of joy and woe,
To morning's mantling blush, to passionate sighs
That heave the rose tipped mamalon's of snow,
To gage d'a mor, I ween,
That wakes the rapturous thoughts of—once hath been.

Ring out the words of fire!

'Gainst pride, and hate, and tyranny the strong,
'Gainst proud man's contumely and poor man's in
And all the lusts that work the world wrong,
'Gainst envy, lie, and ill
Ring out protest once more, and then be still.

Wake gently softer themes! Of white-frocked children dead on cottage floors,
Of dances 'neath the jasmine-clustered beams, Of greybeards drinking at the trellised doors, Of immortelles in graves, Of red-cheeked lasses where the ripe corn waves.

This world hath been so fair,
So full of joyousness. Then what am I
That I should vow to shun God's blessed air. And veil my lids against the sunshine-sky?
But that is idle breath,—
Life may be joyous, even if life in death.

Dying as echo dies
Faint and more faint, O lute! expires m They say there is a short cut to the skie.

But yet methinks, with thee I best could

Our mission now is o'er.—

O Soul of Song! fly free! No more! No more

To lute, farewell. Farewell, with other thin But, though for me, I henceforth am the No meaner hand shall ever touch the co - thus -- I rive its strings

The spirit and beauty of this lyric require mine, which, if the rather prosaic phrase-" a si the skies"-were amended, would give full satisfa brief commentary to the poem is contained in the that, "in Canada, composition purely literary hearteningly unsatisfactory as a pursuit that mined to sin no more in that way and to a As I said to our friend, Mpoetaster." We trust, however, th the Muse by one of her chief follower temporary monotone e to throb, it reads for times

by this purpose. With very little trouble, any one who on work the sewing machine deftly can make a quilted ling of silk, satin, or even sateen, which wears nicely also, and will wash if necessary. This quilted lining spear as you perceive on the collar, cuffs, and pocket of the dress, much after the fashion of a gentleman's smoking at. To strengthen and finish off the edge, a little silk cord should be sewn round, and the double-breasted front fastened by large buttons. The other is a loose dress of flannel in any pretty shade. Personally, I dislike flannel for the outside of a dressing-gown, as it catches (and keeps) hairs, and looks so quickly dirty. Serge is nearly as bad, but alpaca is far better and wears well. So suppose this be second figure is of alpaca of a pretty crushed strawtinge, or of a soft grey-in fact the hue is a matter of itinge, or of a soft grey—in lact the dress plainly set Yoke on he shoulders, and the rest of the dress plainly set into it and cored, so as to be wide and full round the feet. be fried with that thick flannel called Bath coating, is preferable in my opinion-quilting. A full the same material (alpaca), if you do not like to expense of ribbon, will form the trimming round and sleeves, and down the fronts and yoke. I safely recommend these two to you as really "dressing-gowns.

ares fe elderly ladies are the subjects for my second att. I fear that whilst we are young we think mate about getting old, and without taking the with to consideration we grow up from childhood age and us, tacitly accepting the facts of their standard always seen old, because we who have

On the persons his stro. troubad ole, the dulcimer

vagabon

head. My first head in the second illustration shows a tasteful way of draping the lace. The pins might with put a little lower down on each side, but the covers the back of the head and nape of lace eff last is not always so pretty as a woman the neck, f life. Lace is always dressy, and if passes the meric good always in fashion. If a cap must be worn, then a simple little thing like the second sketch is sufficient with bows of ribbon or black ribbon velvet. You cannot do better than copy some of the caps worn in the time when Sir Joshua Reynolds and Romney painted beautiful women, for the smaller examples are always picturesque. I think that people may really wear almost anything so long as it becomes them and is spotlessly clean and fresh; but a dirty cap-oh! can there be anything that looks more slovenly?

Regarding Christmas presents I cannot possibly find space in one paragraph for all the pretty things I ought to describe to you. The shops here in London are more attractive I think than ever, and though it would be hopeless to attempt to chronicle all I see, I may yet describe a few of the things that are specially useful. Matchboxes for our gentleman friends follow all kinds of shapes, some with hunting cenes on their silver surfaces, others like an envelope that have a postmark and miniature stamp on them, and yet again those that puzzle people with a little false slide like a conjuror's trick. Then there are dear little travelling clocks of every variety of size, from quite tiny up to quite large. Delicious pencils, with three different colours in them, and others with enamelled outsides, some coming out of eggs, or little tops, to hang on a watchchain. Lunch cases for lady or gentlemen hunters, containing a tin for sandwiches and cake and a flask, the whole thing securely shut and made to fasten with straps to the saddle. Then what can I say of the gifts in jewellery that may be had for the wonderfully reasonable prices? Dainty little watches that wind up at the handle and are some of them arranged with chains to hang from the waistbelt in chatelaine fashion, to which they are fastened by a straight bar brooch. Pins with little birds and other devices in diamonds; lucky brooches of moonstones, and other gems. In furniture there are all sorts of pretty knick-knacks. Fireside screens of which one side is draped with drawn silk, and the other of pleated silk or plush, in which one may stick the photographs of one's friends, whilst half way down is a little shelf on which one's cup of afternoon tea may rest quite comfortably. Little silver bowl or vases are amongst some of the newest Christmas gifts in which to place the ferns that adorn our winter dinner tables. They are large enough to hold a small pot if it is not advisable to plant out the fern into its silver case. Cases for holding stationery are very tasteful now, and have in addition to the receptacle for paper a miniature clock and a calendar which can be moved on by just touching a little knob. I think I mentioned to you some time ago the carriage case for cards and directory books. These are now fitted with a little clock and a writing case, so that a letter may be answured in a hurry if needs be. This would be an invaluable present I should think for a medical man. Then there are all kinds of new games in tasteful cases, but the one of all others that has become the most modern form of mild gambling is the Rubicon bésique.

Have you made your mincemeat? Because if you have not, the less time you lose the better. Will you try my recipe, and tell me how you like it? Originally I used to put real meat into it, but I have come to prefer it without that addition, as I hope you also will. Take two pounds of suet after it has been carefully picked and chopped, three pounds of currants nicely washed and dried, one and a-half pounds of raisins stoned and chopped (to save trouble you may use Sultanas), one and a-half pounds of chopped apple, the grated peel and juice of one lemon, half a nutmeg grated, quarter of an ounce each of cloves, mace and cinnamon finely pounded, half a pound each of chopped candied orange, lemon and citron peel, half a pint of white wine, and quarter of a pint of good brandy. Mix all well together and keep in a jar closely covered. Stir it from time to time, as the wine and brandy will soak to the bottom, and add a little more brandy if it looks dry. When you have filled your mince pies lay a few slices of citron and orange peel on the top of each before you put on the Niagara. from Roberval, Act II, scene 5. Falls of Niagara in the unbroken forest. Roberval (after a long hause) How august are they works O God of Might. This masterfiece of Thine thinighty hand Transcends the range of words O soul of man What can'st than do best wonder and adore. In ocean howed into a giant chasm With one majestic west of quiet force, Embodiment of power ineffable, Resistless beyond atmost stretch of thought, Too grand to have its features analysed, Too vast to pick and speculate on harts Aut in its whole so dread it wembs the mind And merges all sensations into awe. Visible image of immensity. This wall of falling waters to the eye Itself a miracle, but when conjoined With that incessant slumberous monotone That causes heart and ear alike to thook, Addressing ear and eye alike, it reads The occuet riddle, how in former times the very Tod came down and talked with mon. What can the heaver do but severent say This is the voice of God. The resonant rocks And caverus scho it. Above the flume And all along the stately tocking shore The aged forests that like sentinols With their gaunt shadows dim and tenebrous Shut in the world's wonder, scho it, While leagues away, through all the sylvan shades, Outborne by the vibrating earth and air, The cause unseen, the deeps towed nummer sounds Like rolling of the Almighty's chariot wheels. Nature's grand pour to that Nature's God. Throughout the ages an unserting hymn. No fitful leaping, no impeterous rush, Obest stern and slow in solemn majesty, With The dread calm of the mevitable And cold sevenity of shunless fate; The That ever-falling could, effortless, Dea Submerge a capital, sweet nations' fleets The In splinters to unfathourable deeps, Monstro Or which whole arrives of the Emperes, light to Their limbs are stirred and their Lair.

Upon its face as floating thirtledown. The beauty and the terror of it! The sprays, In spiral suche weaths, rise in shifting forms, More than the incense of a thousand fance Tutil they mingle viewlass with the clouds, While Tas reminder of the promise made Water should not again destroy the earth, - ? Rainbow tiaras span the dreadful fall, And Through them flash the flung: up water doops, Making a rain of rainbows. Mystery That the Creator would this marvel make And shut it in with doe a dest solitude. How few the eyes that ere have looked on this, How for transcendant beyond potts dream Or the most vivid fancy ever host Wrapt in the world of fairie, ever had; More wondrous even than the visions sean 2 By the Beloved in the aposalypse, This wonder of the world - Niagara.

Mon

Their limbs are stirred and their hair.

OVER

Robertal

from Roberval, Act V. scene 3.

off the coast of Newfoundland. Long seas rolling in after a storm. Memaids singing.

A gall cent fleet sailed out to sea With the pennons streaming movily.

On the hulls the tempest lit, And the great ships split in the gale,

Turled the fragments in their forces

To the ocean deeps

Where the Brahen sleeps,

And the whale.

The men are in the ledges' clefts,

Dead, but with motion of living guise

Their bodies are rocking there,

Monstrous seas fish and efte

Stare at them with glassy eyes

As their limbs are stirred and their hair.

OVER

Moan, O sea!

O death at once and the grave,

And sanden in passing, O cruel wave!

Let the reason ant sear caves ring,

And the sorrouful surges sing,

For the dead men rest but restlessly.

The do keep account of them

And sing an ocean requiern

For the brave.

A Pastoral.

the wor

BY HUNTER DUVAR.

Adown the valley
Where the stream
Soft meanders,
Making broken images
Like a dream,
In a cottage almost hidden
By a grape-vine, that unbidden
Clustered over roof and wall,
Lived young Lubin, straight and tall.

The woodman's girl
Was very fair,
Lithe and comely;
And like bunch of gold-thread rings
Was her hair,
And her voice was sweet to match
The robin's song beneath the thatch;
Gentle her eye and soft her hand,
And foot like lady's of the land.

Without knowing
What they did.—
Could they help it?
These two loved, the one the other
Nor love hid.
When they told their love-fraught story,
Each of them put on new glory;
The cot seemed lodge of rare device,
The vale grew vale of paradise.

But, Oh, dear me!
Who would think,
Oft and often,
Cup of life hath cruel poison
On the brink?
What it was themselves they hnew not,
But a tangle in love's true-knot
Came, and more in sport than pain,
She bade him not to come again!

Lubin

Milly cried,
Milly cried,
And they thought
That she, when she sawhim marching

Would have died;—
When, instead of cattle lowing,
Heard she war's stern bugle blowing,
Down the valley where the stream
Eddied like a troubled dream.

On a time
When war was o'er,
Milly sitting,
With sad heart, but fingers kritting
By her door,—
For her means grew few and fewer.—
Came a one-armed soldier to her:
"Milly!" "Lubin! O forgive!"
—And now 'tis at the farm they live.

Sty John Westphinen.

27ª Mpril 1895 "Hernewood" s pui suadx the sam is prefe M Pol 911 looks so du side of a dre eny pretty s large butto or awas ad re nsdignsr. ch after the berceive t li dasw salin, or e' Dem Zniws With v MOINI

Minin

Nor the Journal

A Vesper.

Away dark dreams,
This world is very fair to look upon,
And though it seems
Dreary sometimes in dusky twilight's gleams Bright morrows come when yesterdays are gone.

Though winters creep
Swiftly on us and summer's foliage dies,
Though roots but sleep
And soon again in spring the green leaves peep
And passion-flowers re-ope their starry eyes.

Lie down to rest
O man! and trust to God's protecting care,
And on the breast
Of slumbers, as the Mother's Babe is pressed,
Sweet visions of the night, serene and fair.

Will come again,
And he who careth for the sparrow's fall
Will ease thy pain
And lift the shadow that thy senses thrald,
As David's music soothed the gloom of Saul.
HUNTER DUVAR.

trans

The

May .

Contributed to the DATES SUN

Sent For.

"The black camel kneels at every man's door."

—Arabian Proverbs.

The Arabs call the camel the ship of the desert

Death, the black camel, knelt

At Sheik Ben Sadi's door;

Old was the shiek, and to his belt

His beard flowed thin and hoar,—

Revered and bowed and reverend,

With eyelids drooped and bent,

He sat and prayed in the twilight,

The sheik, with well-pleased mien,
As sent for by his Lord,
Came calmly forth, with air serene,
Prepared to go on board,
And said:—"At length, and welcome,
O sable ship of the sea,
O black ship of death's desert,
I am ready to go with thee."

In his Bedouin tent.

Out from the woman's apartment
Came El Ghazul the rose,
And with her swaying footsteps went Softly, lingeringly, as those Who, not tired yet, would bide a time,
Nor leave a loved abode,
For her years had scarce seen summer,—
But She was the camel's load.

"Il Allah! God is good,"
Devoutly said the sheik,
Though in his eyes the heart's spring s stood,
And flowed his channelled cheek:
"On my Ghazul the Rose
The kismet hath been dealt!"
Ere long at the door of Ben Sadi
Again the camel knelt.

"This time, O silent ship,
O ship of the sable sea,
A welcome glad I give to thy trip,
Because thou comest for me."
But out from the inner zenana
Came little Ben Sadi ben Doad,
The tie of his grandfather's heartstrings,And ite was the camel's load.

And the sheik is watching and waiting,
Crying, "Tarry not long on the road;
Art thou laden, or lagging, or baiting,
That thou comest not back for thy load?"
And the sheik, with his face towards Mecca,
Still looks for the Ship of the sea,
Ever sighing: "Black ship of the weary,

I am wearied waiting for thee."
HUNTER DUVAR.

Ae-

Barrel-necked, yellow-haired, thin in flank, Halko, the Jarl, the Berserker.
Took his place on the rown, Jacob And yelled, as he grasped the oar of ash:
"Ho! east off the landward chain!"
"In the red chain: in rattied amain!, one! Watch well the roller's wash, bin your blades together as one!
Two! Make of it a single splash!
In the hame of the Trinity, three!
Dip!"—and the Serpent shot. "To sea. ing bank Eight days full they tugged the sweeps, Eight full days they trimmed the courses, Full eight days they ploughed the deeps, Eight days spurred the white sea horses, As, like flails, the rowers' ranks Smote the running rollers' flanks, Smote the running rollers flanks
Whilst the gull and cormorant.
Screaming, fled before the sail,
And belind with gale
Till, in time, with yards aslant,
Ran the Screent on the strand
the Nose of Iceland.
Halls the Jane them bless Halk, the Jarl, came to a mound Paven with brown blasted turf, Lying within reach and sound Of the ever-flying surf.
Thrice he smote with good gray sword:
"In the name of the Lord,
Open, mound, and let me in,
I am Halko the Berserker." With a thunderous grumbling sound, Such as ship on leeshore awes, Sullen oped the blasted mound, As the kraken opes its jaws, And Halk the Jark went in. There three women, giant tall, In three robes of dusky pall, Each one silent, spinning, spinning, As they've done from the beginning-Spinning out the fates of men. Bold, outspoken, cried he then;
"Dames, so grandame-like, what cheer?
What foul witch-woof spin ye here?
Give to me a swatch of web—
See! I cut it with my sword,
In the name of the Lord. In the name of the Lord.
It o sea sail with the ebb,
And want the raven and the kite;
I want the pestilence and the flame
And famine and pain and woe;
Give me the carnage, give me blight.
Of dishonored name and fame and the
For Snorro Snorrsen, my foe.
What happened more no tongue can name.
But bearing a fateful shred of clout,
Halko the Berseker came out. Eight days run to Skjortahaven-The ninth day did battle yield, When the foul kite and the rayen Fed on corpse, with screech and snari,
Till they could not fly afield,—
But it was on Halko, the Jarl,
Thushinas been since the beginning,
Special fifts aye prove a curse,
And the bravest gots the worse
Of the Valkyrs' spinning. Hernewood, P. 1910

from Montreal Witness.

Jock and Jenny,

"DEAR JENNY! come bither and sit by me, And put your waist in reach of my arm! Your eyes are as clear as the sunlight sea And your face has a fresh and girlish charm, With your soft hair smoothed on your wid? clear brow;

And your fine white teeth all as good as new,

Your heart as good as gold, and I vow
I think there was never a girl like you—
"O fie Joek!"
"O fie Jenny!
Old woman, let's whisper in your ear,—
I've thought so now over twenty year.

"Dost thou remember the shamefaced youth And the modest maiden, who, hand in hand, Strayed, and who envied not in truth The lord and the lady of all the land? Ah! the path by the willows beneath the hill. And the trysting place by the fairies well.—And the lover's walk by the moss-grown will, Old woman! dost thou, remember then. Old woman! dost thou remember there

Aye! aye! Jock!" "Aye! aye! Jenny, Since then we've seen good and and seen evil

How long and how short seem these twenty year!

"When I brought you home to my little farm And the garden plot my own hands had dug,

And, with your lithe waist within my arm,
I showed you our cottage so small and

When after a time came a little child That made you a mother in sorrow and

It was many a day ere once more you smiled When the angels had taken bim home again_"

"Don't cry! Jock!"
"Don't cry! Jenn The loss of the babe but made you more dear tiad he lived he'd been nigh upon twenty

"Well, well, old lady, the worst is past, We have leaned on each other and found it'so.

We each on each other our burden cast
As we will on the road we have yet to go:
As we will on the road we have yet to go:
The time must come when we reach the end.
And, pleasant however may be the way.
We must reach the stile if the way we wend.
And when, at the last, we both shall say:
Good bye! Joek,
Good bye! Jenny,
We'll lay us to rest without any fear—
But hope it won't be this twenty year."

Attom the Torrest

sound

VIRGIN FOREST CLEARING WITH EXPLOSIVES AND BULLDOZER STRIPPING WITH HIGH POWER
HOSE TO REMOVE UNDERGROWTH AND
MILD, STRIPPED DOWN
TO SAND AND GRAVEL PREDGING OF
FROST-FREE STREAM
SANDS AND GRAVELS THAWING PERMAFROST IVITH GO WATER PUMPED INTO GROUND LIMIT OF PERMAFROST 6/25/58 BED POCK .

I.e. WHS's molter for your bear Mother

15 Palmer Stut May La My fear dister I have fully though of weeting to answer Wallers Knd letter, www od from him so long time sine ful have not had anything to write - about, so it has gone on thankful to say we an all well of course I feel Jan not getting younger our time her will be short and I long to be where their will not be any lacting with fest love from your loving Brother Emit

15 Falmer Hell-Januaret May 20 fear Walter Juniord your tind letter, also the Papers, thank-you Jey Much for Exeting and rending the Paper (you must jorgibe me for not western before it is not from rughed, fut because I have notherd anything townte about I hope yourself and your fear Mp are well also som fear mother thankful to week me are all well Thate neon fully wooberd from my accident thankful to ray I can attend to my Business as well as eber and Canwalk any where withour a stick?

but have a weakness still on the time Repenting me from indulging in a com in fact of feel my uning days are fast and I do not desir to go Back , Iknow gen will fe stad to hear we are all much as usual Poor Hugh I think of will not lost many weeks Proabals not many alass his walth has been good what a few weeks sines now there is a rapid buch up I know you will be fer gong to hear This Reman was tey suddenly Paralised a few weeks since the left side of the tody is entirely Paralifed and the left ride of the fact, the has been

Perpetty insersible, and Speich less the whole time it is a ful great treat porther to and not The Nightist Chance of her being any fetter that is thewarst Myself Mife and Illora west to flastontury & spind Easter Mrs Smith is slith their most litelez well not return tith end of the week the country round Their looks try feartiger I went up on the tan Hill on monday your bear Thys (nows I will enough, of course you do not new hating seek of Google is doing buy well and wed in health, we all unite intobe to you. your bear Wife and som dear Mother, and hope to hear from you fe jore fuglong from your loting

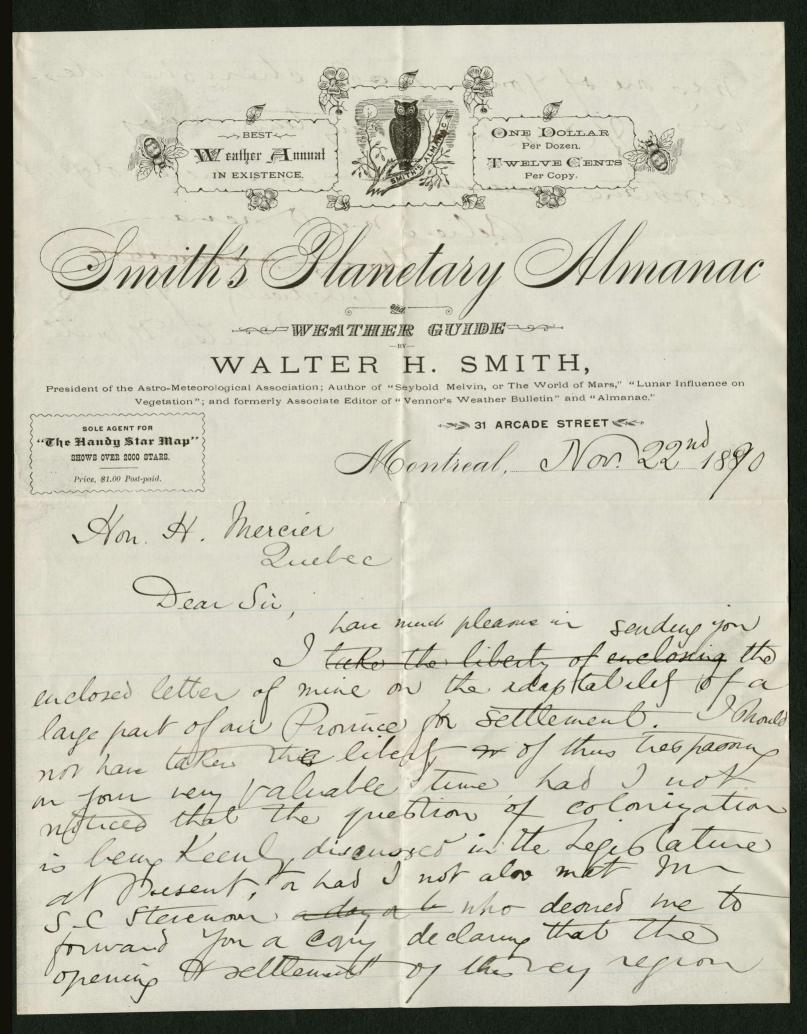

45 Alephane Revel Ganerburg, In March 25/85 My dear rephico I foun Heleome letter to hand for the which he thank you. I cannot tell you hove thankfule I am that the dear dord has So, praspered you in a Strange land I could week for bery fay The your face praper I may thever der agane in this life get to ment before the throne of God & to Past aux Blood bought from all the feet of the dear Redeemen to pass through hear the bes of hen faint by the way, but as I get alder I feet the torale all heavy and aften wonder what the end will be, I aften fancy if all of these dear unto one to as cloning well my trouble wanted All end but in the world low are to have tubulation your will wonder What is the boulde how well your Sucle George would get hothis to do he was in dondon a fortrughe ago, he came for goods to put in a Shop he has taken at yanmouth in Polly. Frame the Kent is 3/6 ken week & Hally is answerable for the Same Emily had faved about $20. So the hald to Pay for the Good as for as the could be what we cauld let him have and of how Shop We have so you than Think low. do Hot feel bery hopefule about. them getting a living, they cannot live there for it is only at Shop I Store Place tele John it is in The It George Road hear the beach he will know the place Vusan Continues bery pourly your Cousen Henry was hear yes tandas It told him Whalf you Said, last year he said if he blusned to hustralia he should go lound America for he has a great with to dee it be les dent a perer and of one of the Japen to your aunt fane & when by her love to you bothe thinks your bery lear how you know how he to pland, you knust know one of Al Painting her hame loos in the Sydney Laper at anderbition they had the has Painted her mother & Father in Bil it is annie the Second daughter, we did seenee The Paper your dent & They have been thuch admired, your aunt anna & thanks you for Londing the Lawrence fait but the done not think he best much le Resthe Gridinen. I do Hot know if I told you that Hair Causen Henry Was Grassared last Sept to a young Lady at Subfield de Is if he teturne to Australia he baile have his wife to take, her finds track bery bad like the lest. If his but then he is young & he would dell up if he find his

is likely to lose, how give ares best love to your mother & tyle hers The was boom on the 18 day of fune 1816, So it is down and I thunk for her age the is wondfule our dear Hother had been ile for dome time lighere the was her age, give aus love to your Father & thank him for the paper dent like wire dor how tell them we after del b talk. do faco for los are almost left. alone, I will send you mothington Paper with this, give aux love to your wile form & tele him about George Emily is at black heath the When the come we that let her All you letter tele your mother We have got a funny Lodger agane The Pay, her Rent but Spends all she can in drink we do not feel take to leave her In the House on funday, Modawrance was ile & after a few wester took the I male fox he was taken to Aughgate and has been away Eight levels in bothe how but took sold gestarday have had Mis Evam all done be Blankets W. the I mall por has been very lead at Alluston Some Vihools Closed & one Aublic House flored at the End of Paskington street cloved four people was laying ile in it but I think it is not a wite to bad as it was, the weather is bely cald we had a kenuy fall of Jalen on Sunday for the full. The is hory of Louthend Iwo the Thade us a rice Ressent dent we her Lugier Stand & Court Situer bfut Bottles in them the is living in Lodging. I had be like for theme & Wished to Makens & Januarene Is you dee if we was grand we could use them how I think I have told you all the news and with aux love believe bu To Remans your appertionale auni Isabella Rounding was me of your most cheribbed desnes. If I can be Latang time any assistance semblade as a meter olyist Believe me Ø remain Tour of the Command Walter & puit WALTER H. SMITH, The second of th

OTTAWA SECURES INDIAN RELICS

Discoveries in Newfoundland Throw Light on

Original People
Ortawa, Aug. 30.—(C. P.)—The second largest collection of relics in the world representing the original "Red Indian" of Newfoundland has been secured for the Canadian National Museum through the efforts of Diamond Jenness, chief of the division of anthropology, who has returned to the city after spending the full season digging among remains of the old Beothoe Indian settlements of Newfoundland.

Beothoe Indian settlements of Newfoundland.

Mr. Jenness said yesterday there were only two other museums in the world which have collections from the old camping sites of these people.
They are the St. John Museum in Newfoundland which has the largest collection in the world, and the British Museum which has only a few specimens.

specimens.

As a result of Mr. Jenness's trip some of the mystery which surrounds this extinct tribe has been cleared up, he claims. He believes he is in a postion to prove that this little known people migrated to Newfoundland from the coast of Labrador not more than 4,000 years ago and that the tribe was finally wiped out by incessant conflict with invading bands of Eskimos who swarmed over the country a little over 100 years ago.

Section II, 1936 [23] Trans. R.S.C.

Shell-beads of the Beothuk Indians*

By W. J. WINTEMBERG, F.R.S.C.

(Read May Meeting, 1936)

It has been remarked by several investigators that artifacts of shell are either exceedingly scarce or are not found at all in coastal aboriginal shell-heaps in New York,¹ New England² and Nova Scotia,³ although their chances for survival should have been as good as that of the shells of which the heaps are mainly composed. Considering their absence from most coastal Algonkian sites, where we would normally expect to find them owing to the fact that they were used by historic Indians in the same area,⁴ it is rather surprising that many shell-beads should be found in burial places of the Beothuk Indians, an isolated member of the Algonkian family, in Newfoundland and the Canadian Labrador.

In 1847 some beads derived from whole shells of the rock purple

*Published with the permission of the Director, Bureau of Economic Geology, Department of Mines, Ottawa.

¹See Skinner, Alanson B., The Pre-Iroquoian Algonkian Indians of Central and Western New York, Indian Notes and Monographs, vol. II, no. 1, New York, Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, 1919, pp. 34-35; and Archwological Investigations on Manhattan Island, New York City, Indian Notes and Monographs, vol. II, no. 6, 1920, p. 208. Also, Harrington, M. R., Ancient Shell-heaps near New York City, Anthropological Papers of the American Museum of Natural History vol. III, 1909, p. 173.

²"A peculiar bead made out of the hinge tooth of the quahog" was discovered in a shell-heap on Goose island, Casco Bay, Me. (Proceedings Boston Society of Natural History, vol. XI, 1866-68, p. 289.) The oldest shell-beads from New England have been found in graves of what C. C. Willoughby calls "the old Algonkian Group" (Antiquities of the New England Indians, Cambridge, Mass., 1935, p. 264.) Specimens from graves of his "later Algonkian group", from Vasselboro and Waterville, Me., and Bridgewater, Deerfield, and Saugus, Mass., are seen in his fig. 140; but not one of them is from a coastal site.

³See Smith, Harlan I., and Wintemberg, W. J., Some Shell-Heaps in Nova Scotia, National Museum of Canada, Bulletin No. 47, Anthropological Series No. 9, Ottawa, 1929, pp. 20 and 114.

⁴According to Marc Lescarbot the Armouchiquois (considered by Parkman to refer to Algonkian tribes of New England) made "carcenets and bracelets" (which they called matachias) "of the shells of those great sea-cockles, called vignols, like snails, which they break into a thousand pieces and collect and then polish them upon a sandstone till they make them very small; then they pierce them and make them into rosaries, of which the beads are black and white" (The History of New France, vol. III, Publications of the Champlain Society, Toronto, 1914, p. 157.)

H.

or dog winkle (Purpura lapillus)5 and a few flat, discoidal beads6 were found with other artifacts, including a few of European origin. in a sepulchral cave on Rencontre island (one of the Burgeo group), on the south coast of Newfoundland. The Rev. Mr. Blackmore, rural dean of Conception bay, who found them, later presented them to the museum of McGill University, Montreal.7 The beads derived from Purpura lapillus are ground almost in half, exposing the interior, and are 3/8-inch long, and so must be of immature shells. Dawson thought the discoidal beads were "made of the shell of the large Mactra, probably M. solidissima". 8 The smallest specimen in 3/8inch in diameter, the largest about 1 inch; and they are 1/8-inch thick. In another sepulchral cave, on Swan island, a few miles south of Exploits Harbor, on the north coast, were found "discs made of shells perforated in the middle",10 which Howley thinks were made from shells of Mya truncata and Saxicava rugosa. 11 Although the same writer mentions "flat beads" that were found in a cave known as "Indian Hole", on Tilt island, one of the Ragged group of islands in Placentia bay, he does not state if they were made of shell, but they probably were of that material.12 Another vague reference is made to some beads found in a burial cave on Comfort island, bay of Exploits, and it is uncertain if they were made of glass or shell.¹³ illustrates sixteen large and small discoidal beads, but he does not give the localities where they were found, although they possibly are from the burial cave on Swan island.14 Other discoidal beads, in a string 21 inches long, mentioned by Patterson, 15 "are about 5/16-inch

10

⁵See Dawson, Sir J. W., Fossil Men and their Modern Representatives, third edition, London, 1888, fig. 5a.

⁶ Ibid., fig. 5b.

⁷Dawson, Sir J. W., Notes on Relics of the Red Indians of Newfoundland, collected by Mr. Smith McKay, and Exhibited to the Natural History Society, The Canadian Naturalist and Geologist, vol. V, Montreal, 1860, p. 462 (the article was signed J.W.D.).

⁸Ibid

⁹The writer is indebted to Mr. E. L. Judah, Secretary of the Museum Committee, McGill University, Montreal, for descriptions of these beads. The Accession Numbers are 1139 and 1146.

¹⁰See Howley, James P., The Beothucks or Red Indians, Cambridge, 1915, p. 289.

¹¹Idem, footnote.

¹² Ibid., p. 293.

¹³ Ibid., p. 333.

¹⁴Pl. XXIX, figs. 21-36.

¹⁵See Patterson, George, The Beothiks or Red Indians of Newfoundland, Proceedings and Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada, 1891, vol. IX, Montreal, 1892, Section II, p. 159 and Pl. X, at top.

in diameter, and about 1/8 of an inch in length" (thickness). He also mentions imperfect strings of beads which are only about 1/8-inch in diameter.

In 1928 the writer found several broken cylindrical beads¹⁶ in a burial cave on the north shore of the strait of Belle Isle, about half-way between Bradore bay and Blanc Sablon, and about 1 mile west of the boundary line between Saguenay county, Quebec, and Labrador. The fact that the human bones and the beads are covered with a reddish substance, like ochre in appearance, although the colour is not as vivid as on some of the bone ornaments from burial caves in Newfoundland, suggests that they are of Beothuk origin. The beads retain the spiral groove of the columellæ from which they are derived and are like some of those found in pre-¹⁷ and post-European sites of Iroquois in Ontario and New York, ¹⁸ and of other cultures in the United States. ¹⁹ The smallest specimen is ½-inch long and may have been 3/16-inch thick; the largest is too broken to get an idea of its length, but is about ½-inch in diameter.

It is a question how long the discoidal and other beads were in use among the Beothuk. We know from Whitbourne²⁰ that as early as the beginning of the seventeenth century they decorated their seal-skin hats with some kind of shell-beads or ornaments. They probably did not get the idea from the Montagnais or Naskapi, their nearest Algonkian neighbours on the continent, with whom they were on friendly terms, because neither of those people appears to have made extensive use of shell-beads.²¹ They may have acquired the idea of using the discoidal forms from the Eskimo, although the writer knows ¹⁶Cat. No. VIII-E-343a-t, National Museum of Canada.

¹⁷See Wintemberg, W. J., Distinguishing Characteristics of Algonkian and Iroquoian Cultures, Annual Report of the National Museum of Canada, 1929, Ottawa, 1931, Pl. XVII, figs. 5, 6. The nearest locality where similar beads have been found is in an Iroquoian village site near Roebuck, Grenville co., eastern Ontario, abou 1000 miles to the southwest.

¹⁸See Beauchamp, W. M., Wampum and Shell Articles used by the New York Indians, Bulletin New York State Museum, vol. 8, no. 41 (Albany, 1901), fig. 111. ¹⁹Ibid., figs. 108, 110, and 118.

²⁰Whitbourne, Captain Richard, A Discourse and Discovery of the Newe-founde-lannde (London, 1622), in Conclusion, which is not paged separately, he said: they were "set round with fine white shells, such as are carried from Portugall to Brasseile; where they pass to the Indians as ready money".

²¹According to Father LeJeune (Jesuit Relation, 1634-35, vol. VII, p. 15), the Montagnais decorated the fringed edges of their leggings with matachias.

of only one locality where such shell-beads have been found associated with Eskimo remains.²²

In most cases some of the artifacts found with these beads were of European origin; and one might be tempted to think that the beads had been introduced by whites were it not for the fact that they do not appear to have been machine-made, and, also, that in a few cases specimens were found in various stages of manufacture.

²²See Mathiassen, Therkel, Eskimo Finds from the Kangerlugssuag Region, Meddelelser om Grønland, bd. 104, no. 9 (Copenhagen, 1934), Pl. 1, fig. 36. Similarly shaped beads made of serpentine, soapstone, calcareous spar, slate, graphite, and even coal were also used by Eskimo (See Mathiassen, loc. cit., Pl. 1, figs. 22, 24, 25, 27, and 32, and, by the same author, Pre-history of the Angmagssalik Eskimo, Meddelelser om Grønland, bd. 92, 1933, Pl. 3, figs. 14, 15; also, Larsen, Helge, Dødemandsbugten, an Eskimo Settlement on Clavering Island, Meddelelser om Grønland, bd. 102, 1934, Pl. 7, fig. 11.)